THE HEADMASTER'S ADDRESS

103rd Annual Prize Day

OCTOBER, 16, 1982

Fr. Rector, Rev. Canon and Mrs. Kurrle, Ladies and Gentlemen, Students of Ignatius.

On your behalf, ladies and gentlemen, may I express our very sincere welcome to Canon Kurrle and his wife as our guests of honour. Canon Kurrle is retiring this year after 17 years as Headmaster of King's School; relationships between our two schools have always been good, and we have prayed together. In your final year as Head, Sir, it is a fitting expression of our respect for you that you be here today and we welcome you while thanking you for all you have done for education in this country.

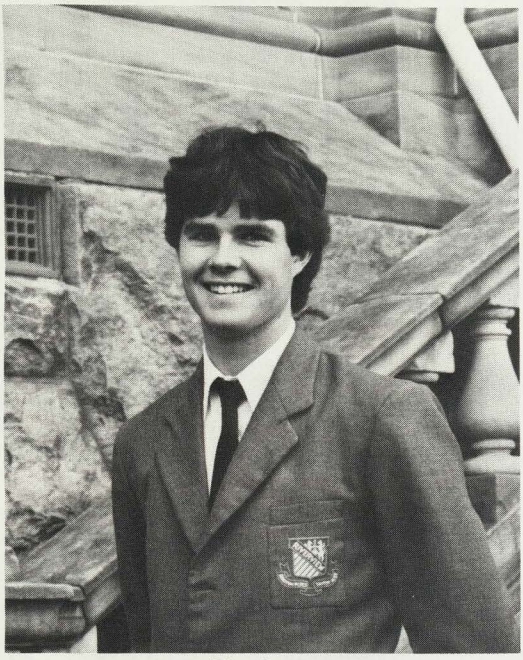

To those of you leaving us at the end of the year, I offer the thanks of this College Community for the formative presence you have been amongst us, for so many years. "To part is to die a little" wrote Mauriac once, and one would not be genuine to deny a certain sadness on these occasions. You Matriculation students have been with us for a significant period of life. It is impossible not to feel a certain sadness in parting when our lives have been mingled so much for so long. Life is, however, a pilgrimage, and the pilgrim must move on, if he is to be true to himself. A search for truth, who we are, and to whom we belong, and for what purpose we are here, demands that our lives be a journey onwards.

So much had been invested in each of you — your parents' love and care, principally, their teaching to you of the values of human life and love and dignity, the seeds of the Faith in Christ, and their sense of delight and love in you as reflections of themselves. Then, here at this College, what have you gained? Clearly, the friendship and affection of many of your contemporaries — school-based friendships that will, please God, abide as you grow through life and the founding of your own families.

Also, from the point of view of the Masters and Ladies of Staff here, there has been an enormous amount of investment placed in you. As you come to the end of your school life now, look back for a moment to the thousands of hours in teaching, cajoling, some chastising, joking, and wisdom and encouragement that the Staff has invested in you. The recent death of Fr. Charles McDonald, S.J. reminds us of this — a man who perhaps weakened his health, and so died young, because of his hard work at this College and other places. And for what has all this gone on? You, whom I have described as "formative presence", "pilgrim" and "gift", must reflect on this. You are people upon whom great riches have been bestowed. And for what?

Fr. General has stated it clearly — you are to be "Men for others". Your presence among those with whom you will move is to be a formative one; not all have had the same idea of personal vocation and purpose made known to them as you have. Not all have had the opportunity to hear the firm words of the gentle Christ as you have, that "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life". "Where your treasure is, there your heart is" is another of His sayings. If those around you see that your treasure, your prize, your goal of life is not simply self-promotion, self-advancement, materialism, then you will have a powerful impact on those around you, those whose goals are empty, whose visions are hollow, and whose sense of vocation is superficial — as yours is not. Much, much has been invested in you in terms of love, of faith and of wisdom, for the help of others, so that you may always be alive to the calls of compassion and justice, for the formation, through your presence, of a more just world. Your lives are to be gifts to others who have not received as much; you are to be pilgrims, travelling through life to your fulfilment in the love of Christ. There are 156 of you in Matric. alone; if just a fraction of you allow yourselves to be moulded by God into apostles, people sent to others, then how the world would improve!

Years 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 must also ask themselves these questions. The Seniors are being reminded of them, for the last occasion, as their time with us draws to a close. The rest of the student body, especially those in Year 11 who next year must walk in the steps of those who have gone before, must often ponder the aims and hopes for the Jesuit education you are receiving. The oft repeated phrases of excellence for others (because all human things are worth doing to their utmost), of your own "giftedness" in your individuality, of a love of learning and a sense of dedication and vocation to the world, of a need to pray for a greater sense of companionship with Jesus and a love for His Church, are phrases you will continue to hear — as they are phrases that I hope the Seniors will constantly recall as they move now into their own vocations.

Tim Regan

For all of us, the value of learning must not be underestimated. Why study, why develop a love for reading and the arts? If the answer is only in terms of material advancement — to get a good job, to get into a profession that makes a lot of money, then you will be, in our eyes, devastating failures. No matter how "successful" you may become in the eyes of the world, in our eyes you will be hollow people, sad reminders of people who went wrong. A love of learning is a prize, it shows an openness to a search for truth (and this search should characterise our lives), simply because it is truth. A person who reads is not allowing others to programme him. Creation is a marvel, and learning is a key to that mystery; the person who reads, prizes learning, is acknowledging his own identity as made in the image and likeness of God.

You Seniors who are now to go out have been part of a long tradition that began in 1533 when Saint Ignatius opened the first Jesuit College. You are the fruit of this Riverview community which for 102 years now has been exhorting its students Quantum potes tantum aude — all that is within you, this dare to do — for the greater glory of God and the service of the world. All our schools through the centuries, including this one, would be failures if the students did not graduate as young men and women with a love for Christ and their neighbour.

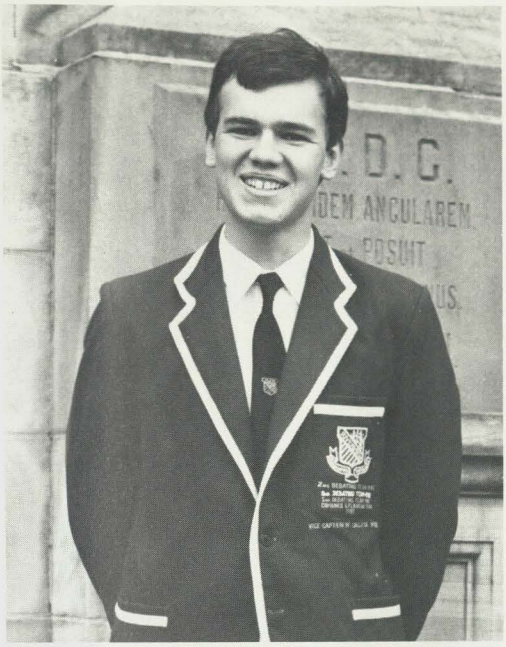

Report for 1982

My impressions of Riverview have remained through this first year of a new headmastership. At the very first Headmaster's Assembly I spoke of the qualities I perceived at Riverview; the friendliness between students and staff; the sense of real affection for the College; a consciousness among its students of Riverview's historic identity — more than many other places, Riverview seems well aware that we of the present only stand on the shoulders of the giants who have gone before us; the richness of activity that goes on here; the dedication and loyalty of the staff; the character that the boarders give to the place, and the commitment our parents practise towards the wellbeing of the school; a strong religious spirit in the College; all those positive impressions have remained. So have the negative ones — sloppiness of dress, a litter mentality, vandalism and pilfering, coarseness of behaviour. The extent of teenage drinking of alcohol in the Sydney scene disturbs me — alcohol simply should not be present at Year 10 parties. Fr. Charles O'Connell, the first Prefect of Studies here spoke in 1883 of our aim to produce "educated gentlemen"; that does not mean we should twist our charges out of being normal, healthy boys, but it does indicate an attitude of self-respect and sensitivity to the feelings of others that we must clearly work harder to inculcate. Vandalism by Year 11 and 12 boys was a blight on all of us, a cause for shame.

However, the need for any older person who deals with younger people is to retain perspective — it is this sense of perspective, a background against which to assess the activities of boys, that marks a good parent or a good schoolmaster. Without it, individual incidents are judged as life statements. In that perspective, the positive so manifestly outweighs the negative here at Riverview; it is a fine school, made all the better by the contribution of those whose time with us is drawing to a close.

On academic results, last year gave great confidence. Our staff here is clearly an accomplished one. Last year's Dux, Greg Russell, attained 481 out of 500. Seven students were listed in the top one per cent of the State; there are over 2000 High Schools in N.S.W., and the top one per cent of H.S.C. candidates number 300 — of these 300, seven were from this one school. Eighteen students were awarded marks of 400 or over. In the subjects of Latin, Chemistry and General Studies, Damian Perrignon, Greg Russell and Reg Lord attained the highest mark. Seventy-five of our students were in the top 30% of the State.

Central to this College is its religious inspiration. Daily Mass is not attended well, except by 1st Division boarders, and we must look to improving that. There are considerable strengths to build on in doing so, as the religious character of the school is clearly marked and manifests itself well in the large numbers of students and staff who visit the Blessed Sacrament each morning before school. The notion of Christian Service is also well established in the school, and I quote from a snippet I wrote for Viewpoint.

> Elite enclaves: In last Wednesday's issue of the Sydney Morning Herald, we were described in a letter to the editor as falling into the group of private wealthy schools "enclaves, training the elite in ruling class values". The concepts of the Christian vocation to the world, and Father General's axiom of being "men and women for others" have been constantly stressed at this College. Our inspiration is that of Christ, who came to serve. In 1982 alone our boys from Years 5-12 have been engaged in activities such as the Indo-Chinese Camp, weekly visits to Ryde Psychiatric Hospital, work with the night patrol for the St. Vincent de Paul Society, assisting at the Matthew Talbot Hostel, visiting several old peoples' homes, teaching socially deprived children, helping the boys from St. Edmund's School for the Blind, and partaking in a number of doorknock appeals for the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and so on. Donations from fund-raising activities organized by the boys (dances, walkathons and a runathon) have been given to the Jesuit Indian Mission, the Muscular Distrophy Fund, the Multiple Sclerosis Fund and the Shepherd Foundation. If this helps to mould a "ruling class" then so much the better for Australia.

The attacks on independent schooling that occasioned that passage were elaborated at the three parent-son days in Second Term and I do not intend repeating that now, expect to remind our students that the test of the worthwhileness of independent schools, is themselves — one act of boorishness in public, or sloppy presentation, is noted far more readily by our opponents than any of the good we do, and you must always be conscious of this. The number — about 70 — at the Old Ignatian

Retreat indicates encouragement for us, as the final assessment for us as a Christian enterprise is the quality of faith and good works of our old scholars. 1982 began with four Old Ignatians in the novitiate and this year also is encouraging and a sign of God's grace for the Jesuit community here. This year also marked ordination of old scholar Fr. Martin Wallace as a Dominican — the 111th priest to be ordained from Riverview. "Come, follow Me" — we pray that numbers of our young men will continue in their generosity to hear that call, and follow Him in religious life just as the majority will follow that call also in married life.

For the rest there were the School and Class Masses and confessions, the Christian Living Camps and Retreats, and what I believe to have been a high point when the entire College walked up to the Lane Cove Church for the Feast of Ignatius, to attend Mass presided over by His Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop of Sydney. The formation in faith must remain a principal inspiration here at Riverview.

A school is only its families and staff, and the degree of parental and old boy involvement and support here at Riverview is staggering. About 800 parents attended the parent-son days here and there was a further one hundred families at the 1st Division boarder and parents day, and the issues discussed were central to our mutual vocation as parents and masters to work together for the formation of our young men. There was also the Year 9 discussion groups and I am very grateful to the organisers and the mothers who came week after week to join in the discussion with those boys on values and attitudes. The work of the Parents and Friends Association is much appreciated, from the routine of the Tuckshops to the tour de force of the Art Show and I thank their committee very sincerely and in particular Mrs Noelene Oldfield for the hours and hours of service given to this school community. To the Advisory Council and its Chairman, Mr. Charles Curran, for the consistent support and contribution over all those monthly meetings the College is also indebted, as also to the heroic group who engaged in door knocking for the difficult but so necessary task of the Building Fund. Most of these groups come together on what is a very fitting symbol for their generous involvement, the Indian Bazaar for the Jesuit missions. I repeat my strong thanks to you all, on behalf of Saint Ignatius College, and I include in that Dr. James L'Estrange for his generous fidelity with a minimum of two visits a week over all the school year.

Richness in diversity. In Drama there has been no less than four productions — Ruddigore, The Crucible, Oliver and, in classical Greek, Iphigenia by Euripides. These productions involved scores of students as cast and crew, and many staff. Their contribution is helping towards a traditional Jesuit ideal of the vir eloquens is invaluable, as was that of the debating coaches who helped bring about what must have been one of our most successful years ever. Debating is the oldest association at Riverview. I am informed, and Mr. Hall's work was outstanding as were the boys. 180 boys are involved in debating here, a real strength, and a medal is to be presented in honour of Fr. Charles McDonald in the year of his early death, a year also marked by the coming back to Riverview of the Lawrence Campbell Oratory trophy, won by Bruce Meagher, and the winning of the G.P.S. 1st and 2nd premierships. Over 200 boys are involve in the Music Department, and the growth in this department and the quality of our Bands and Orchestra is its own tribute to the staff involved. Drama, Debating and Music were strong emphases in our early schools and the values behind them are classic and authentic to the Jesuit tradition of schooling in the aim to foster and develop a sense of wonder and beauty and individual giftedness — "the glory of God is man fully alive", as Irenaeus said in the 3rd Century — and these emphases are to be maintained and strengthened during my time of stewardship at Riverview.

Bruce Meagher
Winner of the Lawrence Campbell Trophy.

Sport is also basic to the balanced and enjoyable formation, and the values and learning experiences in it are key ones for life. Our sporting successes have grown over the years as the school has grown in numbers, but more important than the successes is the range and degree of involvement. I have never had to watch so much sport in my life but am continually assured that it is good for me! I do believe in the value and role of sport — the schoolmaster who doesn't is as imbalanced as the one who exaggerates it. There is clearly no other activity that can help produce a College sense of unity to the degree that sport does and I was delighted with the good fruits of that activity in our College in 1982. The centenary year of Rowing, the success of the G.P.S. Tennis team, the record of our footballers and cricketers and basketballers and athletes has done so much to promote a sense of community in our school that I am very grateful to Mr. Punch and his coaches. A fine year in sport was capped off by the winning of both the G.P.S. Junior and Senior Athletics, our first time for such a double since 1967, and this double event was a power of good for us. I single out Michael Delany, a Year 11 student, gold and bronze medalist at the Commonwealth Games this year, a first for us, and on your behalf congratulate him.

On this occasion I also state publicly my thanks to Tim Regan and Andrew Cusack, the College Captain and Vice Captain for the initiative, leadership and support they have been through 1982.

In most issues Viewpoint carried a section entitled Congratulations. The range and diversity of those accomplishments is too great to summarize but the section was included deliberately, to promote the ideal of excellence, contained in the College motto; whatever talent we have is to be cultivated, for anything less is unworthy of us as individuals gifted by God for His purposes in our world. The awards ranged from academic to map drawing, from sport to Eisteddfods, and the richness in the diversity must be very encouraging to our parent body. In other activities too, like the St. Vincent de Paul Night Patrol, the Hot Potato Shop, the Philosophy Club, the Mock Trials, the Prayer Groups, the twenty-six forms of Wednesday Activities, from Archives to Ornithology — in all this there is established a context, a community environment here that can stimulate and assist the flowing of the personalities of our young charges, for the good of others.

Michael Delany
Our gold and bronze medalist at the Commonwealth Games.

On these occasions it is important to thank formally those members of staff who are to leave us. Mrs. Frances Flynn and Mr. Arthur Richardson have already done so, and Mr. John Bushelle and Mr. Michael Hughes will be retiring at the end of this year. In the quality of their teaching and commitment to the boys, and the years of involvement here they are and will be missed, and we thank them. With the Jesuits, Mr. Hans Enter is to proceed to his theological studies and Fr. Joseph O'Mara and Fr. Anthony Victor Smith are to proceed to Tertianship, the final phase of Jesuit training. All three have been extensively involved in boarding and each boarder who has passed through their care will have a fund of anecdotes for later life — the shrewder ones will have already acknowledged the dedication they received from these men, and the influence for good that our boys will be. The task of First Prefect at Riverview is acknowledged as one of the more onerous and demanding tasks in the Province and I do state publicly my special admiration and thanks for each of these teachers, especially Fr. Smith.

> "Those who graduate from our secondary schools should have acquired, in ways proportional to their age and maturity, a way of life that is in itself a proclamation of the love of Christ, of the faith that comes from Him and leads back to Him, and of the justice which He announced. We must make every effort to inculcate those values which are a part of our Ignatian heritage. Perhaps even more important than the formation that we give them is the capacity and concern to continue their own formation; this is what we must instill in them. It is important to learn; but it is much more important to learn how to learn, to desire to go on learning all through life
> The ideal of our schools is not to produce little academic monsters, dehumanized and introverted. Neither is it to produce pious faithful, allergic to the world in which they live, incapable of responding to it sympathetically. Our ideal is much closer to the unsurpassed model of the Greeks, in its Christian version: balanced, serene and constant, open to whatever is human.
> We must help our students to avoid suffering or imposing anything that dehumanizes man."

These words are from Fr. General's last letter on education, just before his illness. There are changes coming to Riverview next year in our pastoral and academic structures to accommodate these emphases, and the former have been outlined in Parent Days and Circulars. In the academic area, History is to become a compulsory subject for Years 7 to 10, as does language study for Years 7 and 8. The top two English streams thereafter will be obliged to nominate a classical language among their electives, until Year 10. Two "Other Approved Subjects" are to be added to the curriculum for Year 11 and 12. A Community Service programme will occupy the Activities programme for Year 11. "Citizenship Studies", a period a cycle will be part of the Middle School curriculum, as will be an exposure to Art, Craft and Music for those who do not elect for the full course in those subjects.

"Rhetoric", on the basis of a period a cycle, and covering such areas as public speaking, memorized speeches and oratory will be undertaken by Year 10. "Computer Studies" will be introduced for all Year 10, and Mandarin Chinese is to be added to the languages offered here. China contains more than a quarter of the world, and is opening up — its impact on us will be enormous. Korean and Japanese are derivative cultures, and the person able to read Chinese script is able also to comprehend Japanese script. We need an Asian-consciousness in our part of the world, and language study is perhaps the best means of achieving this.

All these moves are to heighten our sense of identity as a Jesuit school, able to draw from its treasury of traditions and emphases things old and new. Behind the subjects is our belief that the education of the Society's schools is an attitudinal one, formation through time, to develop the habits and styles of an educated person for others. "Gradually to make the young mind conscious of its own powers, gradually to exercise and strengthen those powers, so that when the schooldays are over the young scholar may be able to walk alone", said the Prefect of Studies here at Riverview at a similar occasion in 1883. Fr. Charles McDonald, leading our debaters to even higher standards each year, had this attitude as is evident from an extract discovered in his papers after his death this year.

> "My greatest joy is when I can produce a young man whom I can learn from — NOT to keep him under my tuition — but to release him from me. First, he must acquire disciplined habits of mind and an honesty and truthfulness — fairness of mind. Then I enjoy learning from him."

We still have those traditions and seek to underscore their abiding value while avoiding the temptation of antiquarianism. Our boys will graduate from within a long and rich tradition of schooling but they will graduate for today's, not yesterday's world. Christ is to be discovered in the present moment.

These are difficult days ahead for independent schools who seek to be available to an economic cross-section of parents. Alarming, too, is the lowering of community opinion concerning the vocation of the teacher.

The vocation of a schoolmaster is an exalted one; the society which despises the teacher despises its own survival, and the teacher who acts with industrial meanness or cribs his commitment to the level of self-interest or mere time-serving has destroyed more than the respect others should show towards their colleagues; he has blighted the calling of those who must train, must mould, must help awaken the gifts of the coming generation. Our role is far deeper than that of simple instruction; we are charged with the formation of the future, with assisting and forming young lives through what is clearly an extraordinarily important stage for them, their youth. We are not just teachers; we are called to be masters, not as in master and servant but as in master and apprentice, teachers of life as were men like Plato and Socrates and as was The Teacher, Christ. Institutio puerilis renovatio mundi wrote one of the framers of the 16th Century Ratio Studiorum, the code of education for the Jesuit schools as they spread throughout Europe — "the education of youth is the renewal of the world". I am grateful for having been part of this process at this school in this year, and commend our staff entirely to you our parents, as we promise now to continue to pray for the fine young men who are to leave us this year, that they may be signs of faith and hope and love for a world that needs them very much.

Anzac Day Ceremony

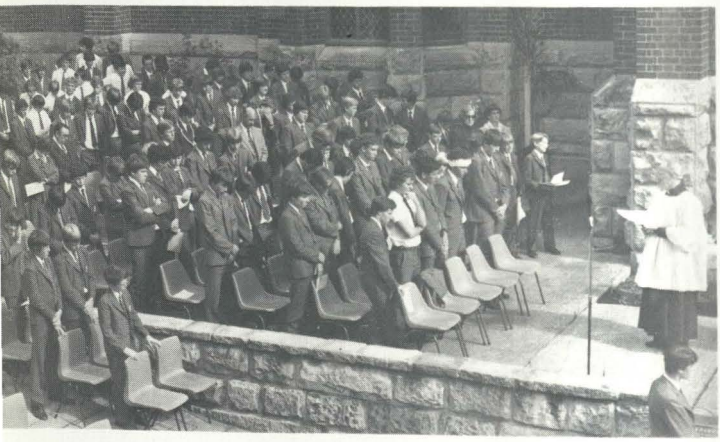

We observed our annual Anzac Day Commemoration on Sunday, May 2nd. The Mass for all of the dead of the two world wars and other conflicts in which Australian troops have been involved was concelebrated in the quadrangle for a congregation of the boys, their parents and the Old Boys.

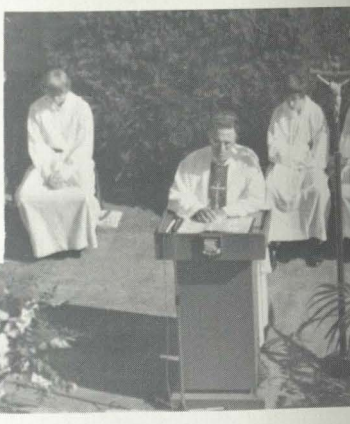

Monsignor G. F. Mayne, Senior Chaplain, Royal Australian Navy was the principal celebrant and preached the Homily. In it he began by quoting Sir Francis Drake "There must be a beginning of any great matter until it is thoroughly finished; only the continuing to the end yields the true glory". He then linked the sufferings of Christ with the sufferings of all who gave their lives in war, both perhaps wondering whether they were wasting their time. We celebrate, in their defeat, their victory. They died for the peace and freedom we enjoy, and we must continue to fight for truth, justice and freedom.

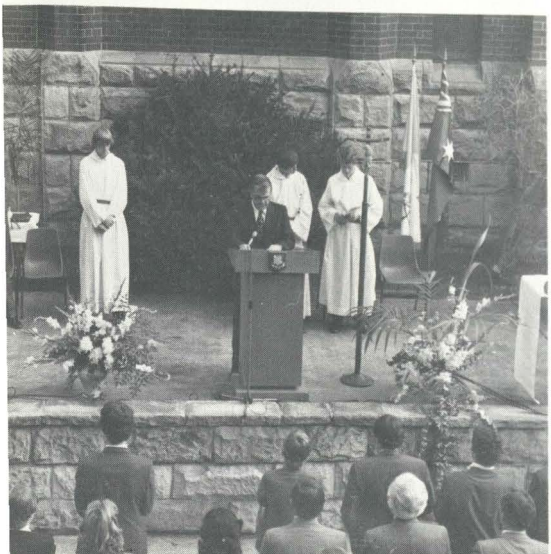

After the Mass wreaths were laid at the War Memorial by the Headmaster, the President of the O.I.U., the President of the Parents and Friends and by the Captain of the School; then followed the Last Post, the customary silence and the Reveille played by Nicholas Oppen.

CHAPEL NOTES

In a college such as Riverview the Chapel plays a very important part in the life of the boys. Rightly so, since every true Christian community is a Eucharist-centred community — "The same Body makes us One".

Space prevents one from giving a detailed account of all that takes place in the Chapel in the course of the year. What follows are some of the high points in the year that is now ending.

Stations of the Cross:

During Lent, at the suggestion of our new Headmaster, each Form did the Stations of the Cross in the Chapel on one day each week. The boys composed the commentaries used for each Station, and their efforts to do so deepened their understanding of what Jesus suffered during His passion and death.

Mass for Catholic Band Festival:

The Catholic Schools' Band Festival was held at Riverview for the first time from March 26-28 this year. On the Sunday all taking part offered Mass in the College Chapel. Music for the singing was provided by St. Ignatius Brass Band. The ceremony was an inspiring one, due mainly to the whole-hearted participation of all present. The homily for the day recalled the debt of gratitude we owe to God for the benefits that come to us through music.

Easter Ceremonies:

The liturgy of Holy Week was celebrated in the College Chapel on Palm Sunday, Holy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter Saturday, with large numbers of People attending. These ceremonies have become for us very much a family affair. Parents and friends have been coming to participate in them year after year. Once again we were heavily indebted to the College Organist, Mr. Lea-Scarlett, for giving such an inspiring lead in the music appointed for the ceremonies. Priest-members of the College staff were the celebrants and preachers of the homilies.

Anzac Day Commemoration:

The annual Mass for those who died in war was celebrated on Sunday, May 2nd. As in previous years, it was necessary to hold the ceremony out of doors, because of the large number of people who attended. The Principal Celebrant and Preacher for the occasion was Monsignor Geoffrey Mayne, R.A.N., Senior Catholic Chaplain of the Royal Australian Navy. In his homily he pointed out that those who died in defence of their country had been made like to Christ by their generosity and self-sacrifice.

Requiem for Fr. Charles McDonald, S.J.:

Fr. Charles McDonald, who had contributed so much to the life and work to Riverview for so many years, died in his sleep in the early morning of Sunday, 9th May. This came as a great shock to everyone who knew him. His Solemn Requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's Church, North Sydney on the following Thursday with the Jesuit Provincial, Fr. Paul Duffy, S.J., as Principal Celebrant. But on the previous evening a beautiful vigil Mass for Charles was offered in the Dalton Memorial Chapel where he had worshipped so often since boyhood. The congregation was a large one, made up of his fellow Jesuits, members of his family, retreatants whom he was directing at the time of his death, present boys, old boys, parents and friends of the school. F. John Ramsay, S.J., who had been with Charles as a boy at Riverview paid a moving and eloquent tribute to his memory. He spoke of Charles as a dedicated Jesuit whose life's work had been bound up with the education of youth, one who had never spared himself in his efforts to prepare them for life.

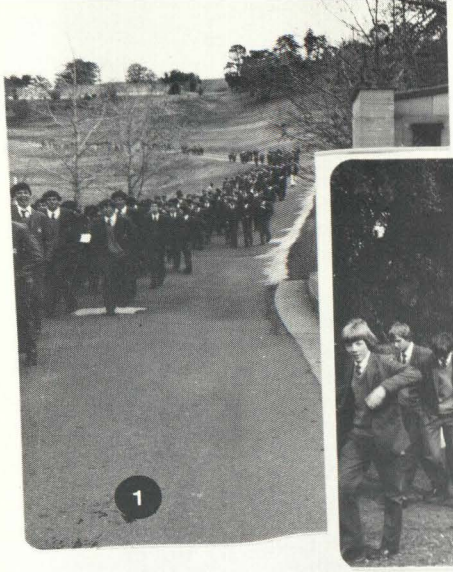

Feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus:

This is always a special day in Jesuit institutions, and both boys and masters attended Mass.

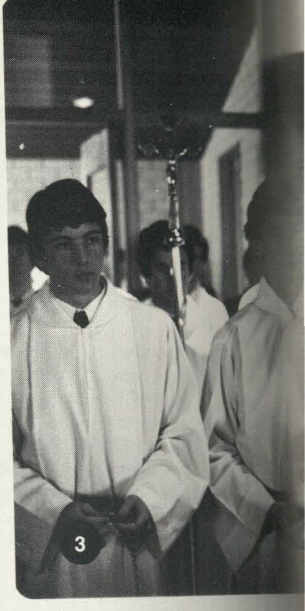

Since the College Chapel will only hold 400 approximately, it was necessary to have three separate Masses. The homilies preached on that day asked each one to consider, "What are you prepared to do for Christ, since He has shown so much love for you?" What is pleasing is to see the number of boys who offer themselves as Readers or Servers or Cantors on occasions such as this.

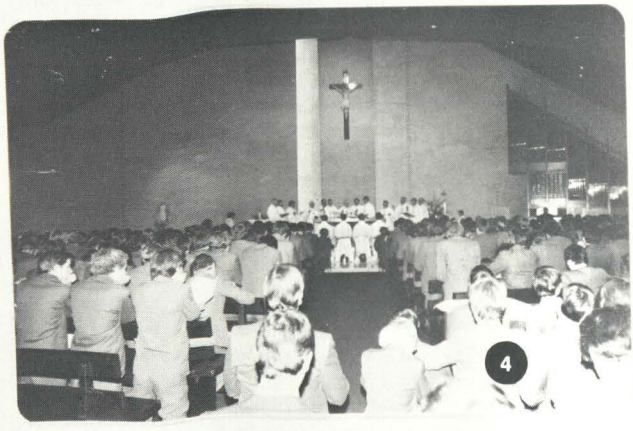

Feast of St. Ignatius Loyola:

It was the wish of our new Headmaster that the whole school should worship together on this day, so Mass was celebrated in St. Michael's Church, Lane Cove, by kind courtesy of our Parish Priest, Fr. John Farrar. The day was made memorable by the coming of His Eminence, Sir James Cardinal Freeman to be Principal Celebrant and giver of the homily. He drew attention to the precious treasure that we possess in our faith, a treasure none of us can afford to lose. And we will not lose it, if we are faithful to prayer. The Jesuit Provincial of Australia, Fr. Paul Duffy, was one of the concelebrants at the Mass. The massed singing of the school, accompanied by Mr. Errol Lea-Scarlett on the organ and an ensemble of brass and tympani, added much to the splendour of the occasion. It was good to see a number of parents and friends present with us for the occasion.

Ecumenical Service at The King's School:

To mark the sesqui-centenary of King's which occurred in 1981, Riverview presented to the school a notice-stand for their chapel. On Sunday 26th September the Headmaster of Kings invited a party from Riverview to take part in a ceremony of consecration in Futter Hall. Buses conveyed about 200 boys and masters from Riverview to King's. The Headmaster of Riverview in giving the occasional address reminded us all that boys coming out from Christian schools such as ours are expected to be "men for others", not self-seekers. The Captain of Riverview read one of the lessons. All of us joined in the hymns sung by the congregation. In addition we were invited to sing as a group, and we chose "Lift up Your Hearts" and Jerusalem". After the ceremony we were divided into groups and each group went off for supper to one of the eight houses. It was an historic occasion — the first time that boys of Riverview and King's have worshipped together.

Paul Cahalan's Requiem:

From time to time the Headmaster is asked whether the funeral of someone who was close to the College and who has died might be held in the College Chapel. On Tuesday, 28th September, Paul Adrian Cahalan's Requiem took place at Riverview. He left here in 1976. On Wednesday, 15th September, Paul was reported missing, believed drowned, from the research ship on which he was working in waters to the north of Australia. A large number of young people attended the Requiem, many of them class-mates of Paul, and there were parents of his class-mates too. The music of the Mass was provided by boys of Year 11. Paul's mother and sisters must have drawn great comfort from the deep affection that so many people showed for Paul. Occasions such as this, though they are sad ones, nevertheless help to keep clearly before our eyes what life is really about.

Things to Come:

Before the end of the year there will be Year Masses for each of the Years and their parents. There will be the Valete Mass for Year 12, which is always a memorable ceremony. And then the Carol Festival, which we are hoping might be held in St. Michael's Church this year. It would give us an opportunity to show our appreciation to the many people who live near the school for all their kindness to us.

The Other Things:

There are so many other spiritual activities in the school which could be mentioned — things that we take for granted. Boys from different classes visiting the Chapel on arriving at school, groups attending the optional Masses celebrated during the day, the numbers receiving the Sacrament of Reconciliation when it is offered each term, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at the beginning and end of term, the splendid participation of boarders and parents at the 10 o'clock Mass on Sundays, solemn Vespers sung in the College Chapel by groups of boarders on special occasions, Morning Prayers in Chapel for individual Year groups, the Rosary recited during October by a group attending optional Mass — all these activities are part of the daily life of the school. They are a healthy sign, since they indicate the importance that Riverview attaches to devotional practices among its sons.

MEN FOR OTHERS

In the last General Congregation of the Society of Jesus we were told that "greater emphasis should be placed on developing a Gospel-based conscience among those who have the power to bring about social change, and on service to the poor and oppressed.'

Consequently 'Every sector of our educational work should be subjected to constant review, so that it will not only continue to form young people and adults able and willing to build a more just social order, but do so ever more effectively. Especially should we help form Christian students as 'men for others' in a mature faith and in personal attachment to Jesus Christ, persons whose lively faith impels them to seek and find Christ in the service of their fellow men.'

Here is a report of the forms of service designed to help our boys aquire an attitude of generosity and social care.

Some of the First Divisioners have initiated a number of activities during the year.

Mr. Peter Bohrsman describes two of them:

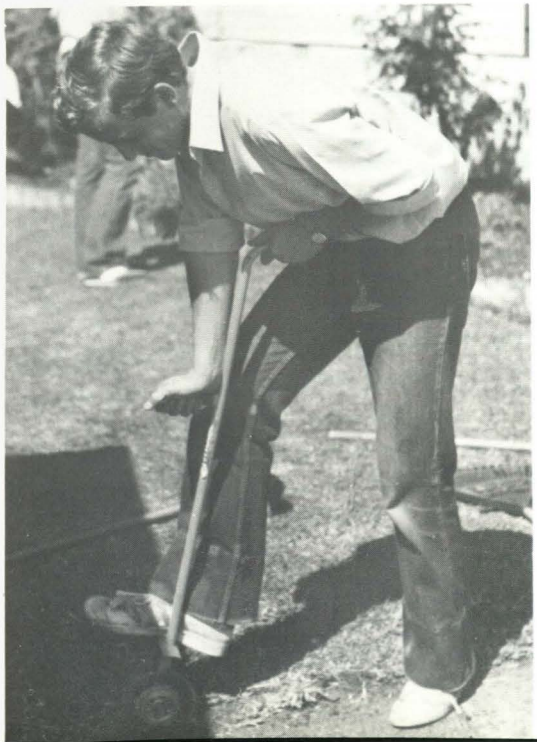

Ist Division at Mona Vale.

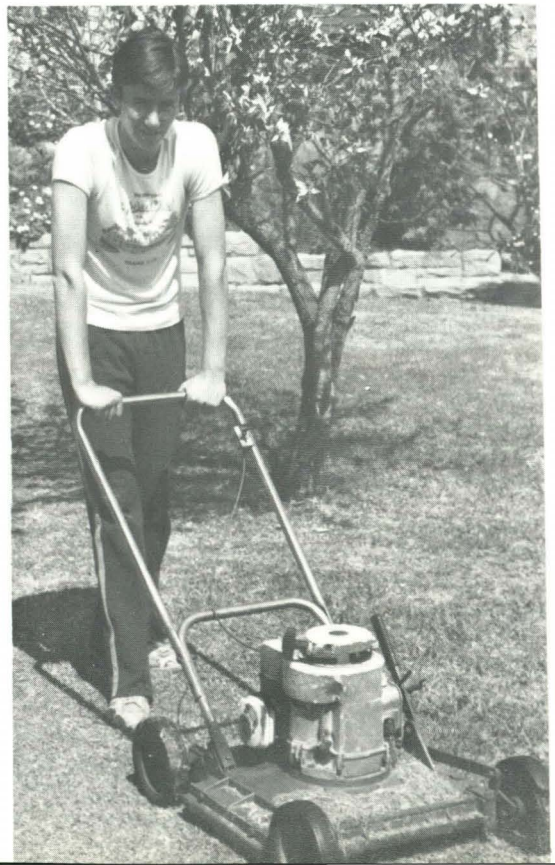

This year both day boys and boarders from Ist Division commenced working at the George Mockler Hostel and the Charles O'Neill Homes for the aged at Mona Vale which are under the care of the St. Vincent de Paul Society. Although this work has been done for some years by present and former students of St. Augustine's College, the property is vast and lends itself to a joint enterprise, The work done by the boys includes mowing lawns, gardening, reclaiming overgrown areas and talking to the residents.

There can be no doubt that the residents benefit greatly from the practical concern of the boys, but benefit comes also to the boys who in their free time give expression to that faith of which the service of others is the very essence.

It is one of the most beautiful mysteries of our faith that when we stand before Christ, he will say to us

'It was for me that you did this.'

First Division Boarders' Walkathon

Again, this year, the First Division Boarders did a walkathon from Palm Beach to Riverview, a distance of 45 kilometres.

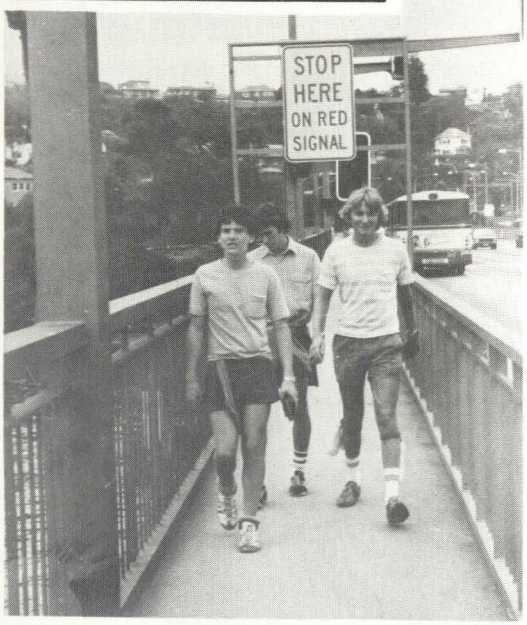

It is a long walk, and even the beauty of the scenery begins to pale after the half-way mark. The very fit arrived back at school after some six hours of walking; those who moved at a more leisurely pace took up to ten hours to cover the distance.

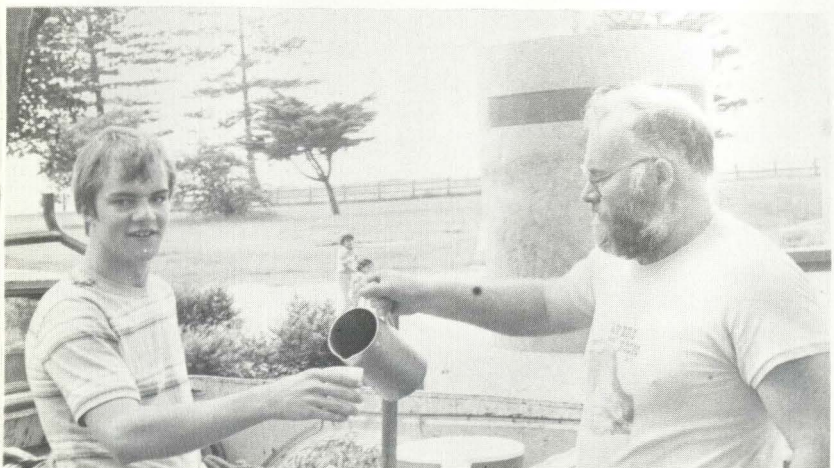

The money raised from their walk — approximately $3,000 for the two years — was given to a research/treatment unit at the Prince of Wales Children's Hospital concerned with the prevention of Muscular Dystrophy.

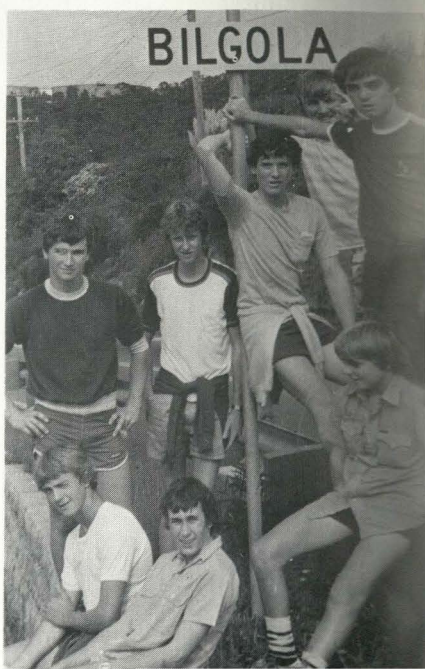

In a letter to the boys who walked in 1981, Dr Graeme Morgan, the Director of the Muscular Diseases Clinic, wrote that research projects that were already under way were threatened by financial restrictions and that their donation was therefore of great value. He added that both doctors and patient received considerable moral support from the fact that the boys would give up their free time and do such a long walk to help them.

"My Children love must not be a matter of words or talk;
it must be genuine, and show itself in action. This is how we know we belong to the realm of truth."

Night Patrol.

Once every fortnight two boys from First Division have been out on this work, organised by the St. Vincent de Paul, to search out the city's homeless men and women in the parks, railway stations and empty houses. Jude Bunbury (Year 12.,1981) and 26 boys have been out at least once and a number of them more frequently.

Jude writes 'Our night starts at about 7.45 at the Talbot. Here we make sandwiches and fill our thermoses with hot water. Then about 8 o'clock until anytime between midnight and two a.m. we work on the streets. Generally we are in the business of offering destitute men, and sometimes women, sandwiches and coffee. We are also able to provide accommodation at the Talbot, or elsewhere at some of the Sydney City Missions centres. If required we take the people to hospital or home or wherever they want to go. We gave help and friendship to those people who have very little of anything at all.

Personally I enjoy being a friend to those who often don't like even themselves. It is good to be working in this area because it maintains my sensitivity to others. It is practical Christianity.'

It is an educational process for all involved, especially for the boys from the school. The most obvious thing they realise is that these derelicts are themselves sensitive people, not things. It is also sobering to realise that some of these homeless people were professional men who for one reason or another dropped out.

Year 11 Community Service.

Miss Mary Bayldon again this year organised the Year 11 Community Service programme. During the fortnightly Activities period 84 students have been involved in some form of direct community service. This has involved 18 members of the staff and parents who have helped with driving and orientation.

The forms of service have varied, e.g. gardening and household maintenance in half way houses and villages for the elderly.

ii. Spending time with the elderly, unemployed and others in immediate crises.

iii. Providing, in the words of one boy 'a different type of friendship for the blind and coming to realise that the handicapped are not very different from normal people.'

iv. Sitting and talking with the men at the Matthew Talbot Hostel.

v. Working with the staff for the residents at the Gladesville retardation unit.

vi. Working as teachers' aides in schools for the disabled.

vii. Attending migrant centres and gaining first hand experience of the linguistic and cultural difficulties of the migrants.

viii. Visiting pensioners and the elderly, doing their chores for them and just being friendly with them.

The purpose of the programme is to give the boys the experience of meeting people who are suffering or are less fortunate than they are so that the boys can grow in compassion and confidence. They meet with people of different ages and backgrounds and develop a clearer understanding of how the community functions. We hope that this activates a concern for the common good and develops a greater sense of responsibility in their lives.

Indo Chinese Camp.

Nine boys from Year 12 attended this camp which was held in the Christmas holidays. Seven of them have maintained their involvment. the Indo-Chinese have said how much they appreciated the friendliness and kindness of the Australian Students.

Mark Connor's Impressions of the Camp

In early January, Riverview played host to some 115 youths from south-east Asia in the second annual Indo Chinese Camp. For 5 days our hallowed halls echoed to the laughter and music of the Chinese, Vietnamese, Laotian, Korean and Australian participants.

The aim of the camp was to give the Australians and the Indo Chinese a chance to get to know something of each other and each other's culture as well as offering facilities for a good time to be had by all. Most of the learning was by the Australians, the Indo Chinese having, to a large extent, absorbed what our way of life had to offer, while we had had little contact with their culture.

Each day was a mixture of work and play — the morning was usually spent working while the afternoon was devoted to sport and other more relaxing activities. Cricket and table tennis were the most popular sports, but even these stopped for the two trips to the St. Joseph's pool. The mornings were to a large extent, spent in groups of about eight under the leadership of a veteran of last year's inaugural camp. The group exercises revolved around the problem of communication. For many of the participants day to day conversing in English was a real battle and there were written and verbal exercises aimed at them as well as more sophisticated ones for the more proficient. The highlight of these morning sessions was the visit of two representatives from the N.S.W. Theatre of the Deaf. They gave a series of fascinating "talks" about non-verbal communication.

There were a number of extra activities organised that included a harbour cruise, a barbeque, a Kung-fu demonstration, a disco, some films about Australia and Asia and a concert which featured the Lion Dance as well as other traditional music. Despite the inclement weather for the cruise they were all very successful.

The camp was both enjoyable and profitable for all who attended — the Australians learnt about Asia, the Asians discovered more about Australia and all parties made new and different friends.

The First Division Boys regularly drive the younger boys to and from their places of service. They collected money throughout the year for the Eucharistic Community in Newtown who are involved in aboriginal issues. They have tutored and befriended boys in the lower forms.

Second Division

Most of the social work in Second Division has been done by the boarders. Early in First Term a group of ten boys committed themselves to working at the Gladesville Retardation Unit. The hours of work done far exceeded the hours that were promised.

In Second Term the Boarders organised themselves to go regularly; consequently each student spent several hours at Gladesville. It was very encouraging to see the initiative to continue the work and the increase in the numbers of the boys coming from themselves. For most of them the work was a real awakening to the value of life and the dignity of the human being. They often expressed their admiration of the patient care shown by the staff; they were troubled by the limits that Government Funding set to this care and they submitted to the Sydney Morning Herald and expression in action of their concern:

Hospital cuts touch children.

SIR, We write to express our concern over the cutbacks in funds at Gladesville Hospital.

Over the past few weeks, we have spent several afternoons working in the children's retardation ward. We have met children different to ourselves; children who hunger for affection and who have special needs.

However, at present these needs cannot be met because there is not enough staff to care adequately for these children. It demands a mammoth commitment by three adults to offer appropriate attention to the 24 children who live in the ward in which we work.

We have been deeply touched through our contact with these children and are concerned for their welfare. The community should not allow them to be forgotten. We hope the Minister for Health may be sensitive to the plight of these children when he considers the effects of cutbacks in funding.

Again it was encouraging to see the formation of a social conscience in the boys and one can only hope that the seeds planted in this experience will bear fruit in their attitudes as adults to the values of life.

Third Division.

Four Year 9 boys organised a 'Runathon' to raise money to help St. Vincent's Hospital to build a Soup Kitchen for the poor and homeless of the inner city. They spent the day running in relays around the drive and when one was exhausted another took over. They raised $500 throughout the school, which was rewarding for them and helpful to St. Vincent's. Further they were keen to go and work in the Soup Kitchen in the evenings in the hope of atracting some of the younger homeless people to it.

Large numbers of Year 9 boys have taken part in a couple of Door Knocks in the Lane Cove Parish. One of these designed to locate the parish 'Shut-ins' attracted fourteen boys. There is a strong hope that these boys, having located such people will be able to visit them and provide some friendship and practical help.

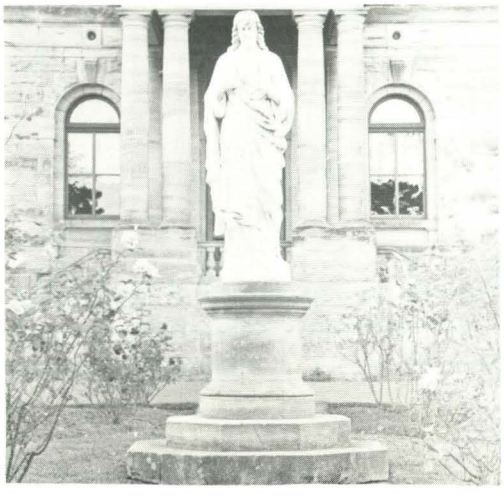

Finally the whole Form was involved in a collection for the Crippled Childrens Association. The Form Master, Mr. Bob Hanley organised the appeal and began by inviting a speaker from the Association to come out to show the boys a film and talk to them about the problems of the crippled. The boys responded with extraordinary generosity. Paying for them out of their own pocket-money, they hired buses to take them to Chatswood, Crows Nest and North Sydney shopping centres. There they collected more than $1,000. The Association wrote an appreciative 'thank you' letter and sent a small present to Tim Richards , because he had the fullest tin.

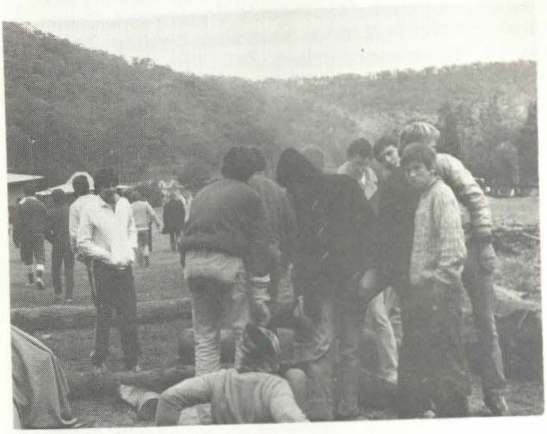

Fourth Divisions are just finding their feet in the Senior school, but they have not been remiss in developing a sense of service. Ten of them joined Year 9 in seeking out the 'Parish Shut-ins'. Earlier in the year their Form Master organised what has become an annual appeal for the Salvation Army. Twenty mothers drove the boys to Lane Cove, Chatswood, Boronia Park, Greenwich and Hunters Hill where the boys collected $1,300 from the different from the different shopping centres.

Many people from the staff, the parents and outside groups have given a lot of time to these projects. We are grateful to them. This style of education is necessarily nebulous. It is all but impossible to estimate growth in faith. These projects are long-range in their goals, but we hope that what has been done this year will play a part in shaping our boys for the future.

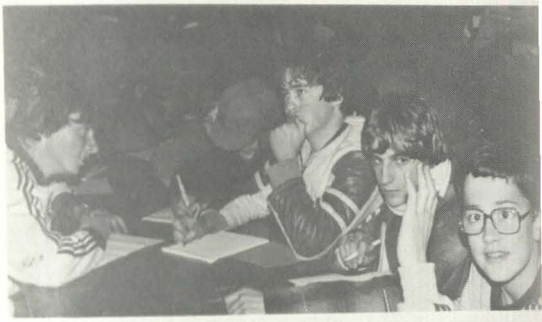

In these programmes we confront our boys with the call of the Gospel. We all know the extremes of this world's living standards. It is a great challenge to ask and expect our boys to decide and to choose that it is better to give than to receive, to be poor in spirit, to go two miles rather than one and to give their shirt as well as their coat, but that is what our Father General has told us to do, it is what Riverview is all about, and somewhere a path to the solution of hunger and godlessness is to be found in inviting them to this level of faith.

This was written on the feast of St. Francis of Assisi, the beggar saint, who found the deepest joy in renunciation and whose followers have contributed so widely to learning and culture and a profound respect for the value of every human being.

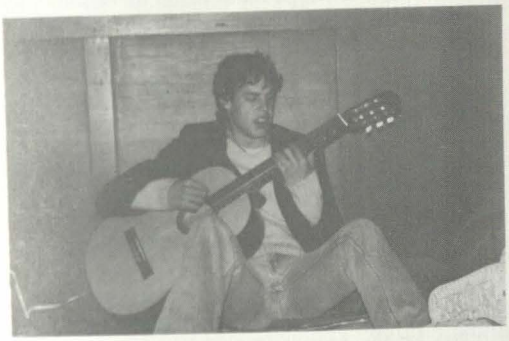

Castle Mountain Camp. and some of its activities

CHAPLAIN'S NOTES

The greater part of the chaplaincy has been done through personal interviews and liturgical occasions. In addition to this we have offered retreats and camps to the boys in the three senior forms.

Twice we took groups of Year 12 (about thirty in all) to Canisius College for a retreat. These retreats lasted about forty hours. There was a stress on personal prayer and on opening the Scriptures to the boys on retreat. There was an atmosphere of prayerfulness and of well celebrated liturgy. On each retreat we celebrated the Sacrament of Reconciliation.

Year 11 students were given the option of a co-educational Christian Living Camp at Vision Valley or spending two reflective days at school. These days were devoted to issues of faith and liturgy. There was an emphasis on vocation, and the students were encouraged to share their images of God.

Year 10 went to Castle Mountain Camp near Wisemans Ferry — a rugged setting between hills on one side and Webbs Creek on the other.

In such a venture we aim to give the students some experience of community and to provide the situation in which he can contribute to that community. So all sorts of means are used to encourage his involvement; discussion groups, singing, trust walks, funny dress parades, canoeing, abseiling and open panel discussions are some of the regular activities used to provide sharing and serious talking. Hopefully there is an inner and personal depth from which the students can share and talk. Awareness of this inner depth is discovered through meditation.

Increasingly exercises of personal meditation are becoming a part of these camps and retreats. Prayer groups in the division boarding house frequently introduce students to this sort of meditative prayer.

A good part of each of these programmes was set aside to prepare and celebrate the Eucharist. The great hall at Vision Valley with its banners, balloons, streamers and posters was a memorable setting for the Eucharist, as was the warm midday sun over the mountains at Castle Mountain Camp.

There is a dynamic or rhythm in building a Christian Community. The more we open ourselves to one another and finally to God the more we experience companionship and friendship. In this context, we also experience our need for forgiveness. On each camp or retreat we have celebrated the Sacrament of Reconciliation; each time this sacrament has easily become part of the programme: and on each occasion the hours after reconciliation have been particularly joyful and quiet. Ensuing periods of prayer have seemed to be even more still and quiet.

So, in just a few days these groups (in varying ways depending on age and capacity) have experienced some aspects of "life in Christ", and have done it in the traditional setting of ecclesial or sacramental community. There must always be a balance between the individual and the community; each gains a strength from the other in weakness; each contributes his strength to the other. The shaping of future, the quality of hope, the energy to be active — all these are individual gains through a healthy community.

One of the characteristics of secondary students that seems currently strong is the emphasis they put on themselves and their privacy and their individuality. A few years ago, there were issues like "peace" or "world hunger". Today these don't seem to be so frequently mentioned. With unemployment, university quotas tightening, and the apparent hard times, it is not surprising that we might be producing a "me" generation. This privacy and individuality is evident in a variety of ways. In religious matters it shows itself through the many questions about the Church's ability and authority to speak objectively on moral issues; it shows through the reluctance to be part of a Sunday Eucharistic community preferring (sometimes) "to talk to God alone in my room." Finally there is a noticeable absence of undisputed commitment to causes for others. Hopefully the retreats and camps speak a little of these facets: hopefully they invite a student out of his privacy to meet some others, while permitting him to return to his privacy all the better for having left it. Hopefully these camps are a formative step in the maturing process. As students understand the relationships in their lives, hopefully they come to understand in faith the relationship that Our Father has already established with us in Christ.

This programme has involved many people's hours of work and exposure to the rough and tumble of youth camps. Special thanks are due to Fr John Curtis, C.P., Fr Stan Lim, S.J., Rev. David White, S.J., Dr Chris Clark, who are not members of the Saint Ignatius Teaching staff. Finally many thanks to all those staff members who have helped and whose own enjoyment and sense of fun was so good.

Scenes of the Parents, Sons and Teachers Days.

1st DIVISION BOARDERS' DAY

Boarding is synonomous with Riverview. The earliest pictures which we have of Riverview are those of the boarding community. Well, the Riverview family has increased to the extent that two thirds of our total school population are day students. And the ethos over the century has evolved along with its student population. Riverview proudly boasts that it is a family-oriented school — another way of saying that it accepts the challenge of making parents the primary educators and sees it's role as assisting families in preparing their children for maturity, for society, for God.

If this aim is to be maintained then close links between home and school are vital. In the case of the day student, home and school meet on many occasions: on the sidelines at a sporting venue; at an opera performance; around a table at a parents and friends function; over the counter of the tuckshop; outside the chapel after a form Mass and on many other occasions. However, for boarders' parents the opportunities are limited. Time and distance are limiting factors. So, in the evolving ethos of the school I have always believed that the parents of boarders are at a disadvantage in exercising their God-given role as the primary educators of their children — not because they don't want to, but, because of factors outside their control, they cannot.

With this in mind it has long been my idea to present an opportunity for the boarders and their parents to meet with the school for a mutual exchange. In late 1981 plans had crystallised enough to propose what we called a "First Division Day" for the boarding community. The response was so enthusiastic and so encouraging that early in 1982 a letter was sent to the parents of all boarders in First Division announcing the day and some general intentions with respect to the day.

Three months after the event I look back on a day which, as far as I am concerned, was a magnificent success. I would like to think that I had some little part in the success of the day, and perhaps I did. But there is no doubt that the success of the day rests squarely on the shoulders of those concerned parents who, in many cases, travelled hundreds of miles; left properties and businesses to attend the First Division Day. Of the 96 families who could possibly have attended the day, representatives from 91 were present — in most cases the whole family attended. From most of the others I received word expressing their disappointment at missing the day. If ever a boy had doubts about the depth of concern shared by his parents this day would have put them to rest.

The events of the day have fused into a Kaleidoscope of colour: the opening address by our new Headmaster, Father O'Kelly, remains memorable to many; the slide show, an inspiration of Mr. John Townsend and ably photographed by Mr. Peter Bohrsmann was novel, talks by Father O'Donovan and Father O'Mara provided valuable input; many will remember the barbeque handled so well by the boarders of the division in the most trying circumstances under the inspiration of captain and vice-captain Andrew Cusack and Matt Donnan — how good it was to be waited on by one's sons!; others cherished the simple opportunity of sitting down and discussing areas of common concern with people who had previously been identifiable only with the name of a son; all were appreciative of those teachers, not immediately concerned with boarding, who showed their solidarity with the occasion by their presence; the Mass at the end of the day capped off a wonderful day.

The day was not without its limitations. For those running the day it was certainly a learning experience. We had no precedent. Enquiries to other schools revealed nothing along the lines we were proposing. We made our mistakes and, unwittingly, as this day develops, we will make many more. But in the end it was a day which brought family, son and school together in that vital triangle around which hinges all effective education.

Senior Debating Team: Winners of the Louat Shield.
Fr. A. M. Walsh, S.J., C. Cody, M. Hoffman, B. Meagher, Mr. A. Hall.

DEBATING

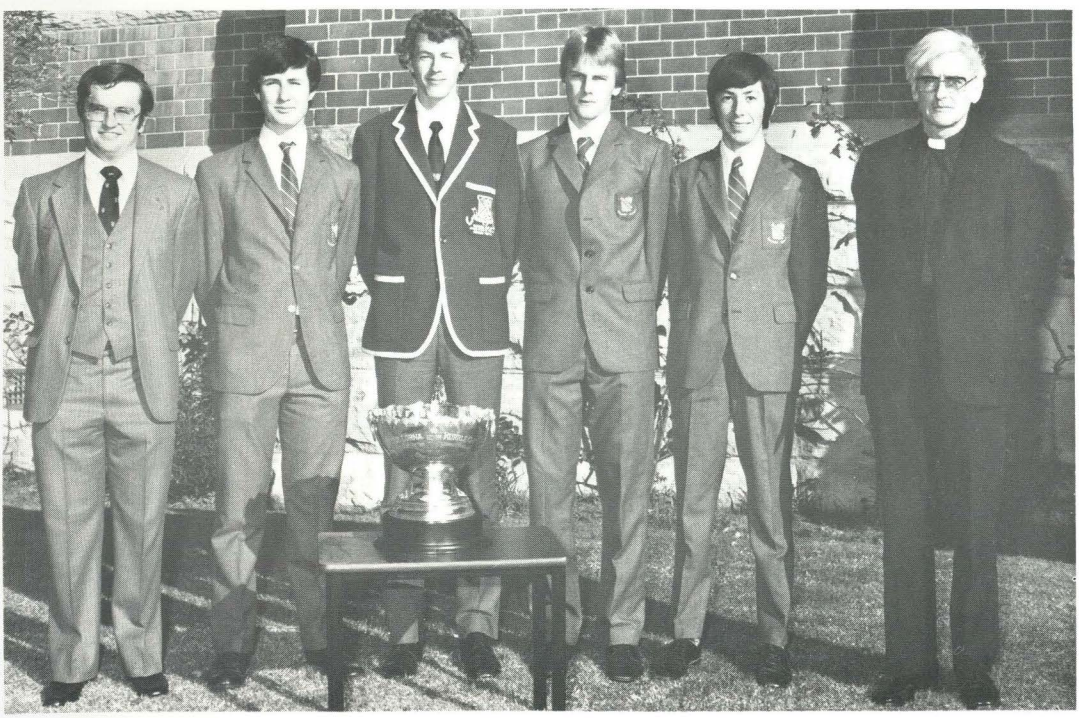

The 1982 debating season was one of the most successful in the club's history. We won the premiership for the fifteenth time in the last twenty years 1962-1982. Martin Hoffman, Bruce Meagher and Chris Cody were an excellent team and won every debate in the competition. Their toughest challenge came in the first round when they narrowly defeated Sydney Grammar, last year's premiers. We affirmed the topic that 'Men of action leave us languid', and argued that the ordinary man's apathy and sceptical nature caused him to reject and become bored with the man of action. Grammar, despite excellent manner, failed to destroy this case line which we maintained throughout. Heartened by this beginning the team went through the competition without being defeated. Martin Hoffman, the captain, was particularly effective as reply speaker by continually showing the inadequacies of the opponents case.

The Seconds, losing only one debate, were co-premiers with Sydney Grammar. After losing to Grammar they showed marked improvement in the following six rounds and were worthy co-premiers. Peter Bell, Mark Conner and Nick Dwyer worked well together, and in each debate they developed a solid case based on very clear, logical arguments.

This year Riverview entered a new competition-The Independent Schools' Debating Association, founded ten years ago by Mr. Lea-Scarlett. The Senior B team from Year 11, Anthony Fleming, Brendan Byrne and Declan Jarrett won the final and became senior debating premiers for 1982. Our Junior Team (Year 7) Matthew Reede, Michael Fordham, Simon Florance and Matthew Gledhill were the junior premiers for 1982 in this competition.

The two Senior Catholic Schools' teams, Desmond Sweeney, David Rock, Lachlan Edwards, Greg Leather, Simon Evans, Simon Malynicz won the Senior Aggregate Shield by winning eleven of the twelve competition debates. The second team: Greg Leather, Simon Evans, Simon Malynicz reached the final of the Catholic Schools' Competition only to be defeated by one vote.

The Lawrence Campbell Oratory Competition was won by Bruce Meagher of Year 11 who spoke on the topic:

2nd Debating Team
Left to Right: Mr. A. Hall, N. Connor, P. Bell, N. Dwyer, R. De Carvalho, Fr A. Walsh, S.J.

Year 11 Debaters
Back Row: R. McLachlan, A. Fleming, J. O'Dea, D. Frawley, B. Byrne, S. Evans.
Seated: D. Jarrett, G. Leather, Rev. A. Walsh, S.J., L. Edwards, Mr. A. Hall, P. Nolan, S. Malynicz.

Back Row: P. Healey, P. Dwyer, M. Crawford.
2nd Row: P. Costa, A. Bucknell, J. Allsopp, B. Curran, L. Mackay, P. Clarke, M. O'Brien.
Seated: S. Thorp, M. Harrison, Mr. M. Hughes, N. Fish, A. Meagher, Miss B. Hume, N. Wilcken, D. Gett.

'To thine ownself be true
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.'

It was a fine oration by one of Riverview's finest students.

Congratulations to Martin Hoffman, the winner of Fr. Charles McDonald, S.J. Memorial Medal for excellence in debating. He has been an outstanding debater over the years and deserved to be honoured with this award.

Clearly our strong debating tradition has been maintained this year and I would like particularly to thank the Headmaster, Fr. O'Kelly, for the interest and support he has given to debating in 1982.

A. Hall
Debating Master

Year 10 Debating.

We began the season with 42 keen debaters. Nicholas Fish was elected Captain and he carried out his job most competently and reliably.

With such a large number we were pleased that the school decided to enter four competitions, since more students would thus have an opportunity to compete against outsiders.

Our G.P.S. team Andrew Meagher, Paul Healey and David Wilcken joined Fr. Walsh's classes immediately as they competed against Year 11 students. They should be proud of their performance which was excellent.

Our candidates for the C.S.D.A. teams were:

(A). Mark Crawford, Nicholas Fish and Matthew Harrison.

(B). John Allsop, Peter Costa and Simon Thorp.

The A team won eleven of their twelve debates, the B team won eleven of their twelve debates.

We submitted one team, Bernard Curran, Paul Castley and Rohan Kerr in the I.S.D.A. They were debating publicly for the first time and profited greatly from what was at the beginning a harrowing exercise.

This year, for the first time, we entered the N.S.W. Law Society Mock Trial Competition. Our team A. Bridger, A. Bucknell, J. Daly, N. Fish, J.Garnsey, D. Gett, L. Mackay and M. O'Brien were very fortunate to have as their adviser and coach Mr. John Dunford, Q. C., and we thank him sincerely for his help. The team reached the third round of the state-wide knock-out competition. They gained new insights into the legal profession and the experience derived from the competition was very positive.

B.M.H. & M.J.H.

Year 9.

Thirty enthusiasts were involved each Friday afternoon in debating classes and two thirds of them had the chance to represent the school in competitions and social debates against other schools.

Year 9 Debaters

Back Row: E. Lynch, M. Donnellan, J. Graham, C. Wilkins, A. Ryan.
Row 3: C. Henville, J. Evans, B. Joyce, P. Green, M. Tinning, J. Hennessy, J. Traill.
Row 2: M. Shanks, M. Stephens, J. Hayes, D. O'Dwyer, W. Dermody, C. Cooper, P. McGivern, P. McQuade.
Front Row: P. Cahill, D. Bridger, A. Shanks, Mr. S. Codrington, A. Rennie, Sr. Josepha, J. Schell, J. McNamee, A. Hill.
Absent: P. Fisher, T. Parsons, M. Tesoriero.

Year 8 Debaters

Back Row: A. Preshaw, T. Warren, C. O'Brien.
3rd Row: J. Sheedy, D. Playle, J. Daru, D. Donkin, D. Lord, J. Payne, A. Harding, P. Allsopp, D. Chisholm.
2nd Row: I. Gray, H. McLennan, S. Doyle, T. Rocks, M. Carrigan, J. Turton, S. Robinson, J. Bowra.
Front Row: B. Heuston, L. Bunbury, D. Stack, Rev. G. Brennan, S.J., R. O'Keefe, Mrs. K. Connew, G. Leather, M. Zitek, R. Zitek.
(Absent): C. Crawford, L. Crawford, N. Deane-Johns, D. Thompson, D. Whiteley, D. Yaffe.

Year 7 Debaters

Back Row: Mrs. K. Pearse, R. Dougan, P. Sim, S. Florance, J. Peters.
Front Row: J. Harkin, M. Reede, C. McGrath, P. Henville, K. Edwards, M. Gledhill.

All teams performed creditably in the Catholic Schools' and Independant Schools' competitions and in the City of Sydney Eisteddfod. The team of James Hayes, John Graham, Chris Henville and Tim Parsons reached the semi-finals of the C.S.D.A. before being defeated. William Dermody showed particular promise in the I.S.D.A., where Misha Shanks, Michael Donnellan and Michael Tinning also did well. The best debater of the group was Andrew Rennie who with wit and insight acted as third speaker for the A team.

Year 8.

There were thirty four loyal members of the group, though all did not have an opportunity for an inter-school debate.

Peter Allsopp, Justin Bowra, Luke Bunbury and David Chisholm formed one team in the C.S.D.A. competition, while David Lord, David Playle, Simon Robinson and James Turton formed the second team.

The I.S.D.A. team was Shane Doyle, Julian Leather, Jeremy Payne and Roger O'Keefe. Shane , Julian and Roger also entered the 14 and under section of the City of Sydney Eistedford. None of the teams reached the quarter final, but all gained valuable experience, held their enthusiasm for the entire season and are developing some good debating techniques.

Matthew Carrigan, David Donkin, Nicholas Deane-Johns, Hamish McLennan, Craig O'Brien, David Stack and Damien Whiteley represented Riverview in a few G.P.S. social debates.

Our best debater was Roger O'Keefe.

Both Fr. Brennan and I were heartened by the improvement in all debaters this year.

K.J. Connew.

Junior School Debaters.

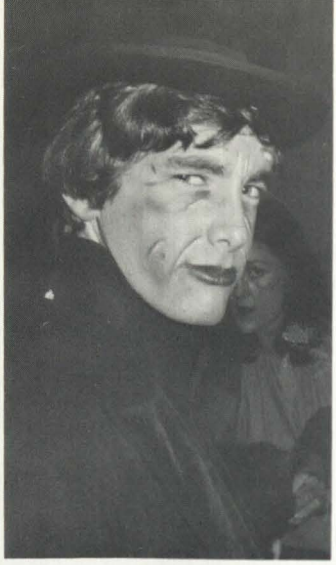

Our major achievement this year was the winning of the Junior Section of the I.S.D.A. Competition. Our enthusiastic team, Matthew Gledhill, Matthew Reede,Simon Florance and Michael Fordham are to be congratulated for their hard work and determination.

We also entered two teams in the Junior Division of the C.S.D.A., and although they did not reach the finals, their improvement as debaters during Second Term was quite noticeable. These teams included John Harkin, Padrig Sim, Craig McGrath, Phillip Henville, Kingsley Edwards and Robert Dougan.

Friday afternoon debating in the Junior School, with an average attendance of forty boys from Years 6 and 7 has been very successful. All have improved their speaking skills and have gained confidence.

Scenes from Ruddigore

At the time of writing the Music Department has just completed three of the busiest weeks on record! The production of Oliver; the practical requirements and concert of the H.S.C. music students; the external practical examinations of the A.M.E.B. in piano, guitar, strings and woodwind, Year 11 musicianship and Year 9 theory; solo and group entries in the Sydney Eisteddfod.

These weeks were unusual in their intensity, however, in retrospect 1982 has been an unusually busy year with little respite for either students or staff.

Staff

At the outset of this report I wish to record my thanks to all music staff for their support and dedication. Especially do I want to thank Miss. Lynn Rawlings, who from Term 11 has carried a heavy workload when the department time tabling prevented a replacement for Mrs. Diana Stephens.

We welcomed at the beginning of the year:

Miss Angela Burkett - a Sydney Conservatorium graduate as Junior School Music and English teacher and private teaching in piano and brass.

Mr. Tony Ferner(Sydney Symphony Orchestra) - Senior School Flute teaching.

Miss. Suzanne Berger - Senior School Flute teaching.

Mr. Tim Gallego - Junior School Flute.

Mr. Keith Steele - (Sydney Symphony Orchestra) - String staff.

Mr. Edward Theodore - (Roman graduate in Organ)- organ and piano tuition.

Mrs. Diana Stephens left Sydney for her new home in Melbourne at the end of First Term. She gave unstintingly of herself in her fine piano and class teaching at Riverview and we have missed her greatly. Mrs. Lana Strighevsky (Senior School) and Miss. Maria Cameron have replaced Mrs. Stephens. Mrs. June McManus also left us and has been replaced by Mrs. Rochelle Sutherland.(String tuition)

Music Camps

Vision Valley was the site of a Mid-First Term music camp for orchestral, composing and guitar workshops. Sixty young musicians took advantage of the specialised tuition and intense atmosphere that prevailed in the peaceful surroundings of Vision Valley. The fruits of this work were to be seen later in the term.

Gilbert & Sullivan's RUDDIGORE

Since last year was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first production of Rogers and Hammerstein's famous musical "Oklahoma", it was chosen for presentation in the winter term in 1981. This year, however, we returned to Gilbert and Sullivan with "Ruddigore" or "The Witch's Curse".

"Ruddigore" is one of the lesser known of the Savoy Operas. Yet when people have seen it for the first time, they invariably say that they enjoyed it thoroughly and they wonder why it is not produced more frequently.

The reason why is not hard to find — "Ruddigore" makes greater demands on actors and producers than most of the other operas. In order to be able to do justice to the melodrama contained in it, the actors need to be able to act convincingly as well as to sing sweetly.

Dancing is quite a feature of the show, so an imaginative choreographer is needed who can work with large groups of dancers.

In the Second Act the portraits of former Baronets of "Ruddigore" suddenly come to life and very competent stage and lighting technicians are needed to handle this scene effectively.

And the music, some of the most beautiful that Sullivan ever wrote, is a great challenge to a musical director.

Those who witnessed the Riverview production of "Ruddigore" in June would agree, I think, that these demands were well met. All performances were heavily booked, while the large number of young people involved in the show found it a very enjoyable experience.

This year for the first time the list of principals and the chorus of Bridesmaids included young ladies from Abbotsleigh, the Brigidine College at St. Ives and Loreto Kirribilli as well as some from Monte Sant'Angelo. This happened because it was decided to invite sisters of boys at Riverview to join in the show. The experiment worked well.

Valerie Wojtulewicz, one of whose daughters took part in our earlier operas, undertook the training of the dancers with very pleasing results. The Hornpipe and the Country Dances were preformed with grace as well as precision, and it is not easy to teach a number of boys to do that. Valerie also designed and organized the making of the girls' dresses which were very colourful.

St. Aloysius' College kindly loaned us costumes for the men's chorus of Bucks and Blades, when we were unable to hire suitable ones. Most Costume Hire Services could not supply the large number of similar costumes that we needed. St. Aloysius' also loaned us costumes for the principal ghosts, together with the full-length portraits corresponding to them. For this we are deeply grateful to the Headmaster, Fr. Robert Bruce S.J.

As in previous years the stage settings were built by the boys, aided by one of the College carpenters. They were painted by boys working with Barbara Hume and Tony Moore. The first set — representing the Fishing Village of Rederring — was a blaze of colour. The second set — the Picture Gallery in Ruddigore Castle — was in marked contrast, with its dark, dimlly-lit panelling and the portraits of the ancestors.

The Orchestra
Conductor: Miss Lynn Rawlings

The fine performances given by the principals indicated the ability of our Director of Music, Murray Holmes, to select and train young singers. Sullivan's music is not easy to play for young instrumentalists, yet the orchestra gave a spirited rendering of it. "Ruddigore" offers several opportunities to the choruses of ladies and men to show their mastery of light and shade. The singing of the double chorus at the entry of the Bucks and Blades, the Finale of the First Act, together with the Ghosts' Chorus in the Second Act — all these demonstrated Murray's skill as a chorus-master and conductor. Throughout he was ably assisted by Lynn Rawlings, our accompaniste.

Another who must be mentioned is David Enoch, who besides being one of the producers, was also General Manager for the whole production. He worked tirelessly from the start to ensure that the show would do credit to the school. His careful planning and his attention to detail were invaluable.

Finally, a word about the boys of Year 11 of 1982. Their response to the invitation to take part in "Ruddigore" was most enthusiastic, and they more than any other group in the school carried the show. The school appreciates very much the energy, the good-will, the drive that they gave to this year's musical. They are one of the finest groups of singers that Riverview has produced.

To stage an opera such as "Ruddigore" in the very limited facilities offered by our present Memorial Hall is very difficult indeed. Also the number of those wishing to be involved in the operas grows larger, yet no one would wish to turn away boys who would like to perform on stage. Hence the need for a larger, better equipped stage, an auditorium that can accommodate three times the number of those who pack into the Memorial Hall. May the day not be far distant when Riverview will have such a Hall.

Junior School Music Activities

As well as the full time music staff who are involved in this scheme on Mondays we have the services of:

Mr. J. Castley (Recorder), Mr. T. Gallego (Recorder), Mrs. R. Sutherland (Violin), Mr. S. Friezer (Brass), Mr. B. Nelson (Clarinet, Oboe), Mr. P. Brassil (Clarinet), Mr. H. Enter, S.J. (Guitar), Mr. M. Jones (Guitar), Miss S. Berger (Flute), Mr. R. Kitney (Percussion), Mr. P. Healey (Percussion).

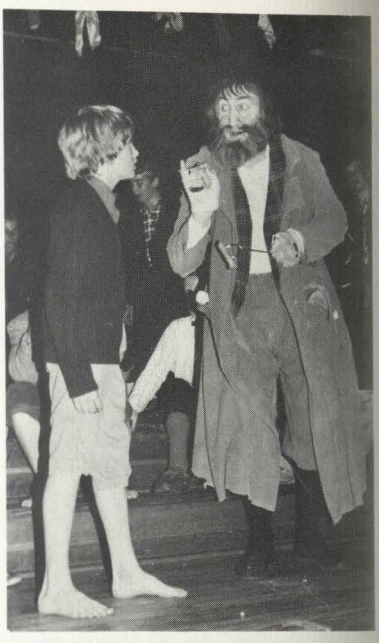

We were fortunate to have available in the Monday Activities the 1982 H.S.C. music class who generously offered to join the tutoring team. This spirit of generosity has been there in abundance during their time at Riverview and we wish to record our sincere thanks:

Chris Cody — a most promising pianist who has become very competent on string bass as a second instrument. He intends to study music at Sydney University.

Dominic Rowe, Captain of Music for 1982. Dom has led by example and has attained excellence in all spheres of music. A fine trombonist he has contributed enormously to Riverview's music.

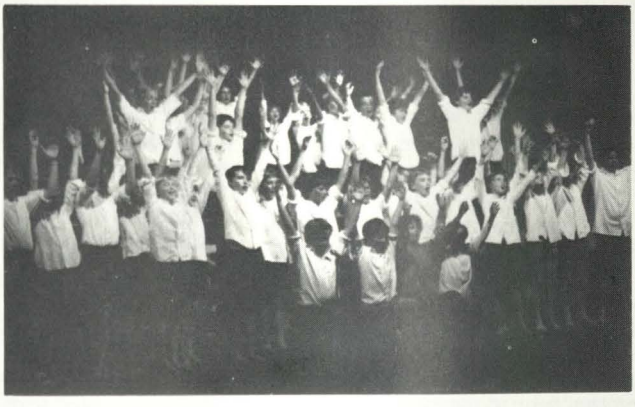

Thomas Scahill, a talented musician. In Year 6, Tom played the leading role in 'Amahl and the Night Visitors', became the leader of the orchestra and a prominent violinist in the Centenary Year and this was as principal soloist in Ruddigore. He should hear this young man in the future.

Desmond Sweeney — a dedicated musician who for a year excelled as a pianist and classical guitarist. Finally the guitar won the day and Des has contributed greatly to setting the standard both for his year and to leadership of Year 7 guitarists.

David Wills. After the music camp of 1981 David established himself as a composer of promise and the choir and orchestra have benefitted from his works. A pianist and clarinetist he has especially shown a flair of arranging.

Michael Donohoe, a virtuoso on instruments of the bass and of the brass family. He has won several state and national awards and has been a fine leader in his sphere. He intends to make music his career.

Anthony Hood, an extremely gifted all-round musician with a particular flair for composition. He won the Hutchinson Award while in Year 9. A player of both keyboard and stringed instruments he has equipped himself well for what we believe will be a significant future in Australian Music. He will study music at Sydney University.

Tomas Pullinen is our most advanced and competent classical guitar player. He has set standards for others and been a generous leader. Vice-Captain of Music for 1982.

David Rock, an enquiring and creative musician David has explored many areas of music and has developed into a fine flautist and budding composer.

Then there was the City of Sydney Eisteddfod in which we fared well.

Chris Darin: 4th place (Highly Commended) in 3 vocal scyions (17-20 yrs).

Campbell MacBean: 1st place and Highly Commended in vocal section (16 yrs and under).

Simon Evans: 2nd place in Cello Section (17 yrs and under).

Chamber Chior: 2nd place Open Male Vocal.

Guitar Ensemble: 4th place in Musica Viva Music Contest.

The Year's activities will be completed with the internal practical examinations in late October and November and our final concert for the year: The Composers' Concert.

BRASS BAND

During First Term Riverview was the venue for the second annual Catholic Schools' Band Festival. During the weekend one hundred and fifty soloists and ensemble groups competed against one another. The Festival ended with a Mass celebrated by Fr T. O'Donovan, S.J. It was attended by more than five hundred parents and bandsmen from eight schools. After the Mass a most enjoyable concert was given by the bands.

Special congratulations go to our senior ensemble, conducted by Michael Donohoe of Year 12 who won their section during the festival.

The band played at two Anzac Services in First Term and for the Lane Cove Council, in their plaza, during Second Term.

A most successful music camp was held at the end of the First Term holidays, to prepare the band for their two state contests. Competing in the N.S.W. Junior B Grade for the first time the band won second place.

Dominic Rowe and Michael Donohoe are to be congratulated for their musical successes through the year and for the leadership they have given. So too is the bandmaster, Mr H. Kellett, for his inspiration and dedication.

We thank the parents of the boys who worked so hard during the festival.

Scenes from The Crucible

SENIOR PLAY

This year's Senior Play, Arthur Miller's 'The Crucible', was a most successful production. It was staged three times on July 4th, 6th and 7th, and by the final night had reached a level of excellence of which the cast can be proud.

The Crucible turned out to be a very demanding play to prepare. In the first place this was because of the enormous demands made on a non-professional cast by the long and episodic Act 1. During this act various members of the Salem community are introduced in a series of scenes that, though brief, ask for consideable acting skills from the whole cast. In the second place it was because of the amount of detailed planning and rehearsal called for by the many scenes of physical and emotional violence that occur throughout the play. These may end up looking simple, but every detail of movement has to be planned and arduously rehearsed.

That preparation was not even more difficult was due to the giftedness of the principals, and to their readiness to work hard on their own. It was possible to leave to them large sections of the play that could otherwise have been expected to occupy hours of rehearsal time. This was particularly the case with Anthony Sakrouge whose splendid creation of the role of Danforth was to a great degree done on his own. The same was true of Martin Hoffman's realisation of Proctor's big final scene in Act 4; of Jane Bethell's achievement of Abigail's domination of the Court scene; and of Ann Gordon's working out the precise quality of Elizabeth's hurt and self-protective reaction to her husband in Act 2.

But a great deal of rehearsal went into the bulk of the play — at times it seems as if work on Act 1 had gone on forever — and some of the greatest successes came out of this work. David McFadden's Parris, Mark Connor's Hale and Andrew Nimmo's Giles Corey were three such cases.

It was obvious early that David McFadden was going to be able to do the sullen, reproachful and self-vindicating Parris extremely well. But it was only many hard rehearsals that ensbled him to get the right blend of worldliness and religious zeal, of subservience to authority and bullying of his opponents that the role calls for. His triumphant "Praise God" when Mary Warren brands the honest Proctor as the devil's man was a masterpiece of perverted zeal.

Mark Connor found the role of Hale difficult, but nobody in the cast worked harder, and his eventual success as the high-minded cleric shaken by remorse at his unwitting fostering of evil did him great credit.

Andrew Nimmo brought considerable emotional strength to the role of Giles Corey. As well, in creating the oddity of this cantankerous, though honorable, old man, he displayed an inventiveness that made him very convincing.

By the third night Andrew Mackinlay's honest Francis Nurse was a very sympathetic presence; Chris Roach, as Hathorne, was convincingly the sharp-witted official enjoying his sense of his own importance; Adrian Lucchese's Cheever was beautifully uneasy as a man who has achieved a certain dignity by siding with the opponents of the men he really respects; and Warwick Ryan was assured as Putnam, the man whose wealth gives him power to manipulate the community for his own ends. Tim Morse's Herrick was beautifully strong and deserves special mention. He moved and spoke with authority and with judgement and he is obviously capable of a much bigger role than he had in this play.

Anthony Sakrouge, as Danforth, was one of the best of the cast, and it was largely due to his sensitivity, to his perception of what each moment asked of him, his flexibility of response to the dramatic changes of fortune that follow one another in the Court scene, that Act 3 achieved such sustained and compelling drama.

Martin Hoffman as Proctor showed remarkable emotional range. The role of Proctor calls for a great variety of attitude and of feeling. Martin was authoritative throughout, whether in the ambiguities of his encounter with Abigail, or the strong commonsense confrontation of his battle with Parris and Putnam, whether in his guilty, gentle approaches to his wife, or in the terrible final conflict with Danforth, when, on the verge of desperation, he finds the strength to believe in, and assert, his own integrity. It was a very fine performance.

Amongst the girls, Anne Gordon was outstanding. Emotionally mature and strong she was also remarkably perceptive, picking up from the text subtle indications of the way Elizabeth feels about John, and of the way she feels about herself. Her Act 4 was strong and true.

Jane Bethell, as Abigail, was at her best in scenes in which Abigail's domination of others was most marked. The shrewdness of her judgements and the swiftness of her moves were most convincing. That she was in command was never in doubt.

Sally Ann Symons, Francoise Fonbertiaux and Angela Plunkett, as the hysterical strongly to Abigail's suggestions, and their destruction of Mary Warren, and so of the threat to themselves, built to its screaming climax with control and with great power. Ot these three Angela Plunkett showed that she has the talent for a role much bigger than Betty's.

Sue Henville was inventive and forceful as Tituba, the negro slave, and she and Marguerite Noble, as Sarah Good, handled the muted comedy of the jail scene with Herrick with a nice touch.

By the third night Noelle Sweeney as Rebecca Nurse, and Lisa Ryan as Ann Putnam had both worked strongly into their parts, the first as the old lady embodying "wisdom, age and grace", the second as the woman twisted by suffering and pushed by her failure to cope with it almost to the edge of sanity.

One remarkable achievement of the production was Gabrielle Sakrouge's Mary Warren. Gabrielle joined the cast as a replacement only a fortnight before the first performance, but the performance she gave was splendid. it is a fairly big role and a demanding one. Just to learn the part in the time required an extraordinary effort and great ability. To have created the character in a fortnight shows gifts of a much higher order. Gabrielle earned the gratitude and affection of the whole cast.

The contribution to the success of the production made by the technical crew was again an important one. Richard de Carvalho was again stage manager and led a happy group of workers behind the scenes. We say goodbye with gratitude to David Lamond after the last of many times he has worked on lighting. Ane we farewell gratefully Cameron Hurwood and Matthew Hunter after the big job they did so well in the Box Office. To all the crew, thanks again.

And thanks, too, to everyone who helped in any way — Mrs Wilson taking bookings, Mrs Collins typing. Mr Morris Lees for printing the programme, the prefects who ushered people to their seats, the parents and friends who provided supper.

The play was directed by Mr J. Castley and the technical direction was in the hands of Mr J. B. Mott.

INAUGURAL AGRICULTURE CLASS

For many years boys in the middle school have had the option of studying for one or two periods a week agriculture or sheep and wool. This year agriculture has been offered to them as a two unit course for the Higher School Certificate, and seventeen have availed themselves of the opportunity offered. Topics studied in the course criss-crossed many other disciplines including biology, chemistry, economics and general studies, while core topics such as crop and pasture maintenance and animal husbandry receive their due attention. One of the basic problems encountered when the course was offered was that in the city environment there was limited access to practical experience. On a very small scale there was the 'plot' on the side of the science labs and a visit to the James Ruse Agricultural High School, but a visit to some chosen reason was mandatory.

So at the end of First Term in order to gain further practical experience the Central West of N.S.W. was visited. The parents of two of the boys arranged accommodation and spoke to the boys about their farming enterprises.

Tallawangra, near Mudgee, is the fine wool merino property of Mr. Charles Mort. We inspected the stock and pastures grown on the undulating slopes of the property. Mr. Mort gave us the benefit of his wide experience in the wool buying industry and he kindly arranged for the District Agronomist, the District Land Valuer and the Officer of the Soil Conservational Service to speak to us. The occasion was of particular interest because of the long association of the Mort family with Riverview, and because the name is so closely linked with the early development of Australia.

We then moved on to Cremorne, Nevertire, the home of Mr. Kevin McKillop. Mr. McKillop offered what was to some of us a new experience, for shearing was in full swing when we arrived. Inspection of irrigated pastures, discussions on cross breeding of merinos and on the uses and values of various types of farming implements were of importance to all of us.

Being a master of undervaluing his own ability Mr. McKillop arranged visits to other properties in the Nevertire district, where we gained first hand experience in the harvesting of soybeans at Mr. Quigley's property, the growing of wheat and grain sorghum at Riverview Old Boy, Mr. Jack Noonan's property, and the growing of cotton on the corporate property 'Austcott', Warren.

We returned from this trip with a much broader outlook on Agriculture and a closer knowledge of the region we chose to study.

We are deeply indebted to both the Mort and the McKillop families for the time they gave us, their hospitality and their shared experiences.

FR. CHARLES McDONALD, S.J.

When I arrived at Riverview at the beginning of this year I was invited to move into the room recently vacated by Fr Charles McDonald. The walls are mango, the curtains 'bamboo'; the blend of colours, gentle and tasteful, are very pleasant. Just inside the door are four stairs, but no railing. I asked him about the absence of the railing. His answer was that he had planned a bookcase instead of the railing, but had not had time to organise it.

There is a reading lamp on the table. It had come, he told me, from his family's home, after his mother's death. He warned me that it had a fault and that I could get a slight shock from it; but it's value was sentimental.

It was a room that spoke of Charles: taste, colour, scholarship, disorder, meticulous detail, love for his family.

About two years ago he and I had a conversation about the Spiritual Exercises and how we might give the Exercises to young Old boys. He understood the Ignatian Exercises — in fact their influence in his life was profound — and he was keen to share this driving force in his own life with those whom he taught. He told me that day that his desire to become more explicitly involved in retreat work was very real. The audience he envisaged was Old Ignatians in particular.

Charles McDonald was born of the feast of St Joseph in 1928. He was the fifth child of Sir Charles and Lady McDonald. He was born into a very close family; his ties with his brothers and sister, and later on with their families, were deep and close. He knew the security of loving parents and both his father and mother regarded his decision to become a priest as a very great blessing for them.

Charles entered the Society of Jesus in March 1946. He had been a student here at Riverview. Originally a dayboy he became a boarder when petrol rationing became strict because of the war. Father Gerald Jones, S.J., taught him to serve Mass in the small chapel behind the Assembly Hall. He was a member of the school Cadet Corps and the first camp had been held at Cabramatta. One memory from that camp was the joy and fun Charles had from the American bombers and fighters flying low overhead.

To foreshadow one of his greatest contributions to the life of the College in later years, Charles began his debating career. He usually argued as the third man in the team and showed then his natural talent and gentle persuasiveness.

In March 1946, a group of his friends Peter Hollingdale, Ivo d'Apice, John Roche, John Gould, Warren Asprey, John Hehir and some others gathered at his home to farewell him before he set off to enter the novitiate at Watsonia.

From 1946 until his ordination in 1959 Charles' life was that of a Jesuit in training. His novitiate, juniorate and a studies in philosophy were done at Loyola in Watsonia, Victoria. Photos of the time show him as very youthful and obviously enjoying the companionship of his newly found brothers. He wrote an account of his new life which was published in Our Alma Mater; it set several others thinking of entering the Society.

During his regency he taught at St Aloysius' Milson's Point for three years. From there he went to Canisius College, Pymble, to study theology. It was from there that he was ordained. He formed close Jesuit friendships while preparing for the priesthood; he also kept close ties with his own family, treasuring their letters, welcoming their visits.

One of the qualities he is especially remembered for is the deep joy and happiness that seemed to emanate from him. John Hehir remembers him as being constantly happy as they walked and talked over miles of country around Watsonia. Fr John Ramsay remembers him as always smiling, always laughing.

He brought this joy to his priesthood. It was one of his most winning qualities; it was his starting point for showing the great loves of his life to his students and his fellow teachers. It became enthusiasm; it was channelled to be strength; it remained as motive and inspiration; it showed itself in kindness and compassion. It was infectious.

As a priest Charles was assigned to three communities. He was for one year at St Louis in Perth before his tertianship; he was five months in the Institute of Spirituality in Pymble; he was for eighteen years at Riverview.

Much has already been said about those years at Riverview, and I do not want to repeat too much of it here. But I do want to stress the excellence that he brought to every position he held at Riverview. The same meticulous care was shown to his Under 14 football teams as was shown to his teaching of English. He thoroughly and painstakingly prepared his classes; he rigorously trained his debaters.

As Debating Master he lived out one aspect of our Jesuit educational tradition — rhetoric and careful presentation. These were years of extraordinary success for Riverview's debating, when the G.P.S.

Fr. Charles McDonald

premiership was won thirteen times in seventeen years.

As Senior English Master Charles brought his great love of literature to the fore. He also showed his charm and sincere warmth as he welcomed new teachers into his department and helped them to develop their own initiative.

Miss Barbara Hume wrote: "As Head of the English Department Father placed an enormous amount of trust in each of his teachers, and one could not fail to respond to that trust. He wanted the very best from us for the students and he worked tirelessly towards that end."

And so for eighteen years, through three or four generations of boys Charles taught and inspired; he guided them in literature and developed skill in public speaking. He welcomed new teachers and was able to support without dominating them and he was able to exercise his joyful sense of the Ignatian "magis" on people who came within his influence. One aspect of this was the degree of genuine friendship he established with so many individual boys; his capacity to love people and to accept them was shown countless times during these years.

When 1980 came Charles was a firmly established figure at Riverview. It was the world of his boyhood, and the theatre of his priesthood. It had given its best to him and he had returned his best to the school. Time had given him the opportunity to become a great educationalist, time had also deprived him of change, variety and independence. His Jesuit heart was still yearning for more. He was restless to share not only literature and debating with his students, but also his soul.

Thus he was invited to do a sabbatical year, a year abroad designed to re-direct his ministry and to open it to new horizons. lit was with a mixture of some trepidation at leaving the security he knew so well and excitment at the prospect of a new start that he set out for America and Canada.

He travelled to take part in workshops and seminars on the Spiritual Exercises of St Ignatius and on spiritual direction. In these he discovered a great deal that his gentle, deeply spiritual personality responded to immediately. He felt that his life was taking a new direction in serving Christ as a retreat director and spiritual guide. His letters from overseas exuded happiness and on his return to Australia his presence radiated it.

There had been a wonderful renewal in that year abroad. His smile was more than ever to be seen; his great gift of laughter was in evidence; he frequently said that he had never been happier. With the sureness that comes from obedience Charles could comfortably say "I have finished my work at Riverview and I am very happy in the work I am doing now." It was as if he had rediscovered the affective and the relaxed. He greeted all on his return as long-lost friends. There was an enthusiasm for his new work which could not be dimmed.

And so he came to his new assignment in the Institute of Spirituality. For four short months he was part of the team there. He only lived long enough to take part in one programme, and that involved directing six people through the Thirty Day Retreat.

One of his retreatants Fr Bernard Shah, O.C.D., recalls that "I got very close to Charles during the retreat in March. When I heard that he had died I was incapable of believing it. He had lots of very fine qualities as a director. I believe that he would have become a truly outstanding director had he lived. He had the ability to give himself away to others when he sensed this would help them. For him I think this took lots of courage.

Prayer was tremendously important to him; at times I felt that he was impelled by his own discoveries of prayer to share them with others. He was very compassionate, a good listener, and generous to a fault with his time."

A fellow director, Sister Margaret Laffan, R.S.C., has not previously met Charles. She felt he relished the companionship of the team. She enjoyed his rich sense of humour as he relaxed in his new surroundings. This was increasingly shown. She admired his gentleness. She was aware of the sensitivity he showed for those for whom he was responsible. She remembers that his every conversation was a reflection of the deep inner peace that is an expression of a profound relationship with Jesus. He knew his Lord and he loved Him above all. This knowledge and love, combined with his joy, was a great inspiration to the whole team.

He had developed a taste for the music of the St Louis Jesuits. Their most recent release, based on Philippians 11, called The city of God, had caught him and he listened to it over and over again. He sermons, carefully prepared as ever, showed his closeness to the Lord and were an inspiration to the retreatants. They contained innumerable references to literature and reflected his personal integration of spirituality and learning.

In this one course he delivered a series of lectures on the Discernment of Spirits. This very technical area was presented with clarity and ease. The lectures showed his awareness of human fragility and his giftedness. He emerged as a man of God, able to recognise and accept limitations and strength in himself and in his fellows.

While all this was going on he was showing some signs of illness. It was thought at first to be hepatitis. In fact, it was more serious. His own giftedness was being undermined by his own fragility. On May 8th he came back to Riverview to give a retreat. Here on the night of the 9th he died in his sleep. He died in the place where he had spent so many years of receiving and giving. He left behind him men of laughter, men of taste, men of friendships, men who are restless for God, and who seek the God of truth.

St Paul once described us as God's work of art. This is so true of Charles' life. He grew and he loved, he learnt and he laughed. He responded to His Father's call with a generosity that never flagged. His life was moulded by St Ignatius, and he lived that moulding. He was faithful to and eager for the opportunity to do more. He lived by our Jesuit ideal, he loved it and by it was able to influence others.

He was a gentleman in all senses of the word, a man of learning and culture, and over all these gifts the Lord clothed him in charity and invited him to lead others.

And so we pay tribute to and farewell this great man of God, Father Charles McDonald, S.J.

THE EIGHTY-FIFTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The Eighty Fifth Annual General Meeting was held at the University and Schools' Club on Friday, February 5th and began punctually at 7.45 p.m. with the President Dr F. Joseph in the Chair.

Among those present were Farmey Joseph, Bruce Rose, Paul Lewis, John Conlon, Ned Theodore, Peter Anderson, Peter Makinson, John Williams, Phil De Baun, Jon Hendriks, Bob Barry, Bob O'Halloran, Noel Yates, Brian Nowland, Tom Cahill, Kevin Lohan, Terry Roberts, Geoff Hall, Bill Russell, Tony Clark, Ted Hall, Mick Deloughery, Brian Murphy, David de Carvalho, Paul de Carvalho, John Collins, Charles Grant, John Shanahan, Paul Hayson, Charles Cuschieri, Peter Rowley, Dennis O'Brien, Chris Gunson, Peter Cahill, Michael F. McInerney, Tony Breslin, D'Arcy Hall, Terry Meagher, Bruce Clarke, Graham Crawford, Phillip Brandt, John Russell, Harry Williams, Chris Gower, Bob Wilkinson, Leigh Clark, Bill Odillo Maher, Pat Gillespie.

Apologies were received from: A. Meagher, K. Slocum, D. Nolan, P. Hunter, C. O'Dea, M. Poirrier, G. Bartels, Edward Theodore, P. Prior, P. McGrath, G. Payne, O. Makinson, Geoff McManis.

The minutes of the previous meeting were taken as read.

The Secretary, John Conlon, reported that the year had been one of readjustment to normality after the unusual and hectic year of the Centenary which had preceded it.

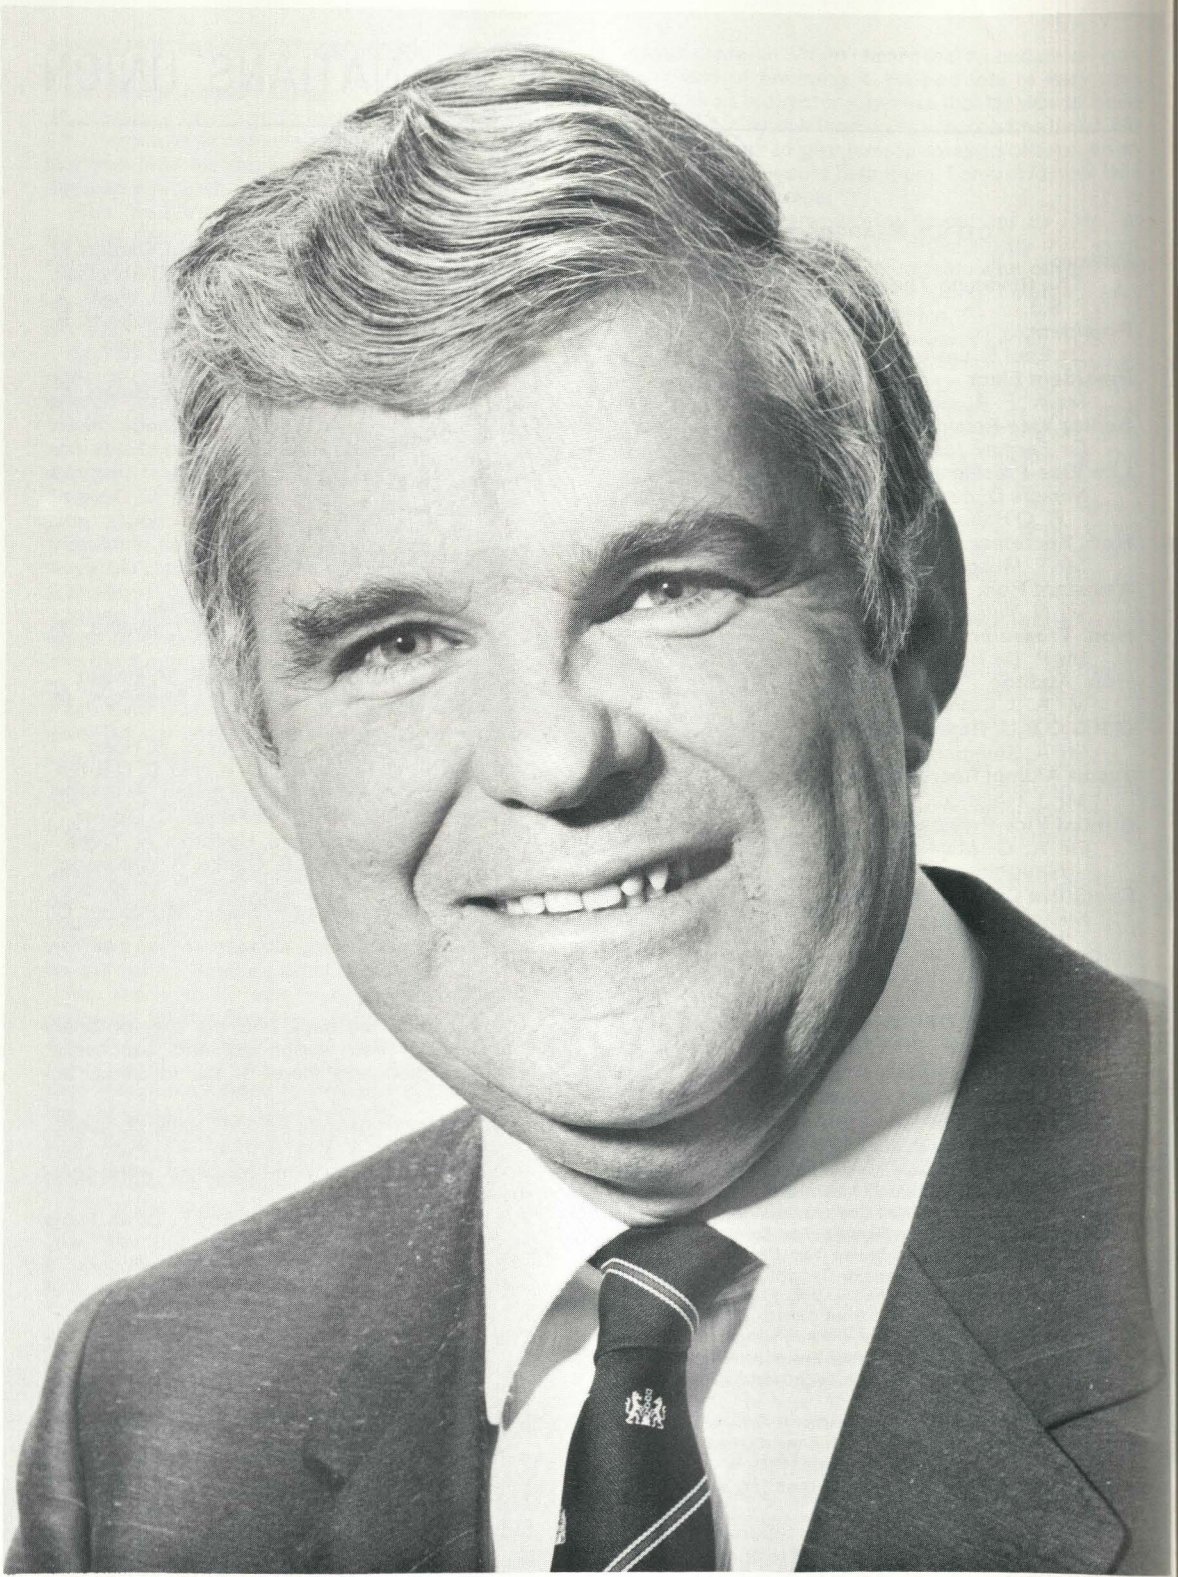

The activities fell back into the pre-centenary pattern, were well supported and successful. Special mention was made of the following activities:

Country Reunions were held at Canberra, Scone, Coonamble, Cowra and Griffith. All were well attended and the area vice-presidents were commended.

The Retreat, directed by Old Boy Fr Brian Yates from St. Patrick's College, Manly, was very well attended. There were sixty five participants, a number which must be close to the record and all of them voted the day a most rewarding one.

The Annual Dinner was a return to earth after the dizzy heights of the Wentworth Hotel Centenary Dinner. It was, however, an evening much enjoyed by the one hundred and fifty who attended and at which we had for our entertainment and enjoyment two fine speakers, Sir Douglas Miller and Tony Abbott, the latter now luxuriating in his Rhodes Scholarship at Oxford.

Indian Bazaar. The take this year was a record one. There was some renewal in the O.I.U. involvement, but a need for a revitalised approach to our support of the Bazaar was called for.

Dr P. E. Lewis
President O.I.U., 1982

Newsletter. The Newsletter continued to be produced attractively, and seemed to be well received, but readers were asked to make a more active response in contributing to its content.

The Mailing list, now that it had been placed on the school's computer, was in good shape, since the corrections to it were easier to keep up to date. The O.I.U. appreciated the help and co-operation of the College in this sphere.

The Treasurer's Report was circulated at the meeting instead of being posted with the notice of the Meeting. It was adopted after careful persual by some of our members, but its handsome surplus of $3630 led to its adoption without an overlengthy discussion.

The retiring President then addressed the meeting with the opening remark that he was a very, very retiring President. He said that during his term of office he had acquired a much greater interest in the affairs of the Union and had become more committed to its ideals. He had a far greater knowledge of the Union's interest in the College and of all the work done by the General Committee for the Union and the College, as well as of the great part played by the Jesuits in the functioning of the Union.

As far as he could see, he said, there was a very close link between both bodies, but he would like to see as many Old Boys as possible members of the Union so that the ideals and aims of the College could be more vitalised in their lives.

He thanked the Committee for efficient and unselfish way in which it had worked during the year.

He then introduced the new Headmaster of the School and Patron of the Union, Fr G. O'Kelly, S.J., to the Meeting and assured him of the prayers, the support and the interest of the Union during his term of office.

Fr O'Kelly thanked the President for his warm welcome and said that he knew he could rely on the Union and looked forward to his association with it. He paid tribute to the Headmaster who had just retired, Fr P. Quinn, and also to the work done by Fr Charles McDonald, S.J., during the past eighteen years and to Fr John Ramsay, S.J., and Brother Higgs during their stay of fourteen years at Riverview.

They had all gone to work in other fields, and their departure had caused some changes in the structure of the school. Two Old Boys, both laymasters of the staff, were to act as Division Prefects, Martin Scroope would be in charge of Second Division and James Rodgers of Fourth Division.

He spoke of the success in the H.S.C. where seven of our students had been among the first one percent of the State, eighteen boys had secured more than four hundred marks and seventy five were in the top thirty percent. But, he said, there had been a long 'tail', which was a worrying fact and something would have to be done to cater on a broader scale for such boys.

Fr O'Kelly quoted as follows from the report of the Prefect of Studies of 1883, Fr Charles O'Connell "We should be false to our own traditions if we made it our chief object to pass our pupils at these examinations. Our main object, of course, is to make our pupils good Christians, we have always made, and always shall make, all else subordinate to this. In the next place we desire to make them educated gentlemen; not merely to put into their heads a certain amount of information which they may or may not retain, but gradually to make the young mind conscious of its own powers, gradually to exercise and strengthen those powers, so that when the schooldays are over the young scholar may be able to walk alone. We do not undervalue the amount of information the young scholar may obtain during his schooldays, but we value it not so much for itself as for the mental exercise gone through in acquiring it."

Fr O'Kelly said that he agreed with what Fr O'Connell had said and that it would be his aim to implement it.

The election of office bearers for 1982 then took place and the results are to be found at the head of this report. The President, Dr Paul Lewis began his year of office with a gracious tribute paid to his predecessor, for his stewardship of the Presidency, for his devotion to his office, for his hard work, for the thousands of miles he had travelled through the year from his home in Wagga Wagga to all the Country Reunions, except the one nearest to him which illness had prevented him from attending, and to all the monthly meetings in Sydney. His enthusiasm and his oratory had had a great effect on the Union and its members.

He went on to say that while he was conscious of the honour of being President of the Union he was fearful of his ability to do justice to the office and looked for help from his committee. It would be his concern, he said, during the coming year to give to the College and the Union something of what he had received from them. In fact all Old Boys had received so much from Riverview that the letters O.I.U. might well be changed to I.O.U. to remind all past pupils of their debt to the school.

His first duty as President was to propose to the Meeting a change to the Constitution of the Union. The purpose of the change was to give the younger Old Boys a wider chance to participate in the running of the Union and to make their voices heard at the General Committee Meetings.

The following change was proposed and, with one slight amendment proposed by Chris Gunson that Clause 26(dd) (i) (a) should be changed to read:

One from School leavers who left between 1959-64, was carried unanimously.

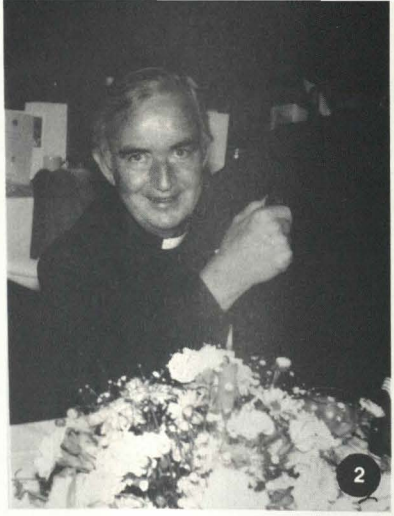

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION

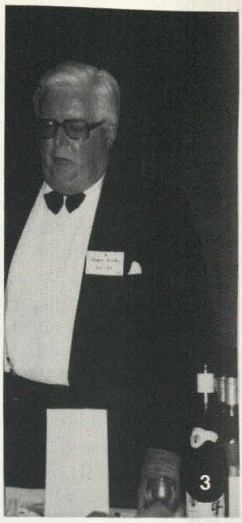

After Clause 26(c) insert the following:-

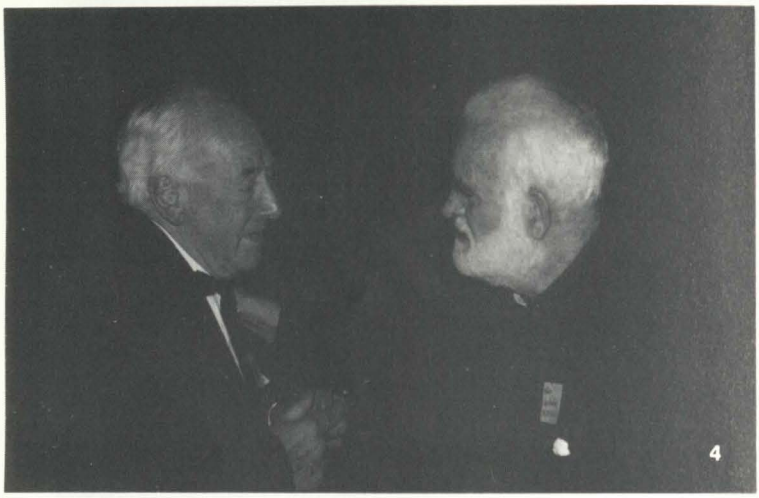

Clause 26(dd):

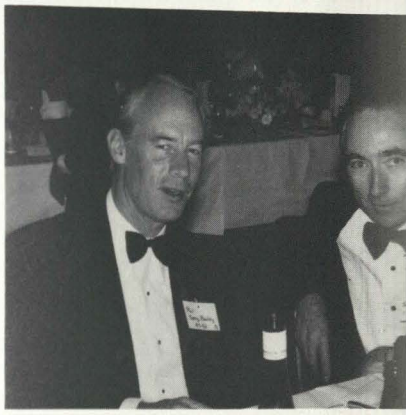

(i) In the case of the eighteen (18) Committee members, they shall be elected from the following groups of members in the following numbers:-
  (a) One from School leavers who left between 1960-64.
  (b) One from School leavers who left between 1965-69.
  (c) One from School leavers who left between 1970-74.

Xavier Dinner.

1. Jim Keighery.
2. Fr. Bill Daniel, S.J.
3. Roger Kirby.
4. Frank Parle & Fr. Lou Lachal, S.J.
5. Phil Spry-Bailey & John Henderson.
6. Mr. David Ryan, S.J. & Fr. Joe Dooley, S.J.
7. Ned Theodore, Br. V. Higgs, S.J., Jim Babbage, Br. Peter Brady, S.J.

(d) One from School leavers who left between 1975-79.
(f) Thirteen from School leavers of any year, including the years 1960-84 above.

(ii) If there be one nomination only for any group in (a)-(e) above, that member shall be automatically elected without any further election.

(iii) (a) If there be no nominations for any group in (a)-(e) above, then oral nominations shall be called for at the Annual General Meeting for any such group provided that in the event of a person orally nominated being absent assurance shall be given by his nominator that the nominee is prepared to accept the office if elected.

(b) If there be no oral nomination for any one or more of such groups then the number, i.e. thirteen (13) in subclause (i) (f) above shall be increased by one or more accordingly.

(iv) If there be more than one nomination for any group, then no further nominations shall be called for at the Annual General Meeting for that group, but an election shall be held forthwith to elect the member from those already nominated for that group. The unsuccessful nominees shall be eligible for election under subclause (i) (f).

(v) The above subclauses (i)-(iv) shall come into operation at the Annual General Meeting in 1982.

(vi) Commencing in 1985, subclause (i) (a) shall be amended by deleting "1960-64" and substituting "1985-89".

(vii) Thereafter commencing in 1980 and every five (5) years thereafter, each succeeding group in subclause (i) above shall be deleted and there shall be substituted a group of twenty-five (25) years later, and so on ad infinitum, and subclause (i) shall be amended accordingly.

During General Business David de Carvalho made an appeal for further support for the Old Boys Bursary. In order to support the Headmaster's policy of keeping the school fees open to a wide range of incomes he asked all members of the Union to keep their donations to the bursary coming in.

He also spoke of the loss the Union had sustained by the deaths of Max Glasheen and Tom Crowley, both of whom had been among its Life Vice-Presidents.

Finally Bob Barry complimented Fr Charles Fraser on his golden jubilee as a Jesuit and presented him with a travelling Mass kit for use on his trips to the country. In reply Fr Fraser thanked Bob for his kind words and the Union for their gift but said that all one had to do to achieve the distinction that was his was to keep breathing for long enough and the event must occur.

After the meeting the members gathered again downstairs in the club for the usual refreshments.

Melbourne Reunion, March 27th

The first of our reunion dinners for the year was held a Xavier College, Melbourne, in the main Dining Hall — beautifully decorated and set up for the occasion — and catered for by Nationwide in a truly memorable fashion. Old Boy Barry Doneley, in charge of Nationwide down there, was out to let us see just what they could do down south and succeeded admirably.

To Tony Macken and his committee — Alan Jones, Jim Keighery, Tony d'Apice, Barry Thornton, Roger Kirby, Wally Edwards and Jim Babbage — our congratulations and thanks for a wonderful evening. Alan Jones, who left Riverview in 1938 obviously has not wasted those intervening years. His selection of wines for the evening made Len Evans look like an amateur.

The speeches, in particular the Chairman's and Roger Kirby's were brilliant — there is no other word. The gathering — nearly 60 — were unanimous in their praise. Adding to the overall joy of the evening was the presence of many well known members of previous Riverview communities — such as Fathers Frank Wallace, Chris Dureau, Austin Ryan, Barry Leonard, Lou Lachal, Bill Brown, Julian Slatterie, John Cowburn, Matt Keaney, Dan McLoghlin, Joe Dooley, Chris Gleeson and Brothers Vic Higgs, Peter Brady and Sean Carr. It was good to see them all and talk to them once more. All in all — one of the best dinners anywhere — for many a year.

The Mass in the beautiful Xavier chapel next morning was concelebrated and well attended. The barbecue luncheon in the quadrangle was of the same high standard of organisation and was enhanced by the presence of wives and families who added their own charm to the occasion and left us without a doubt in voting the entire weekend a winner.

Well done Melbourne!

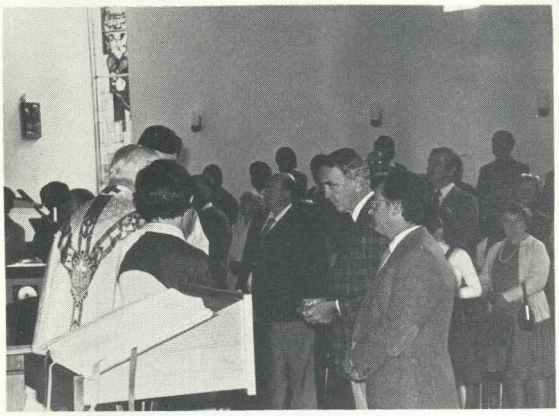

Gold Cup Barbecue

A fitting day for the Centenary of the Riverview Rowing Club, since both weather and crowd were highly satisfactory.

Bob Barry and his boys were down at the wharf almost at crack of dawn and worked down there until well after the last race.

In spite of a shortage of labour the day was a sell-out; the last sausage sandwich was sold at 3.45 and everything was cleaned up and stowed away by 5.30 p.m. Our nett profit for the day, paid to the Rowing Club was $709.35 — our best effort to date.

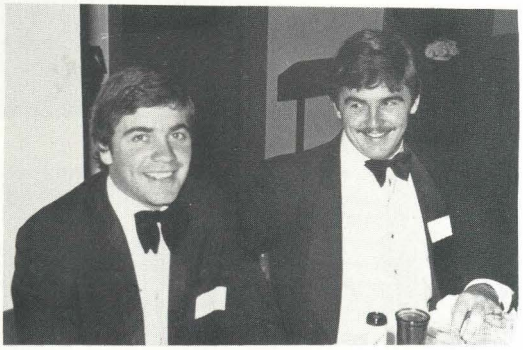

Our sincere thanks go to the wife of our President, Mrs Lesley Lewis, who was a tireless worker from start to finish; to Ned Theodore who managed the cash register all day, and sold O.I.U. and Rowing Club ties in his few, very few spare moments; to Paul Lewis who did a sterling job buttering bread until he decided to go for a boat ride!, to Brian Nowland who dispensed our fare to the hungry hordes and kept his cool the whole time, to Bob Barry who like a bland, benign Jupiter surveyed the whole scene and kept all departments moving, to Adrian Miller, who worked untiringly behind the back canvass and to his two wonderful helpers, Nick and Adam who were there at 10.00 a.m. and did not leave until the last dreg was drunk.

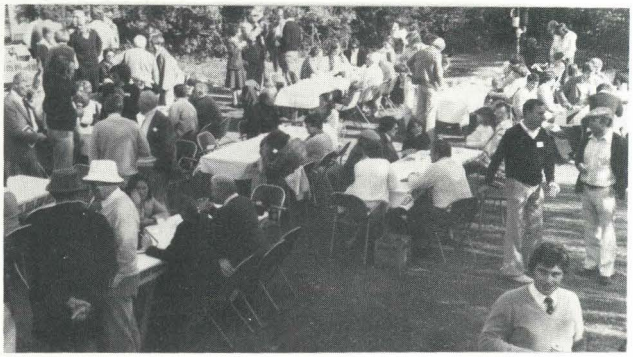

Canberra Mass, Dinner & Barbecue.

All in all a marvellously happy and successful day — but our recommendation to the incoming committee is "Roster them on" because obviously you cannot rely on volunteers!

Canberra Reunion, May 8th

The Twenty Fifth Annual Reunion dinner of the O.I.U., at Canberra was a resounding success.

A new approach to the organisation of the function resulted in a big increase in numbers, and it was quite clear that the greybeards were easily surpassed by the young and sprightly.

It was a triumph for the young trio, Peter Long, Peter Gorman and Peter Crowe, who with the confidence of their youth and their enthusiastic drive overcame the head-shakings of their elders and, formidable organisers that they proved to be, were responsible for a rash of records, in this the Silver Anniversary Dinner; a record in numbers, in lowness of cost, in excellence of menu, in the grace they paid to the older members of the Union and they deserve top marks for a top job.

The dinner was held at the Race Club — and for once the Sydney visitors had no trouble in finding their way home after the function! Flag No. 1 for the young organisers. Peter Long presided at the dinner and with the aplomb of a past master welcomed all guests and kept the evening moving. He had Ian McKillop toast the school and Neville Gorman the Union. The Headmaster and Paul Lewis, the President replied. The latter expressed his great pleasure at the large number of young Old Boys, it was a sign of the vitality of the Union. The young Old Boys should out number, he said, the old and he was pleased that in Canberra they had accepted the challenge and given a lead to other centres.

The Mass was, as usual, at the Dominican Convent where Edward Theodore, fresh on his return from Rome and his degree as Maestro of Music, accompanied the concelebrated Mass with some magnificent organ music.

The barbecue was at the Jesuit house in Empire Circuit. It was there that we heard the sad news of the death during the night of Fr Charles McDonald, a blow to all of us which marred the happy day.

Murray Crowe, Neville Gorman and Ian McKillop, all past Area Presidents, were bemoaning the fact that through no fault of their own they had all missed one dinner of the twenty five. Twenty four out of twenty five is in our opinion a pretty good tally and we offer them the Union's congratulations.

All the Sydney contingent enjoyed the day so much that they were a little late in leaving. A select few attempted to make up the lost time, much to the delight of the 'Radar' boys. They know now how the points system works!

All in all a memorable weekend, and again our congratulations to the three Peters. They have set a high standard for next year, but if we know Chris Darmody, next Year's President, he will be working with all stops out just to show them what can be done. We wish him well!

Wagga Reunion, May 22nd

J. P. Ryan was the convenor and host for this year's Wagga Reunion, and in his usual cheerful way he had it organised down to the last detail. It is true he had Farmey Joseph as his eminence grise on the phone to him at least "three times a day" to keep a check on his progress, but J. P. is unflapable, besides he had the help of Vince Lenehan who rounded up a sizable squad of younger members and acted as an accomplished M.C. in introducing all the visitors at the dinner.

One of the highlights of the weekend was the concurrent event of the Wagga Picnic Races, seemingly attended by O.I.U. members and potential or future members from near and far. J. P. has his horse win for us, while Harry Hendriks and Lloyd Ryan certainly tried hard with theirs. A great day and an even better warm up for the dinner.

The Riverine Club was again the venue for the dinner, and also provided accommodation for the Sydney group and others from afar, like Dr John Henderson who flew up in his own plane from Geelong. We are indebted to him for the excellent photos of both this dinner and the Melbourne one.

It was good to see Jack Horsley looking fit and spry as ever even after so many years. Jim Stenmark, in spite of recent setbacks, looked as though he could still lead the Green and Gold pack onto the Rugby field. Tony Clark was there to represent 'the city', Fr Chris Gleeson came up from Melbourne to represent the Xavier Community and keep in touch with the old Xavierians of the district who were well represented at the dinner.

The church at Mangoplah was again packed to capacity on the Sunday morning, and John Cox as our host for the barbecue once more excelled himself as he had done as President of the Picnic Race Club.

To sum up — Wagga, as usual, first class.

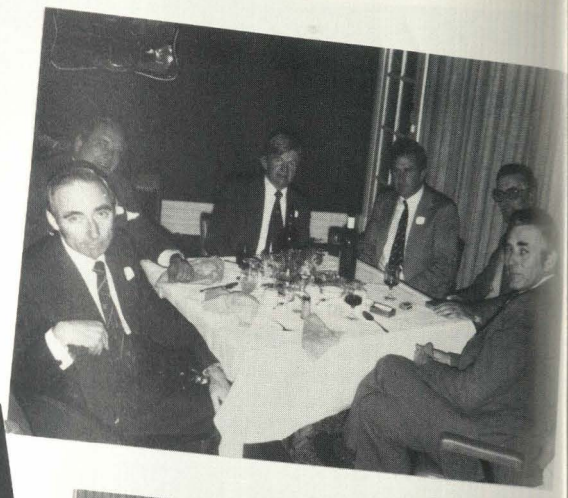

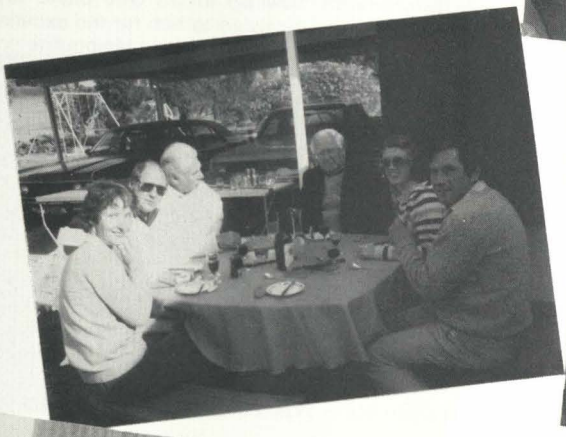

Narromine Reunion, July 10th

This was a "first", but judging by the number present and the expressions of appreciation and approval it certainly will not be the last.

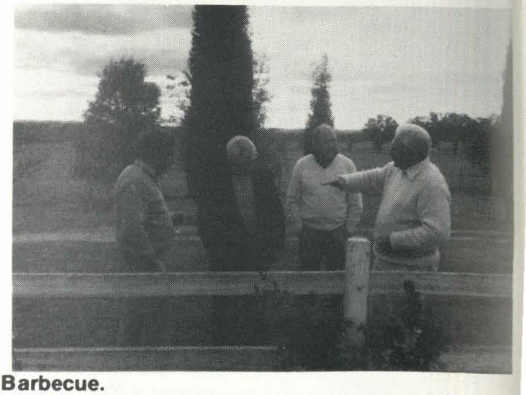

Wally Rae and his tireless, charming wife Dot organised the function, and our praise for the success of their efforts cannot be overstated. Apologies were received from nearly thirty Old Boys, because of their inability to attend, but as it was more than one hundred and thirty men and their wives sat down to an excellent dinner in R.S.L. Club and nearly three hundred O.R.S. and their families attended the barbecue in brilliant sunshine and festive mood, a record, even for some of our well established and larger areas.

Jock McCardell was M.C. for the dinner, which was highlighted by a brilliant speech by our new Headmaster Fr Greg O'Kelly, S.J., for which he was given a standing ovation. Our Area President and host for the dinner was in fine form as with his humour and unique narrative style he reminisced about his days at school, recalling in great detail incidents about many of the masters and his own contemporaries, especially Fr Mac Brother O'Brien and 'Bluey' Wren. Both the motels and hotels had nearly their full quota of guests. Most of the Sydney party were comfortably lodged in the new Stockman motel. The service was excellent, even down to the shoe-cleaning! As Adrian Miller remarked "Unusual in this day and age."

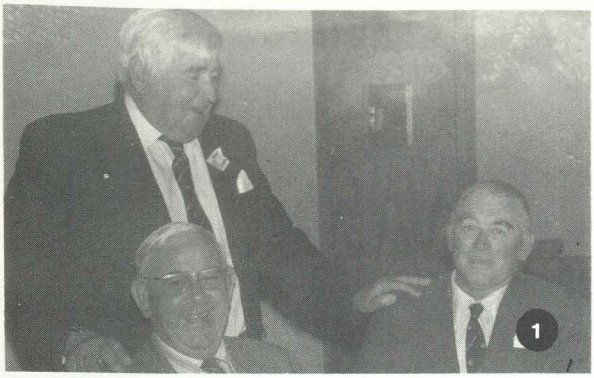

Mass next morning was concelebrated in the Narromine church which was packed to the back door.

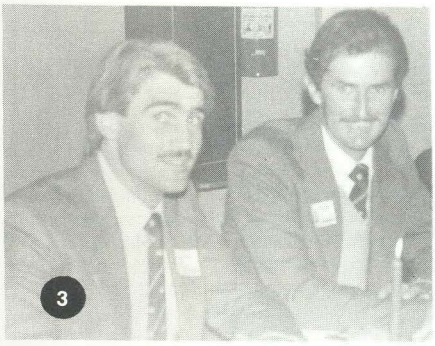

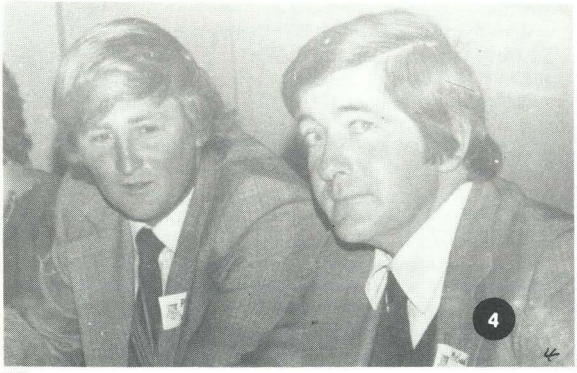

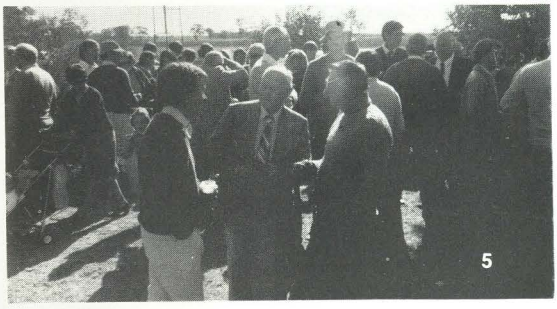

Wagga Dinner and Barbecue.

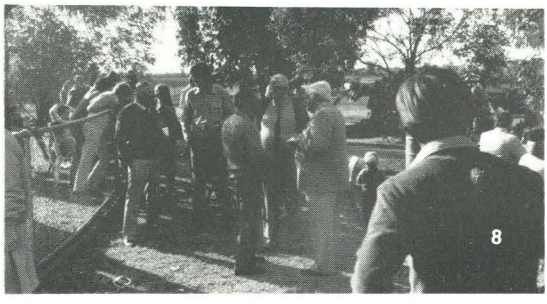

Narromine Dinner and Barbecue.

1. John Quigley, George Cannon and David Egan.
2. Kevin Mitchell and Geoff Ward.
3. Jock McCardell (The M.C.) and Mark McConochie.
4. Phil Keen and Michael Cannon.
5. Michael Kenny, Pat Veech and Gerald Dempsey.
6. Tom Noonan and Mick Leonard.
7. John Renshaw, Ian McKay, Tony Fisher, Ritchie McKay and son
8. Gerald Dempsey, John Downey and George Cannon.

After Mass there was a general exodus out to Wally's property 'Raeburn' where amidst a delightful garden setting a barbecue luncheon was served.

Perhaps the most frequent comment on the week-end was how many Old Boys of all ages were there. George Cannon from Hay, Bob Farrell from Temora, Paul Lamerand from Bollon, Queensland, Don Leievre from Louth, The Mackays, Brennans and O'Briens from Warren, John Downey and Mick Ford from Condolin, and of course those veterans from Trangie and Nevertire Jock Quigley and Jack Noonan. A wonderful roll up and a most memorable weekend. One that will not be forgotten. Again our congratulations and thanks to Wally and Dot. Well done.

Annual Dinner at the School. July 30th

The Annual Dinner at Riverview, dislodged from its traditional spot in the calender, the last Friday of the May holidays, was held this year on the eve of the feast of St. Ignatius.

It seemed almost to organise itself, except when, at the last moment, when it seemed that it would pass unnoticed with only a few of the more enthusiastic to entertain themselves, David de Carvalho, always brimful of energy, called together a number of the Committee in his office, where they had a very busy evening on the telephones. The result was a little short of miraculous. At 3.30 on the afternoon of the dinner there were one hundred and thirty three acceptances, by 5.00 p.m. the number had risen to two hundred. There were some very hurried rearrangements of the seating in the Memorial Hall, and it says a great deal for the efficiency and co-operation of the Nationwide Staff that we were all able to sit down for an excellent and most enjoyable dinner.

We began the evening at 6.00 with a con-celebrated Eucharist which was well attended. Then we gathered for pre-prandials in the parlour, where the rather confined space made for even more chumminess than is usual on these occasions. One of the most pleasing aspects of this dinner, and the same has been true, of the country reunions, was the large number of young Old Boys present. Such support speaks well for the future of the Union. It was also pleasing to note the good sprinkling of those who are seldom seen at these functions.

The Guest of Honour was our provincial, Fr. Paul Duffy, S.J. Both he and the Headmaster, Fr. Greg O'Kelly, S.J. spoke, the latter on the aims of Jesuit Education and the ideals of Riverview, the former on the recent meeting of all the Jesuit provincials with Fr. Dezza, S.J., the Delegate appointed by Pope John Paul II to rule the Society during the illness of the Fr. General. He did much to dispel the rumours that have been current in the secular media and spoke in some detail of the work for the Church that is expected of all Jesuits and their alumni.

Both speeches were well received and rounded off a successful evening.

O I U Retreat - A Perfect Day in Nazarea

'what do you want?' 'Where do you live?' 'Who do you say that I am?' These questions taken from the gospel stories of the meeting between Jesus and the disciples of John the Baptist and the discussion between Jesus and Peter led us at this year's O I U Retreat to a consideration of our aim and role on the life road (with particular reference to our position as followers of Ignatius) and the identity of Jesus to us and our relationship with Him. This consideration was joined to an examination of prayer - the vital necessity in our busy lives, of prayer, the attainment of true inner silence and methods of praying. In the Mass at the end of the day, the Retreat Master, Fr. O'Kelly brought together in a moving way the themes and thoughts of the Retreat.

In this Mass Fr. O'Kelly read from Chapter 4 of Luke's gospel beginning with 'Then Jesus went to Nazarea, where he had been brought up....' and pointed out that Riverview was our 'Nazarea' where we had been brought up.

It was a perfect day in Nazarea - peaceful in clean unbroken winter sun - rewarding, challenging, and spiritually uplifting.

Our thanks to Fr. O'Kelly and to the 64 Old Boys and fathers of View boys who attended.

Moree Reunion. August 21st.

Michael 'Matt' Dillon invited us to attend the Moree Reunion and we are glad he did; not only because we all had such a good time but because we were able to say hello to so many other Old Boys whom we had not seen for so long.

The Moree Club was the meeting place and Old Boys came from near and far. John Kirkpatrick from Mugindi, Ron Neville from New Guinea, Paul Lamerand from Queensland, John Stevens from Grafton, Jim Fahey from Walgett. There were, of course, Dillons, Fitzgeralds, and Sheltons in plenty; and there were new faces that we had not seen for years, notably Terry Cunich, Tony Donelan, and Alan and Bain Jones. The large group from Sydney had to keep on increasing the size of their chartered plane, and even then some of us had to go by car.

There was a fine response of sixty eight at the dinner, and some excellent speeches including that of Fr. Greg O'Kelly who stirred us all with his call to arms around the Independent Schools' banner.

Notable among the apologies received were those of Ken Dillon, Matt's father, who unfortunately was in hospital and Tom Drury - the convenor of our first Moree dinner - who had just left hospital. Cam Tully could not make it this year and we missed him and Beth, especially his singing in the church next morning! However, a car-load from Manilla more than compensated, if not in melody, certainly in volume. They told us they were practising for next year when the Reunion will be held in Manilla.

Peter Kearney, Skippy Baldwin and John Williams will be co-hosts. It should be a great show and as a 'first' deserves all our support.

All in all a great get-together - typical of the warmth and hospitality we have come to expect from Moree.

Well done Matt and committee.

Orange Reunion. September 12th

It was a matter for regret that Brian Duck, the Area Vice-President could not be with us for the dinner which he has organised so painstakingly. However, he left the final arrangements in the capable hands of Robert Bruce, Bob Maclurcan, John Tancred and Tom Sloane. They filled the gap quite capably and we all enjoyed the evening.

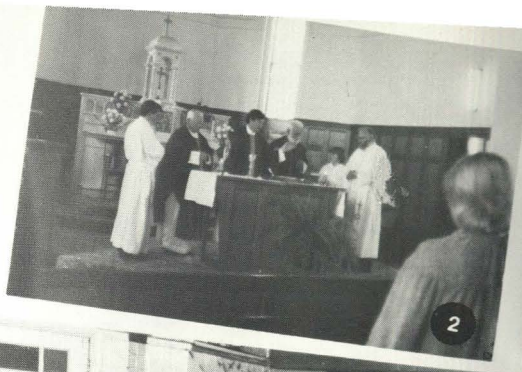

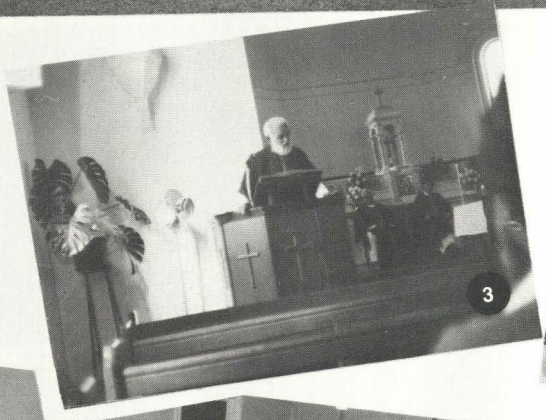

Annual Dinner at School.

1. Tony Anderson, Richard Mort, Chris Gower, Simon Batson.
2. Campbell Bridge, Paul Fleming, Denis Leahy.
3. Luke Keighery, Tim Mason, Robert Hartman.

2. Danny de Carvalho, Brendan Scorer.
3. Lance Hogg & Tony Liggins.
4. John Wilcox & Michael Morgan.
5. David O'Dell & John Deppe.
6. Steve Weeks & Mitchell Chapman.

About forty Old Boys sat down to dinner in the Tiara Restaurant where we dined sumptuously on venison, pheasant and other rarities with wines to match them.

Robert Bruce, in the chair, welcomed us all and made special mention of our guests, Fr. Garry McKeon, parish priest of St. Mary's and Mr. Alan Anderson, headmaster of Kinross College. He said he had received forty five apologies, but would not read them out. It was obvious, however that the drought had prevented many from being present.

John Tancred and that doyen of the Orange Reunion, Brian Dalton proposed the toasts to the College and the Union to which the Headmaster and the President replied suitably.

Next morning we all met again for Mass at St. Joseph's parish church, where we were proud to see — it was the usual parish Sunday Mass — that all the readers, collectors and acolytes were old Riverview Boys. After Mass we moved out along the Molong Road to "Adair", the property of Robert and David Bruce who were to be our hosts for the day. They had been at work from early morning and two young lambs were turning on spits and looking most appetising. Again there was a good representation of the Union. Tony and Patricia Bolger from Young, Geoff Delaney from Cowra, Brian Veech from Wellington, John Larkins and a good crowd from Sydney.

The weather was balmy, the setting, by the side of the small creek under sheltering gums, was perfect, and all did justice to the lamb and the salads and other delicious foods that Mrs. Bruce and the other ladies had spent long hours in preparing. We deeply appreciate all they did.

Some of the Sydney contingent who had seen most of the Blue Mountains on the way out and visited more than one motel in Orange faced the return trip with some trepidation and left early in the hope (which was realised) of getting home before midnight.

Congratulations Brian and Robert and Committee. A most entertaining exercise.

Newcastle Reunion. October 9th

The weather, unfortunately was miserable, but the reunion was excellent. A large crowd from Sydney - about sixteen - braved the elements, and Taree, also, fielded a team. The Sydney group was led by the President, Paul Lewis and his charming wife Lesley, with them were Ned and Edward Theodore, Eddie "Isn't he thin" Heaton, Phil De Baun, and President Elect Bill Russell. Bob Barry maintained law and order at the motel - ably assisted by Kevin Lohan, who was deputising for the Headmaster. Fr. Geoff James and Brother Doran enjoyed themselves immensely chatting to all and sundry and meeting such infamous characters as Tony Liggins, Lance Hogg, Noel Morgan, John Deppe, Max Mantach, Knox Greenaway, Brad and Steve Weeks, and David O'Dell who spoke eloquently on the Jesuits and the college.

For Ted Hall, the Area Vice-President, this was his swan song, and in his own inimitable fashion, he kept things moving. Congratulations, Ted, on a job well done. A great night with the food, service and surroundings of the Newcastle Club surpassing all that we have previously enjoyed.

Sunday, though overcast, remained dry and once again that wonderful, hospitable and warm hearted pair, Les and Vi Weeks, opened their doors at Valentine, on Lake Macquarie. We had a most pleasant surprise when we arrived to find the house completely rebuilt, tastefully decorated and one of the show places of the lake.

A memorable barbeque, cooked by President Ted Hall and his offsider Richard Hayes, with of course the now famous salads and sweets prepared by the Newcastle wives, with Peg Morgan trying out some of her new oriental recipes! Newcastle has a large and active group of young Old Boys and it was good news to hear that one of their number, Brad Weeks, is to take over from Ted Hall and organise next year's reunion as the Newcastle Area Vice-President. Congratulations Brad! We're looking forward to that one already!

DAVID AARON (56-59) has moved and now lives at Wahroonga. He has been down to the school several times through the year.

GRAEME (59-64) is in general practice at Blacktown, but lives at Pymble. MICHAEL (60-66) is Arts Co-ordinator at the University of N.S.W. LUKE (66-73) is an accountant with Johnson & Johnson. MARK (66-73) runs Marc's menswear shop at Chatswood and is building a healthy discriminating clientele. He keeps fit by running in the City to Surf. MATT (70-75) has gone across to Europe to see how the other half live. We congratulate Mark on his marriage in July this year and wish the happy couple every blessing.

DICK KEIGHERY (48-55) lives at Hunters Hill. His son is with us in year 7. The family has sold interest in Aquila Steel and never one to waste opportunities Dick has business interests in Brisbane. He was with us at the Blue and White Ball and has been very helpful in preparing these notes. We don't know what JIM (43-49) is doing now, but he is in Melbourne and one of Tony Macken's right hand men.

PETER KEITH (66-69) is on the land at 'Wilga Park', Evans Plains, just out of Bathurst on the Cowra Road.

ERNIE KELLY (44-49) is a dentist with his practice in Canberra, where we always meet him at the Reunion.

HEDLEY KELLY (28-35) is an accountant with 2SM. He plays golf when he gets the chance: even going as far as the U.S.A. to do so. JOHN (60-64) has a taxi cab service on the North Shore.

JOHN L. KELLY (59-61) is with the Arabian Bechtel Co. at Jubail near the Red Sea, and will be there for a good few years. He is an engineer working on a 40 million dollar project.

JOHN KELLY (27-34) owns and runs the well known racehorse stud 'Newhaven Park' at Boorowa. JOHN (60-64) works with his father, and RICHARD (57-61) who is on 'Ballymena' near Bowning and has a son in the Junior school. FRED (55-59) is on 'Redhill' in the same district.

KEVIN KELLY (17-22) now lives in McLaren St. North Sydney, has retired and enjoys moving about the district he knew so well as a boy.

TED KENNEDY (35-40) is on the land at 'Kensington', Coonamble, where his sons MICHAEL (63-66) and TOM (65-71) are with him.

DR. JOHN KENNEDY (41-42) is in general practice at Marrickville. DR. JOHN Jnr. (68-73) is at Liverpool Hospital. MARK (68-74) is an industrial engineer at work with Colgate-Palmolive. PETER (73-78) is with Grace Bros., in their computer Dept.

MICHAEL KENNY (70-75) is back at home on the family property 'Brooklyne' Mendooran after his trip last year overseas. DAVID (74-76) held the fort while he was away, but managed time off for the Narromine Reunion.

MICHAEL KEVIN (60-65) is a dentist at work in Canberra.

TONY KEVIN (56-59) is with the Dept. of External Affairs, but whether at home or overseas just now we do not know.

FR. JUSTIN KING, S.J. (46-54) was moved this year from Brisbane and is now at work in St. Thomas More School in Adelaide.

RICHARD KING(39-42) has moved camp and is no longer on the land at Bingara, but at 'Morley Downs', Timor, via Murrurundi. We wish him good seasons. CHRIS (75-80) whose cheery presence we miss, is with his father MICHAEL (65-69) is down here, lives at Double Bay and is at the Sydney Tech. doing Mechanical Engineering.

ROGER KIRBY (30-33) is a barrister in Melbourne, is one of Tony Macken's right hand men and brought down the house with his witty speech at our Reunion this year.

JOHN KIRKPATRICK (40-47) is on the land at 'Cleveland', Mungindi, and made the trip down to Moree for the Reunion.

DAVID KNIGHT (40-47) has an air taxi service at Coonabarabran and has many other interests in the district. He and his son GEOFF (71-77) who works with his father were both present at the Coonamble Reunion. TIM (60-65) is on the land at 'Tannabah West', Warkton. It is some time since we have seen him, but we live in hope.

DR. PETER KNIGHT (59-65) is in practice with a group of other doctors, among them Dr. Michael Lennon in Wagga. MICHAEL (59-63) is also in Wagga with family firm of butchers.

GEOFF KNIGHT (58-60) is right out West at Cobar with the Crown Lands Department.

DR. PAUL KOENIG (63-69) is in general practice at Lindfield, we congratulate him on his marriage this year. CHRIS(61-66) we have not heard of for some years

ANDREW LESLIE (48-50) is a stock broker with Potter & Partners in Canberra.

JIM L'ESTRANGE (38) is the school's medical officer and does a magnificent job for the whole school, both boys and staff. A model of unselfish service to others, if ever there was one.

TIM L'ESTRANGE (69-74) is Associate to Mr. Justice Lochyart in the Federal Court of Australia. Our sympathy goes out to his family on the death of father VIN (38-40) this year.

FRANK LETHBRIDGE (26-34) is a solicitor in Corowa.

RICHARD LETTERS (57-62) seems to have settled permanently in England. He practises as a solicitor in London. For all that he keeps in close touch with Riverview and paid us a flying visit this year.

NOEL LEWIS (40-45) is still at work in Mittagong. He has paid us several welcome visits this year and had to be torn away from the Annual Dinner. DR. PAUL (45-51) has more irons in the fire than he puts drills and probes in your mouth. As President of the Union he has had a great year and done a great deal for the Old Boys and the School. He has a great knowledge of country roads, and an even better one of country motels. TONY (75-80) took off in the middle of the year to the States to learn about the making and marketing of gramaphone records. PAUL (75-80) is doing Economics at Sydney University. He did a magnificent job for the Union on the Back to Riverview Day and despite a collision with some boiling fat carried on valiantly until the last sausage had been consumed. DR. JOHN (50-55) practises as a psychiatrist in the U.S.A.

FR. LANGLOIS LEWIS, S.J. (26-29) after years on a very difficult mission in Rhodesia is now Minister of the Regional Seminary in Salisbury. FR. PAT (26-29) is a Bursar at St. George's Boarding College, Causeway, Rhodesia. They are both members of the English Province of the Society.

NEWMAN (67-72) is an accountant with Sullivan's Holdings at Alexandria. CHRIS (73-78) is at the N.S.W. Institute of Technology studying for the degree Bachelor of Business.

KEVIN MANN (50-54) is a chemist in Young, has two sons with us and is doing magnificent work as President of Lambing Flat Enterprises, a project to care for the need of the Handicapped People of the South-West. We wish him every success, and wish there were more like him. ALLAN (56-61) is an investment adviser with Clinton Jones & Co. TOM (58-62) and JOHN (63-68) are importers with different private companies. We congratulate John on his marriage this year and wish him and his bride every blessing.

MAX MANTACH (43-50) is one of the senior partners in Moroney, Rutter & Mantach, solicitors in Newcastle. He is a dedicated golfer, and just as keen on the O.I.U. never misses the Reunion up there.

TONY MARKHAM (32-37) is a solicitor in practice at Liverpool. To our regret we have lost contact with his two sons BILL (67-70) and DAVID (69-71).

DES MARONEY (40-42) is on the land at 'Lower Coolegong', Young. He always plays an active part in the O.I.U. Reunion in that district.

CHRIS MARR (61-69) works for the pharmaceutical and agricultural organisation Roche Maag. He lives in Brisbane, enjoys its sun and keeps fit with surfing, squash, and public speaking. JON (63-69) is on the land somewhere in the same State.

PETER MARSHALL (47-53) is a chemist at St. Ives, as happy as ever. He coaches some of our middle grade football teams, and, as to be expected, does a good job. CHRIS (73-79) after a stint on the land down in the harsh South West, is now back in the city working with a travel agency. MICHAEL (75-80) who left us at the end of 1980 is doing nursing.

GRAHAM MARTIN (61-65) is a solicitor in the city.

PHIL (65-70) after some time with the Customs Dept. took time off for the U.K. and Europe and is footloose somewhere over there.

BRIAN MARTIN (69-70) is with Computer Accounting Services, and for his sins they sent him to Melbourne as Manager of their Computer Bureau.

TIM MARTIN (62-65) is with an insurance company in Yass.

TIM MASON (64-67) is the brains and driving force behind Riviera, though there are others who sit in Director's Chairs. He has three young sons, already frequent visitors to the school who will soon be here as students.

MICK MASON (55-60) with his brothers NICK (57-62) and PAUL (65-70) are all on the land at Spicers Creek, just out of Wellington. We usually see them at the Western Reunion.

The celebration of Mass in the Chapel by Father Quin, S.J. preceded the Annual General Meeting in the Theatrette, bringing to a close the activities of the committee for 1981. Father Quin thanked the outgoing President, Mrs. Judy Regan and expressed his regret at leaving Riverview after 8 years at the College, saying "there was not a place in the school untouched by the committee's hard work and money". He welcomed the new President, Mrs. Noeline Oldfield and her Committee and wished them a successful year. He also welcomed Father O'Kelly from Adelaide as the new Headmaster "an academic with a sense of humour".

Due to inclement weather the annual cocktail party in the rose garden was once again held in the Memorial Hall. Father O'Kelly and our President circulated amongst the parents and a special warm welcome was given to the newest members of our Riverview family.

A welcome to new mothers was held in the Parlour by the committee where Father O'Kelly addressed us. He asked us to establish class representatives as a means of closer contact with all the parents. He sees the committee as a "community support group not just a fund raising group".

Dr. and Mrs. Oldfield held an evening at their home on the 28th February to enable the committee members and their husbands to get to know each other before the start of the year. All voted it a great success.

Our first function for the year was held at the elegant Holme Building at Sydney University and a great time was had by all who attended.

In this the Centenary Year of the Riverview Rowing Club our ladies once again fed the multitudes and official guests at Cova Cottage.

Our class morning teas ably organized by Betty Coulthurst have done much to increase the Riverview family spirit. Due to demand by our ever increasing working mothers some of the morning teas were transposed to the evenings with Dads included, a change which proved very popular.

At a very moving Anzac Day Mass we remembered our fallen dead who were indeed "Men for others" in the true Jesuit spirit. Then in Holy Week we paused for spiritual renewal at our "Mothers Day of Recollection".

Due to the generosity of one of our parents we had theatre parties to "Barnum" and "Oaklahoma" which were both financial and social successes.

The ever popular card and tennis day was once again so successful there was a request for a repeat day.

We were much saddened by the sudden death of Father Charles McDonald, S.J. on the 9th May. We were gratified to see so many of his friends and ex-students at his Requiem, a token of their esteem for him.

The Art & Craft Show for 1982 combined with the Old Boys Blue & White Ball made a great back to Riverview weekend and another social and financial success. A fascinating collection of Art and Craft convened by our hard working unflappable Patti Connolly and Margaret Reede was beautifully presented in our enlarged hall. Ten days of concentrated work by the committee with the willing co-operation of husbands, teachers, office staff, boys, parents and Nationwide made the Art Show a rewarding experience. Opened by Katrina Lee and Harry Potter and under the overall direction of our President we improved our profit on previous years in spite of a difficult economic climate. A special vote of thanks is due to our Treasurer and Assistant, Stephanie Cooper and Sue Dominguez who with their hard working husbands answered the call of duty "beyond and above the call".

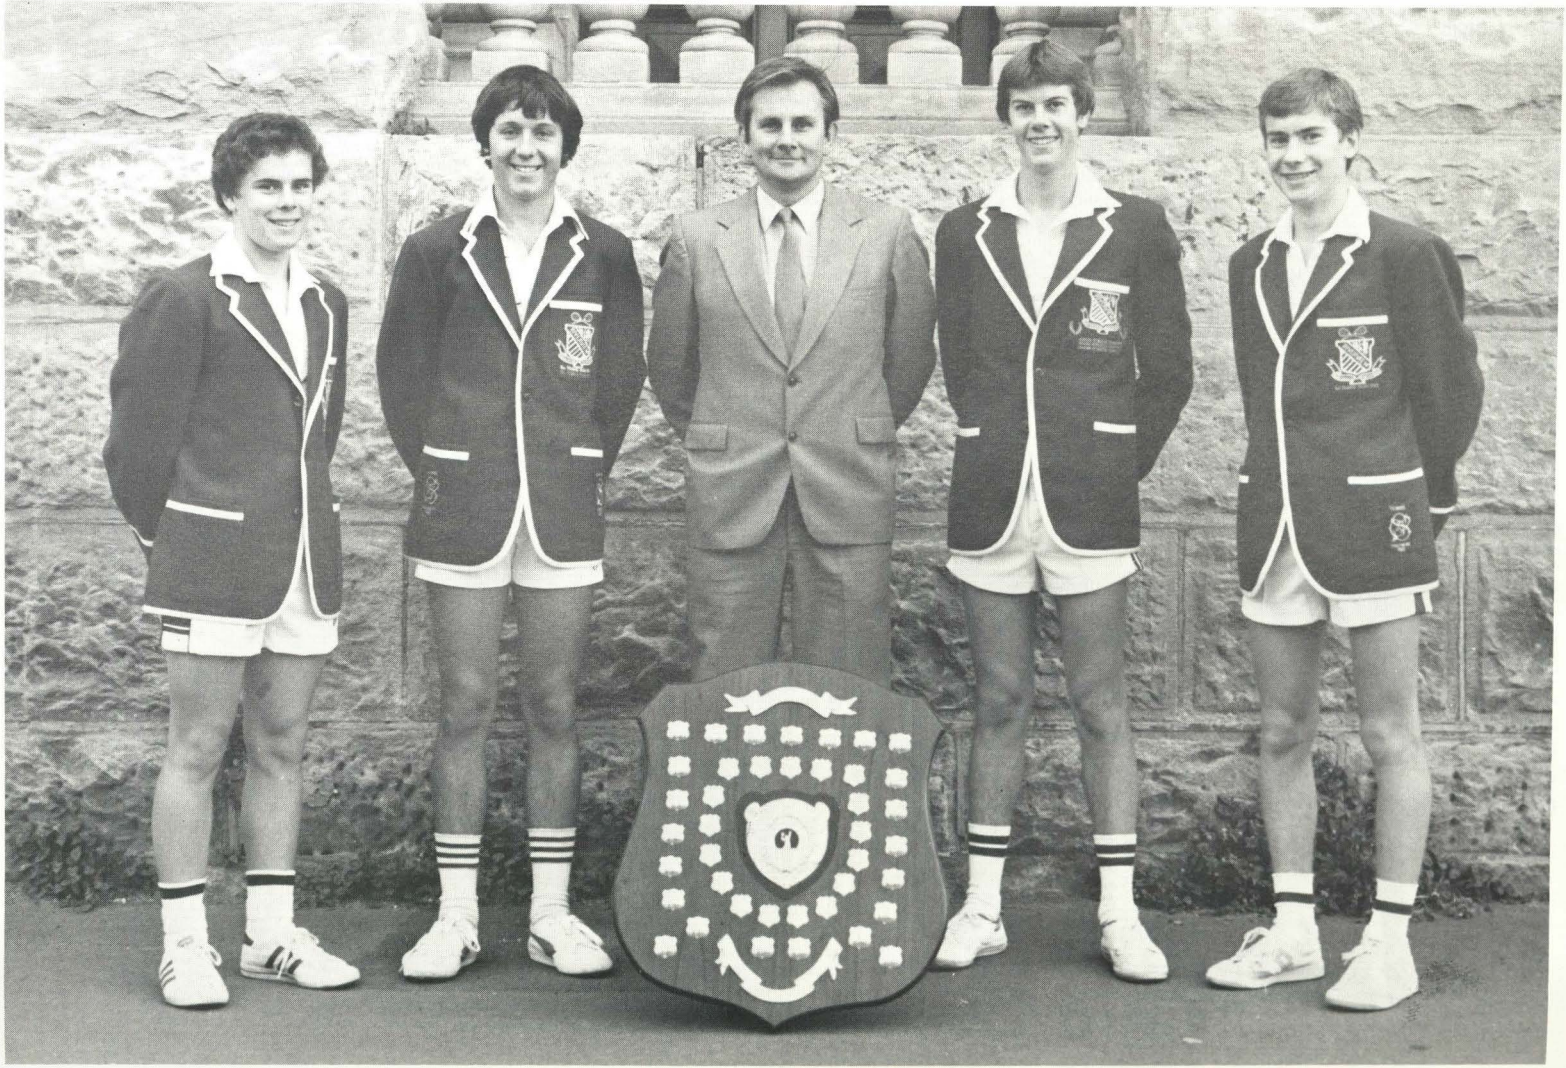

Our Parade and Luncheon at the beautiful "Grange" at Waitara brought a full house of View mothers and friends. Our own Maureen Delany compered the showing of beautiful garments by Jill Fitzsimons and once again the committee catered for the guests.

Weeks of preparation by many came to fruition on September 18th with the opening of the Indian Bazaar. A cloudless day, a good crowd, many dedicated workers including our View parents once again combined for a record profit.

The function of the committee revolves around the life of the school which involves us doing our bit at such activities as school plays, Opera, Debating, Junior School Bar-B-Q and last but not least the Football Tuck Shop.

Our Valete Dinner is a very special evening for it marks an end and a beginning for our Year 12 boys and parents, the Prize giving, Form Masses, Carols and the final Year social function we still look forward to. Speaking personally I would like to thank all who helped me and there were many, for such a rewarding year. We, the committee, would like to thank all the parents who generously supported us and enabled the year of '82 to be such a success for Riverview.

This year the Firsts had a most successful season. They won the G.P.S. Premiership. It was the first time that Riverview had won since the inception of the competition in 1972, and the win was a most handsome one. The team did not lose a singles or doubles match on the home courts and at the end of the season they had to their credit a fine total of thirty-three matches won out of the thirty nine matches played.

G. Healy played No. 1, M. Benecke No. 2, P. McKeown No. 3 and C. Darin No. 4. The combinations in the doubles were G. Healy and P. McKeown, M. Benecke and C. Darin.

The season began very well with a 6-0 win against Newington. This win earned the team 10 points and placed them at the top of the competition table, a position from which they were never dislodged. The three following matches against Shore, High and St. Josephs were won convincingly and by that stage of the season the team had established a strong lead.

Grammar and Kings were their main opponents and they played both of these teams late in the season. Against Grammar both doubles and singles were closely contested, but Riverview won both of the doubles and two of the four singles matches. Three of the six matches went to three sets and time prevented the completion of two of the singles matches. But the win gave us a score of nine of the ten competition points.

The team now had a clear lead in the competition and there were only two rounds now to be played, but luck almost eluded them against Scots. A win against them was needed to maintain the very strong position we held, and we were quite confident of doing very well; but on the day of the match storm clouds were racing across the heavens and rain poured down. For some time it looked as though there would be no break in the rain, but when at last it stopped there was time enough to complete the match and we defeated Scots 6-0. This win put us ten points ahead of our nearest rivals, Kings, whom we were to play in our final match. Since there was a maximum of ten points a round we were joint premiers before a ball was hit, and needed to win only one of the six matches to be played to be outright premiers, while Kings needed to win 6-0 to draw equal with us to become co-premiers.

Riverview won the first doubles match and this win sealed the premiership for the school. Kings defeated us 4-2, but the final points were altered only slightly because of previous more convincing wins against the other teams of the competition.

G. Healy and P. McKeown won all their doubles matches throughout the season. P. McKeown was undefeated in his singles and M. Benecke and C. Darin lost only one singles match each.

All the team were selected for the Combined G.P.S. teams. G. Healy and M. Benecke were selected for the Firsts, P. McKeown for the Seconds and C. Darin was a Reserve.

Mr. Keith Saines was a dedicated coach. The members of the team congratulate and thank him for all the time and effort he spent with them in such an enjoyable and successful season.

Despite their high expectations the Seconds finished up only third in the competition.

The season began well with a 6-0 victory against Newington. Spirits ran high as the powerful play of No. 1 and No. 2 players blasted their path to victory. No. 3, M. Harvey, played his usual cunning game of "attack and destroy" and No. 4, R. Rathborne outlasted his opponent by his consistency. The doubles pair of P. King and M. Harvey proved to be too good for their opponents, while the other pair, A. Lucchese and R. Rathborne, after a slow start, ended up as an excellent combination.

As the season advanced the team found the competition getting harder, but the enthusiastic drive of the coach, Mr G. Whealing, and his great help on the court with volleying and serving, their match-play had improved immensely by the end of the season.

Against Shore they had a hard time to level the score 3-3. Their heads, though bloodied, were unbowed, and next week they bounced back with a 5-1 victory over High. They were still in the running for the trophy.

However, their first defeat was a painful and costly one. They lost to St. Josephs 2-4. Though their coach and mentor assured them that they could still win the competition, it was not to be.

Against Grammar the best they could do was a hard-fought draw, 3-3.

There were still two matches to be played and if success came their way in both they could have come second in the competition, a place never yet won by Riverview's second team.

They won the match against Scots comfortably, 4-2 and approached the final match against Kings, who were the eventual winners of the competition with a certain confidence. After winning the two doubles matches they were in a good position to clinch the second place in the competition, when the unthinkable happened. They lost all four singles matches!

For all that, it was a most enjoyable and exciting season.

The Thirds and Fourths were both undefeated in all their matches throughout the term. Their enthusiasm and consistency certainly put pressure on the other higher Open teams to produce results.

The best players were: for the Thirds, G. Punch; and for the Fourths, J. O'Dea.

The Fifths, Sixths, Sevenths and Eights all did very well. The Sixths and Eights played throughout the season undefeated. A somewhat changeable line-up for the teams because of absences from some of the higher teams and of boys transferring from one sport to another did nothing to dampen the fine team spirit which existed in all four teams throughout the whole season.

There was great improvement in the play of a number of the boys, especially seen in Heesh and Devine. Debus and Carr are to be commended for their enthusiasm and dedication to practice. The pairs, Mende and Malynicz in the Fifths and Landels and McMenamie in the 6ths, certainly stabilised those two teams, and, couppled with consistent play from McDonald, Morse, Rickard, Rock, Ryan, King, Sideratis and Southon, made for a very competitive and enjoyable season.

Under 16

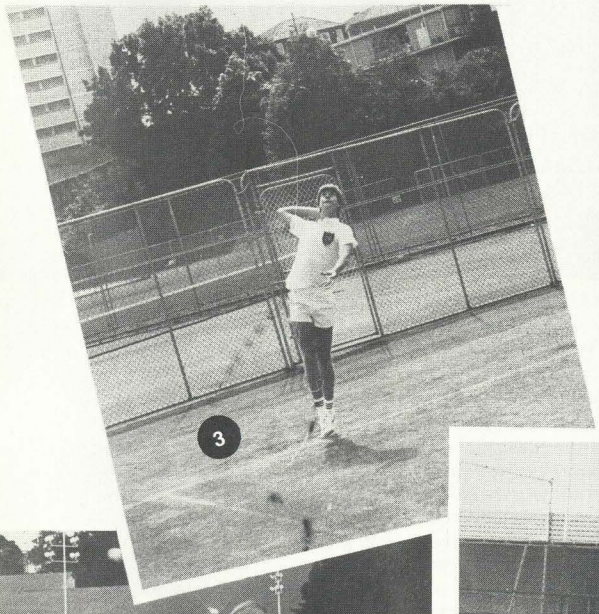

It is probably fair to say that the Under 16 Tennis Squad did not share the glories of Riverview Under 16 teams of the past. Although the standard of tennis proficiency dropped fairly rapidly as one moved from the A and B teams, spirits were high and moral victories frequent.

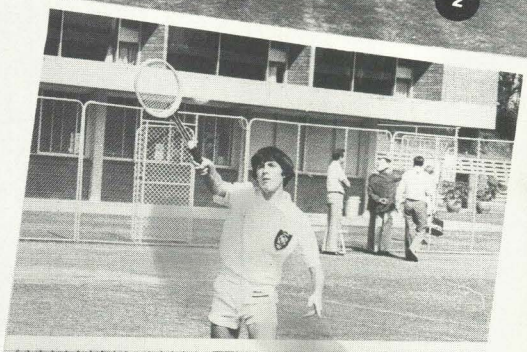

16A

The season began well for the 16A team with a 4 sets to 2 win over Newington. However, following this, an uninterrupted run of losses was broken only by a smashing, but hard-earned 6-0 victory over Scots College on their home courts. Andrew Bridger's classically elegant style coupled with doubles partner, Stephen Shepherd's rural aggressiveness, ensured a strong, consistent opening to each week's matches. They were very ably supported by John O'Rourke, who displayed a rugged strength which belied his size, and the limpet-like tenacity of David Pinn.

16B

Although the 16B team lost every match of the season except the opening round against Newington, they probably displayed the greatest improvement through the season of any of the Under 16 teams. This was particularly exemplified by Captain Mark van Rol, who inspired his team with a keen sense of sportsmanship. His was strongly supported by the aggressive Andrew Hart, who played in the Number 1 position for most of the season. Of the second doubles partners, Paul Liu was noted for his consistent returns and developing style, while Stephen Ryan must be commended on his consistency and regularity.

16C

Although the 16C team only won one match during the season (plus taking one heart-stopping draw against Shore), a strong camaradie existed throughout the season. Captain Sean Rush was a cohesive force in building team spirit, while Denis Kelliher could always be relied upon to impress with his solid vollies on the backhand. David ("Bruce") Booth showed a breathless style during matches, while Andrew Lunn was a constant inspiration to his team-mates with his mature, consistent example.

16D

The 16D team had a more successful season than most of the Under 16 squad by recording two wins. The light-footed Simon McGrath captained the team, and he was strongly supported by the determined, achievement-orientated attitude of Martin Kelly. The second doubles pair consisted of Brendan Kelly, whose sociable style was a joy for spectators to observe, and the dark horse of the team, Andrew Smith.

16E

It would disappoint most teams if they never recorded a victory in the competition, but this did not destroy the happy conviviality which characterised the 16E team. Captain Martin Conlon's jovial, yet sportsmanlike attitude was balanced with James McNally's bulldog-like ferocity. The fleet-footed William Meppem and the fluent, if inconsistent, Chris Long completed the team. On occasions, Rohan Kerr also played Saturday competition matches.

16F

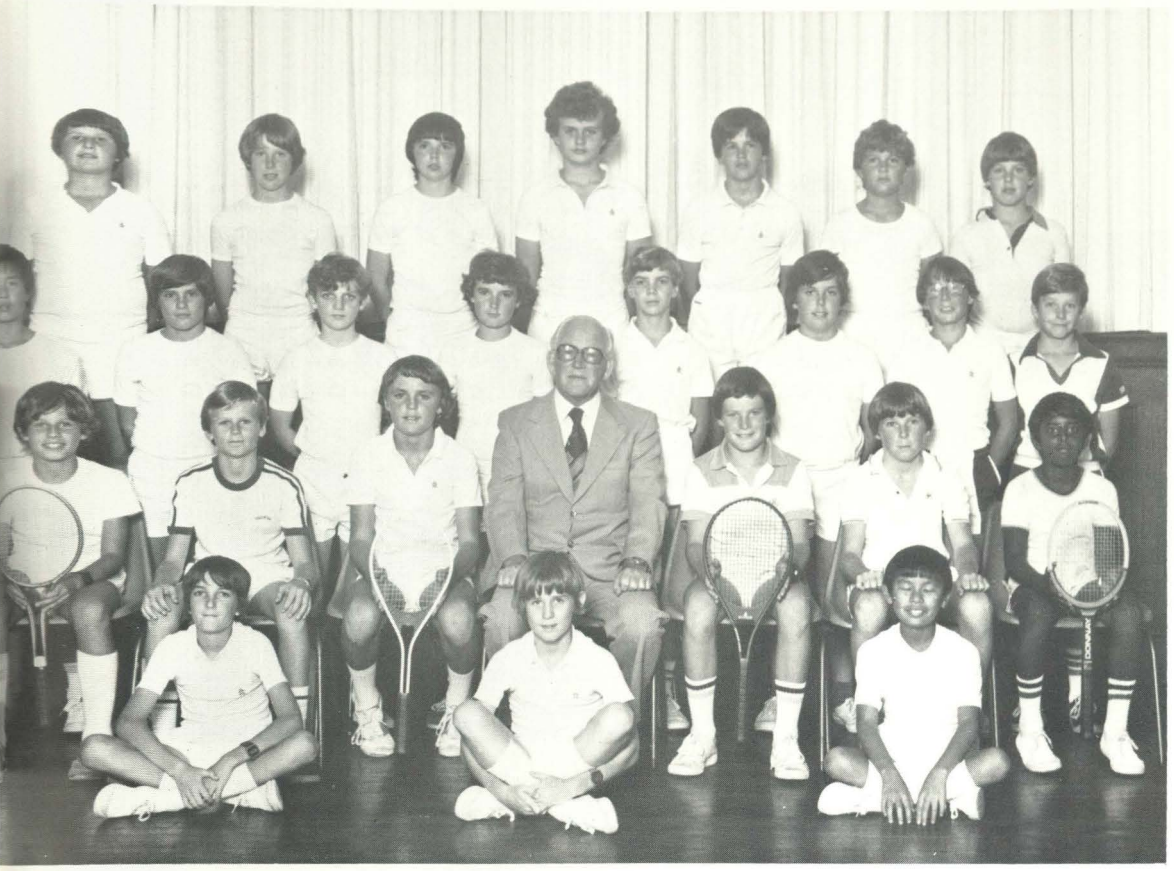

This team never had any Saturday matches, but all players played with higher teams from time to time during the competition. The 16Fs consisted of Tom Palmer, who was noted for his compassionate style, Anthony Roe, who displayed relaxed arm shots, Peter Dwyer, who was undefeated in singles competition against other schools, and Simon Evans, who had a most distinctive style. Reserve for the squad was Barry Kenny, who was consistent in his effortful strokes with very well-developed topspin.

Under 15

The As won four of their games, lost two and drew one. The team was keen and their play and temperament improved greatly as the season progressed.

The Bs lost only one game, to Grammar, in a most successful season. J. Hennessy was their most improved player.

The Cs were undefeated. Their strength lies in a good understanding in the doubles pairs and in a great fighting spirit epitomised in J. Irvin's recovery against Grammar, when after being down 4-0, he fought back to win 6-4 in the last match of that draw. He, J. McCormack and A. Wilson were never beaten in their singles matches all through the season.

The Ds lost only to St. Joseph's. McCormack and Ingham excelled when under pressure.

The most valuable players in terms of their contribution to the group were M. Paul in the As, D. Burke in the Bs, J. Irvin in the Cs and J. Evans in the Ds.

The whole group should provide good opposition for the other schools next year, especially if they continue to practice their tennis in the off-season.

Under 14

During the last term of 1981, the Under 14 Group looked as though they would go through the 1982 season unbeaten. But the boys in the opposition must have grown bigger and stronger during the vacation, or perhaps they played more tennis and practised more diligently, because we belied our promise, and of the thirty-one games played only eight were won. However, many of the losses were sterling struggles.

The As, led by Phillips, were unlucky to lose Meehan through injury, but the replacement by McFadden from the Bs added to McDonald and Rathborne, carried them through the season.

Those who improved most through the year were the B players Kelly and Kwan, both of whom worked their way from lower levels.

The whole group had an excellent sporting instinct, a fine enthusiasm and an ability to handle losses as well as wins. They should have a good season next year.

Captain: P. Sheridan. Vice-Captain: G. Cahill.

An infectious enthusiasm pervaded the whole team this year, spreading from the senior members right down through the juniors, so that the latter quite often lifted their performances and gained some commendable and unexpected placings.

As a result the season was one of great success for all concerned. Although we were unable to repeat the performance of last year of winning an Open G.P.S. Relay, we were placed second in this event regularly at all carnivals.

The season really began towards the end of 1981 with a duel swimming meet with Knox Grammar and "The Great Lakes Swim" at Narrabeen Lake. Both events were well attended.

Six Invitation Carnivals were held in 1982 and, as can be seen from the lists, our placings and performances gradually improved all through the season.

Captain Pat Sheridan led his team and was ably assisted by our Committeeman Gordon Cahill. The whole senior squad was a keen group and did very well.

While one does not like to labour individual performances too much, Michael Delany must be congratulated for his exceptional efforts. His success at school level and his second placing in the Open 100 metres freestyle warrants great praise. He is one of the most gifted swimmers we have ever had.

House Swimming Carnival

This year's carnival was extremely successful from the point of view of the organisers, the participants and certainly Dalton House, who became the champions for 1982.

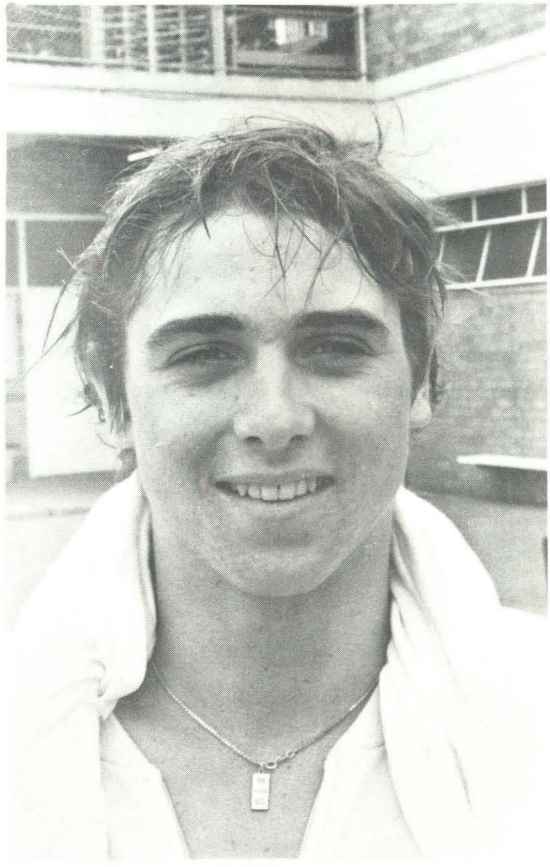

Dalton won with a total of 716 from O'Dwyer 673, and Royal 669, but the result was not clear-cut until the relays in the afternoon.

There were many outstanding individual performances throughout the day and to encourage such performances, House Swimming Records will be inaugurated.

Special mention should also be made of the assistance given by the Prefects throughout the day. They accepted their responsibilities well and were exemplary in the performance of them.

25th January v. S.A.C. Away. Won. S.I.C. 197. S.A.C. 102.

Jones' whirlwind innings of 78, which included four sixes and eight fours ensured us of a good total. In reply, St. Aloysius had to battle and Frawley's flight and spin caused most of the trouble for them.

26th January v. Scotch. Lost. S.I.C. 116. Scotch 188.

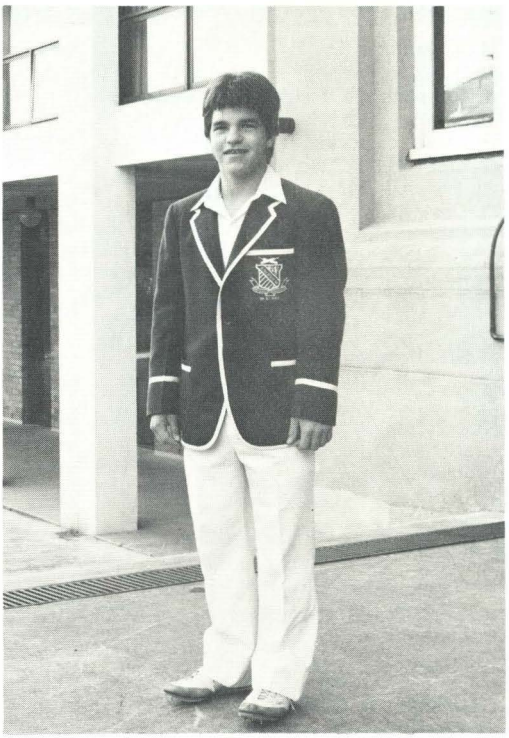

The Scotch opening bat defied our attack for four hours and their total was largely of his making. Our game gave an indication of the instability which became noticeable later and dogged us through the whole season. Deverall's innings (45) was our only highlight.

27th January v. Melbourne Grammar. Drawn. S.I.C. 7 for 203 (dec.). Melbourne Grammar, 5 for 103.

Our batting showed much improvement. Rorke (35) and Templeton (26) put on 59 for the first wicket partnership. Eldershaw's 48 was notable for his powerful driving. Melbourne Grammar never seemed to take up the challenge, but to be happy to get some batting practice. Tait, Frawley and Glascott all bowled well.

28th January v. St. Ignatius' Athelstone. Won. S.I.C. 142. Athelstone 87.

Since we began badly and were 5 for 52 we did well to reach the total of 142. Once again many of our batsmen started well but were dismissed in the twenties. It was our bowlers who saved the day, especially Tait and Deverall, against whom Athelstone could do little. We thank Fr J. O'Mara for umpiring this game for us.

31st January v. Xavier. At home. Won. S.I.C. 211. Xavier 194.

The match was a most exciting one and played in great spirit. Despite rain during the afternoon of the second day's play, Xavier batted on instead of electing to draw the game, and in doing so they came very close to winning. However, from all the tense excitement, Riverview emerged victorious.

Jones' 74 set the seal on a solid total for us. We began badly and were 2 for 6 when Jones came in to bat. He guided our innings to 6 for 140 before he was dismissed. Borean (22), Carley (24) and Glascott (22) all gave steady support.

In reply, Xavier began very steadily and were 1 for 117. In the hour before lunch, Riverview looked almost to have lost hope. But after a break caused by rain and some fortifying lunch, a new and more determined team took the field. The fielding sparkled — three run outs were effected, a brilliant slip's catch was taken and the game turned around. The final two-hour session went our way. Play continued in the rain and on the seventh last ball of the match Xavier's last batsman was bowled!

6th February v. Newington. At home. Drawn. S.I.C. 8 for 182 (dec.). N.C. 7 for 109.

An early batting collapse (3 for 16) was arrested by a fine partnership between Borean (36) and Deveral (34), Carley (47 not out) and Eldershaw (21) consolidated after lunch, and we were able to declare at 2.20 p.m.

Newington could not withstand the pace of Glascott or the medium paced cutters of Carley and before tea were 5 for 30. The final two-hour session was a dreary, unattractive affair with up to ten men camped around the lifeless bats. We had finally to settle for a draw.

February 13th v. S.C.E.G.S. Away. Drawn. S.I.C. 169. S.C.E.G.S. 8 for 158.

Nearly all of our batsmen began well, but all failed to make a big score. Carley (35) did best, and the innings was a steady, if not spectacular one. All the team were out caught or l.b.w.

Shore needed a run a minute for victory. A good catch by Eldershaw just before tea helped swing the game our way; then when Shore seemed to have control, Borean, with a throw from extra cover, hit the stumps on the full and spectacularly ran out their key batsman. After a second run out and a fine yorker, both by Deverall, Shore were 7 for 126. Their last two recognised batsmen hung on determinedly to save the match for them. A fine game of cricket.

February 13th v. S.C.E.G.S. Away. Drawn. S.I.C. 169. S.C.E.G.S. 8 for 158.

Nearly all of our batsmen began well, but all failed to make a big score. Carley (35) did best, and the innings was a steady, if not spectacular one. All the team were out caught or l.b.w.

Shore needed a run a minute for victory. A good catch by Eldershaw just before tea helped swing the game our way; then when Shore seemed to have control, Borean, with a throw from extra cover, hit the stumps on the full and spectacularly ran out their key batsman. After a second run out and a fine yorker, both by Deverall, Shore were 7 for 126. Their last two recognised batsmen hung on determinedly to save the match for them. A fine game of cricket.

20th February v. S.H.S. At home. Drawn. S.I.C. 9 for 135. High 176.

High batted first and had scored their first fifty runs in even time. Then a series of good catches, notably one in the gully by Tait, changed the game around and High were 6-114 at lunch. Tait, Carley and Deverall had bowled well. Two stubborn partnerships after lunch helped High, the eventual premiers, to a good total of 176.

We set about the even-time task in front of us well and in the hour before tea, we had raced to a score of 1 for 60. The break did us no good. After tea we became static and were befuddled by the spinners. Instead of taking risks and hitting across the ball, our batsmen were too cautious and this tactic led to our downfall. In the last hour a fighting stand between Glascott and DeCarvalho saved us from defeat.

27th February v. S.J.C. Away. Lost. S.I.C. 84 and 6 for 90. S.J.C. 5 for 191.

Sent into bat, we were never at home on a wicket which gave some encouragement to the pace bowlers. In the first innings only Templeton and Eldershaw offered any resistance.

St. Joseph's, though they lost two wickets by consecutive balls when they were 37, were always in control of the game. Their declaration just before tea provided our batsmen with a chance to restore their confidence, but Borean alone (33) made any use of the opportunity.

6th March v. S.G.S. At home. Lost. S.I.C. 115. S.G.S. 6 for 118.

The match began one-and-a-half hours late because of heavy rain over the previous few days. To win the toss was all-important. We lost it for the fifth consecutive week! Soon we were 3 for 9; then Kearins (20) and Rorke (17) began to work the ball through gaps in the field and by lunch had, to some extent, rescued us. A total of 140 began to look a possibility, and given the awkwardness of the pitch, such a total might mean victory. Once again, however, a loss of concentration by the middle batsmen frittered away our chances.

Despite our low score our bowlers and fieldsmen never gave up and Grammar won with only four overs left to be played.

15th March v. T.S.C. At home. Drawn. S.I.C. 8 for 209 (dec.). T.S.C. 8 for 185.

For the sixth time we lost the toss and were sent into bat. For once we met fire with fire. Scot's fine cricketer, Knight, bowled with great speed and determination, but Jones (62) and Borean (62) met his attack with equal determination, and their stand, coupled with Frawley's 37, enabled us to declare at 2.30 p.m. with a good total of 8-209. Better still than the score, was the marked improvement in our attitude and concentration.

Scots took up the challenge in fine style. They hit the ball hard to all parts of the field. However, they found Tait difficult to score off and, in desperation, played some rash shots. Meehan and Punch, in their first game in the First XI, both bowled well. Good fielding denied Scots many runs and the outcome of the game hung in the balance during the last ten overs.

The positive approach to the match by all players was welcomed by all the spectators.

20th March v. T.K.S. Away. Won. S.I.C. 124. T.K.S. 123.

This, the last game of the season, was a most extraordinary one.

For once the captain called correctly, won the toss and sent Kings in to bat.

It proved a good decision, for they never recovered from a bad start. In fact, they did well to reach a total of 123, after being 3 for 5 and then 5 for 31. Galscott bowling (4-41) was impressive with good line and length. Jones snapped up a couple of slip catches and Frawley's off-spin was effective.

We might almost be accused of stage-managing a close finish, were it not that this would detract from the wonderful fight-back of the Kings bowlers and fieldmen. From 3 for 51 we went to 6 for 108 and 8 for 123. At this score DeCarvalho was caught behind, but a no-ball had been called! We immediately lost the two remaining wickets and had won by the one run the no-ball gave us!

We congratulate Sydney High on winning the First XI Premiership.

The team owe a great debt to the parents who once again so faithfully followed our fortunes and especially the mothers who, when they might have been watching the game, spent so much of their time in the tuck shop kitchen preparing luscious lunches and afternoon teas. We can only hope that the way in which we demolished the fruits of their labour was some slight indication of the appreciation we felt.

We thank, too, Mr George Tendzer and his ground staff for the good quality of the wickets and the outfield, and, finally, the efficient and patient scorer, Paul Roncolato, who never allowed the tension of some of the matches to disturb his most meticulous craftsmanship.

The Second Eleven Report

1982 provided one of the most closely contested 2nd XI competitions that I have experienced in the last seven years at that level of G.P.S. cricket.

While in terms of bland statistics (1 win, 3 draws, 3 losses), we had what appears to have been a mediocre season, we drew with Shore and were beaten by Scots on the last ball of the day. The difference in standard was therefore negligible and yet these two schools were Joint Premiers.

At one stage, halfway through the season, the competition was split, with S.J.C., S.G.S., T.S.C. and S.I.C. equal leaders and S.C.E.G.S., S.H.S., T.K.S. and N.C. equal second, only 6 points behind.

The spirit of sportsmanship and co-operation both within the S.I.C. team and between all the 2nd XIs was outstanding, and to further emphasise the closeness of competition, we lost the last three games on either the last or second last balls of the day. A very small piece of that essential element, luck, could easily have seen us win these three games and the Premiership.

1982 saw a great depth of talent within the ranks of Riverview cricket. No less than 13 players won 2nd XI colours and several of the 3rd XI were very close to selection. If we can maintain this momentum all augers well for future seasons. I would like to thank my captain, Mark Best and his committee, Andrew Cusack and John Macken, who provided solid leadership to the team and great support and advice for me during a season in which team selections were made particularly difficult by the fine standard of a large number of players.

Congratulations to Michael Kearins, who won the batting average, and the up-and-coming Dominic Frawley, who clinched the bowling average in a fine group of fast, medium and spin bowlers.

The season began with a cloud lowering over the sheds. Fr Ramsay, for 12 years the Rowing Master and guiding light of the Riverview Rowing Club, had been moved to St. Mary's parish, Ridge St., North Sydney. Fortunately the parish is not far away and Fr Coleman was able to spare Fr Ramsay during the first term of the year to help with the coaching of the 1st and 2nd Eights, and with the organisation of the events to celebrate the Centenary of the club. Words cannot describe the influence of Fr Ramsay on life at Riverview and at the sheds. The Club has much to be thankful for in Fr Ramsay and we can only hope he returns to us next year.

We also had a change of President of the Club. At Christmas time Fr Quin left Riverview and Fr O'Kelly arrived. A quiet walk about the sheds, a look at the fleet and the state of maintenance of the boats will show how much we owe to Fr Quin's work as Headmaster.

The year was an extremely busy one for all members of the club, both present and past. It was the Centenary Year of the Club. A committee consisting of Fr Ramsay, Fr Gorman and Messrs C. McEntyre, P. Hunter, R. Meagher and Dr P. Lewis set about organising the celebrations.

The work began with Fathers Ramsay and Gorman, assisted by the rowers of Year 10 and 11, poring over past issues of Our Alma Mater to compile a list of all members of the Club so that they could be contacted during the season.

The Committee then organised three functions for the year. The first was a Centenary Appeal for the construction of two ergometers and possibly for the supply of hot water for the sheds. The generosity of the ex-members is shown by the $6,000 raised by the Appeal.

The second function was a Centenary Dinner held at the Wentworth. More than two hundred ex-members attended this dinner and they were amply entertained by the after-dinner speech of Mr Laurie Stepto who mentioned the historical position of the Riverview Rowing Club within the N.S.W.R.A. and gave particular attention to the influence that Fathers G. Jones, F. Romanin and J. Ramsay have had on the N.S.W.R.A. One of the most pleasant events of the evening was the presentation the club made to Mr Stepto as an appreciation of help he had given for so many years at the Gold Cup Regatta. Mr Bob Barry merits a special word of thanks for his work in organising the dinner.

The third event was a well-patronised barbecue at the sheds and the blessing of two new boats, the Ignatian XI and the Father Quin Four. The Ignatian XI was the gift of Mr Peter Ramsay in memory of his father Oscar. We are very grateful to Peter and feel that the boat will remind us all of the support of Oscar Ramsay and his family gave to the club during his years of association with the college.

Each of these events was well supported and we must congratulate the Organising Committee for the fine work. They also produced a Centenary Tie to commemorate the event. The Centenary emblem was designed by Mark Bolger and Miss B. Hume. Mr P. Westhoff and Mr L. Kirkpatrick designed the Centenary Jacket, and a special gold Centenary emblem was worn by all our G.P.S. crews, as an addition to their rowing uniform. Fr Gorman has written a most informative, illustrated history of the Club.

One has to be thankful to the Committee for the work they did, and one hopes that their selfless attitude and dedication to their job has been noted by, and will be an inspiration for, the current members of the club.

On the water the activities this year followed the pattern so ably designed by Fr Ramsay. The selection of the crews began in Third Term, 1981, and was finalised during the rowing camp. Xavier College joined us for the camp and the inaugural race between the two schools was rowed towards the end of the camp. Xavier won the 1st Eights race, and Riverview the 2nd Eights.

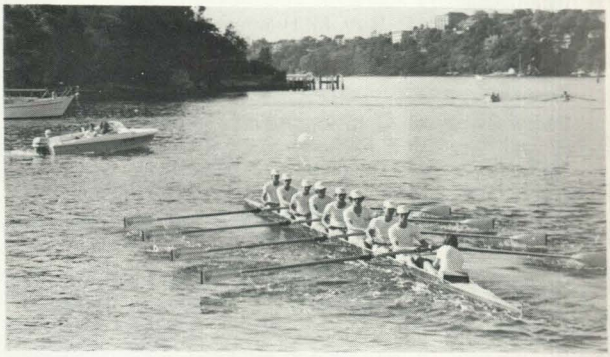

Dr Terry Horgan and Mrs M. Cheok were ever present advising us on exercises and checking the general well-being of all crews. To these two people for their quiet work we also need to express our sincere thanks.

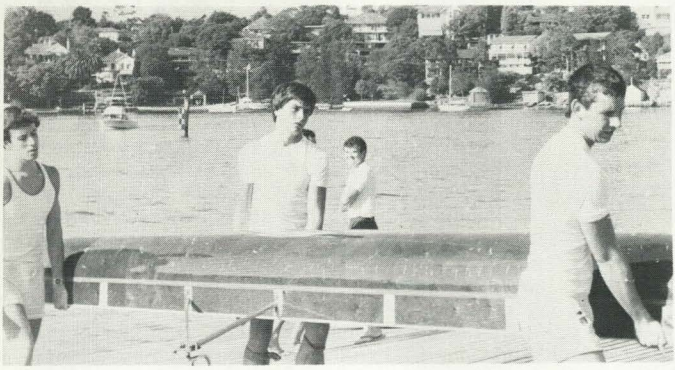

The Rowing Committee of Kent Fish, Richard Hamilton, Peter Coy, Michael Hammond and Chris O'Brien organised a dance for the Senior School as part of its Centenary Celebrations and the profit from it is to be put towards perpetual trophies for the Gold Cup Regatta. This committee was well motivated and the success of the Fathers and Sons Dinner was a reminder of their hard work. One must also mention all that the Mothers did to make this dinner such a success.

The Gold Cup Regatta was again blessed with fine weather and was run with its usual dead-to-the-minute timing. This was no mean feat when one recalls that there were seventy-seven events, that the first race began at 9.55 a.m. and that races followed at five minute intervals until the final event at 4.15 p.m. There are many people to thank for the success of the day and one would be quite remiss not to mention especially the Boat Race Officials, the speed boat donors, the Parents and Friends, the Old Ignatians Union and the Vice-President of the Club, Mr Paul Lewis who coped handsomely with the distribution of prizes to the winning crews.

The G.P.S. Regatta on the Nepean was held on the Saturday following the Gold Cup — an innovation which enabled all rowing to be finished before Easter. The Nepean was never better for rowing than this year: a dull, cool day with no sun, no wind, no rain, and no run on the river. It was the day of the King's School and we congratulate them on their brilliant success. Our best performance came from the Third Four who came third in their race.

One must mention the dedication of the coaches and Bill Clements, our Boatman. Without these men the Rowing Club would not be able to provide the atmosphere within which the boys can work, grow and learn to appreciate that giving is a goal worth striving for. When one sees the number of Old Boys, ex-members of the Club, that are helping us at the sheds, the present coaches can take heart in their realisation that they are setting a fine lesson for the present boys.

That lesson has already been learnt by some. When Sean Baggott, Peter Gillespie and Chris Roach found that they could not row themselves they set to with a will and helped with the coaching of the junior crews.

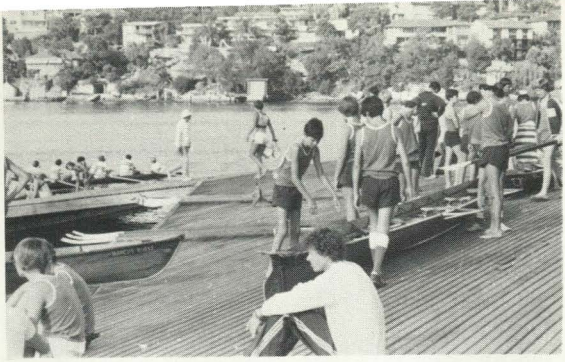

Our speedboat driver of many years, Chris O'Brien, has at last reached the end of his days at Riverview and it will be many years before we find a replacement so capable at organisation, so willing and worthy to take responsibility.

Finally, we look forward to the next 100 years of rowing at Riverview and hope that it will be as successful as the first hundred have been and that the young men who leave the club and move out into the world will take the same values with them as the young men of yesteryear.

The 1st Eight

We went into strenuous practice in January at the week's rowing camp. There were the usual three mile runs each day, and rowing in the morning, afternoon and evening. We were pleased to have the Xavier crews with us again this year and we thank them for the Centenary flag they were kind enough to give us.

During the season we won three races at the Newington Regatta, the Leichhardt and at our own Gold Cup Regatta, all over a mile course. We were classed as light-weight sprinters and at the Nepean we were no match for the heavier crews and the still water of the Nepean.

The crew trained well all through the season, showed great co-operation and willingness to work and learn, and above all they appreciated the companionship of their peers and the camaraderie of the sheds.

The 2nd Eight

It was not until two weeks of the First Term had passed that the members of the crew were finally selected. There was a gradual improvement throughout the season as can be seen from the placings in the eight regattas in which the crew rowed.

13th February. Scots' Regatta, 2,000m at Abbotsford.

1st T.K.S.; 2nd S.C.E.G.S.; 3rd T.S.C.; Riverview 6th.

20th February. Newington Regatta, 2,000m at Abbotsford.

1st S.C.E.G.S.; 2nd T.K.S.; 3rd S.G.S. Riverview did not qualify for the final.

27th February. Sydney University Boat Club Regatta, 1,500m on the Nepean.

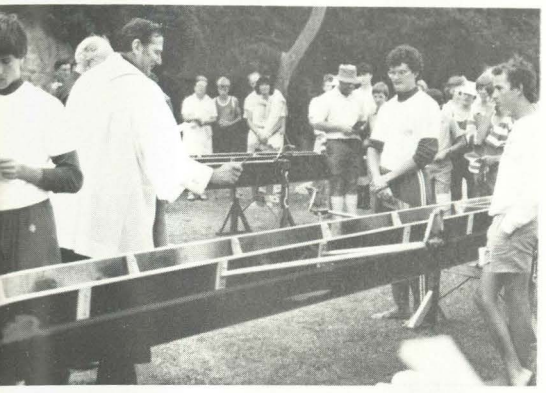

We rowed in four races, against 1st Eights, but in our class the results were:

1st T.K.S.; 2nd S.C.E.G.S.; 3rd N.C. Riverview was 5th.

Our Flotilla (or most of it!)
Senior Scullers and Eights, five Senior Fours, three Junior Eights, five Novice Fours, twelve Senior and Junior Tubs Fours.

Blessing of the New Boats

28th February. Macquarie University Regatta on the Nepean.

We rowed in two races: Open Eights and Open 2nd Grade Eights. Few school Eights were represented, and though we rowed well we did not get a place.

6th March. Sydney Grammar Regatta, 2,000m at Abbotsford.

Third in the heat, we did not qualify for the final. 1st T.K.S.; 2nd S.C.E.G.S.; 3rd T.S.C.; 4th S.G.S.

13th March. Leichhardt Regatta, 1,500m at Iron Cove.

1st S.C.E.G.S.; 2nd Riverview; 3rd S.G.S.; 4th S.J.C.; 5th T.S.C.; 6th N.C.; 7th S.H.S.

20th March. Gold Cup Regatta, 1,500m on the Lane Cove.

Kings and Newington did not row.

1st S.C.E.G.S.; 2nd S.G.S.; 3rd Riverview.

27th March. G.P.S. Regatta, 2,400m on the Nepean.

1st T.K.S.; 2nd S.C.E.G.S.; 3rd S.G.S. Riverview 7th.

The Senior Fours

The five Senior Fours had a busy season. They rowed in all the Regattas, where they met with varied fortunes. The most successful crew was the Second Four which won twice, first at the Newington Regatta and then at the Sydney University Boat Club Regatta.

Next to them was the Third Four, coached by two young Old Boys, Don Shiell and Dave Costa whom, themselves, left the sheds only in 1980. The crew won at the Sydney University Club Regatta and they were our only crew to win a place in the Gold Cup and G.P.S. Regattas, in both of which races they came third.

The Junior Eights

These three crews had their fair measure of success. The First Eight, a heavy crew, came third in almost every Regatta in which they rowed. The second crew was also quite successful — their best race was in the Leichhardt where in a thrilling finish they were first across the line by .05 of a second. They were second in two other Regattas and fourth in another. In their heat of the Gold Cup they were literally swamped and did not qualify for the final.

The hour of glory for the Third Eight was their win in the heat of the Gold Cup Regatta. But, alas, they were unable to repeat that performance in the final.

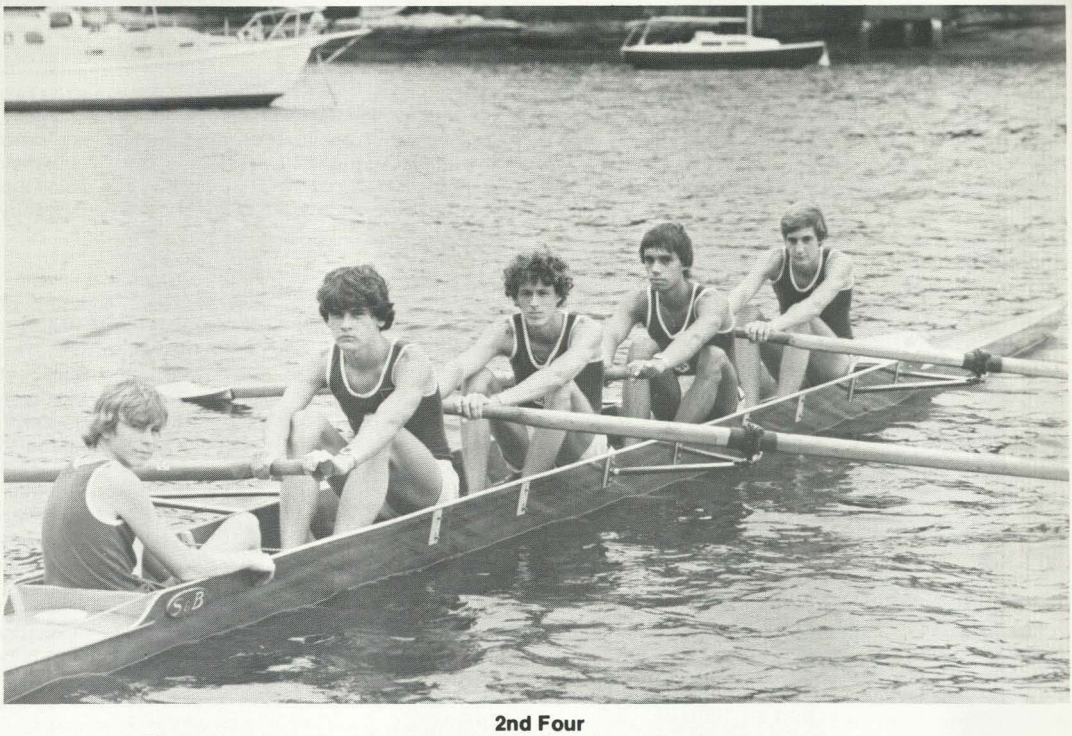

The Novice Fours and Tubs

These junior rowers spent their time profitably learning the skills that go to make a rower and they proved, by their successes, to be adept pupils. Their most spectacular win was one of nine lengths by the First Novice Four in the final of the Gold Cup.

That crew had previously won at both the Newington and Leichhardt Regattas, and, as their Stroke said after their splendid win in the Gold Cup Regatta, the season was more successful than any of the crew could ever have expected.

The Second Novice Four were also solid in performance and usually gained second place in the races they rowed.

Sculling

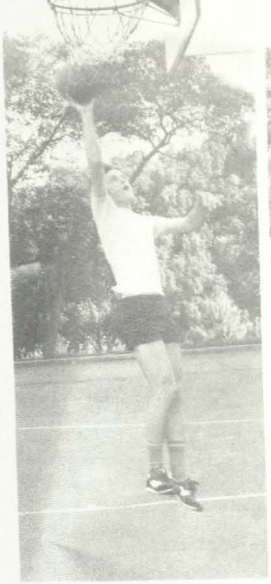

Thanks to the good work of John McKillop there was a real resurgence in sculling this year. The original two scullers, John McKillop and Philip Ingram, were joined later by Robert Mort and for a short time by Andrew Kehoe. They had their measure of success and, on occasion, provided entertainment for the spectators.

Both McKillop and Ingram rowed in the Scots Regatta and McKillop won the race. He was also successful in winning at the Newington Regatta. Bob Mort in his bright red scull made his meteoric appearance by winning at the Leichhardt Regatta. Alas, his rise was short-lived. At the Gold Cup Regatta he was a good five lengths ahead of the field when he tipped over and went down into the river. The Grammar sculler, after colliding with Mort, took the lead but was hotly pursued by Ingram. The latter, after a clash of oars with Grammar, went on to win the race, while the Grammar man ploughed into the wharf!

McKillop was the only club member to row in the National Regatta on the Nepean and one has to admire not only his effort in that Regatta, where he competed against the best scullers in Australia, but also in enthusiasm and drive with which he promoted sculling throughout the rowing season.

BASKETBALL

Captain: T. Regan.
Vice-Captain: T. Pullinen.
Committeeman: A. Mayo.

Basketball continued this year to attract its fair share of devotees. There were five Open teams, three under sixteen, three under fifteen, four under fourteen and two prep. groups. The courts were fully occupied each afternoon of the week and on Saturday mornings.

For all the enthusiasm and practice, the season was, if one can judge from the few reports (five only) that were handed in, one of mixed fortunes for most of the teams, except among the players of the Under 13 group. Their A and B teams were undefeated and the Cs won all but two games. If these young players continue as they have begun we can look to a bright future for basketball at Riverview.

The Firsts

Round 1 v. Newington — Lost 30-33.

A fast, exciting game which was decided only in the last few minutes. Newington were a complete side with excellent centres and good outside shooters. Regan, Pullinen and Cage played well for us, the two former in their defence, Cage by the fast breaks he made. A measure of our team's fine play is not only the closeness of the score, but the fact that apart from Kings, who were ultimately the Premiers and who beat Newington 36-34, we came closer to beating them than any other team.

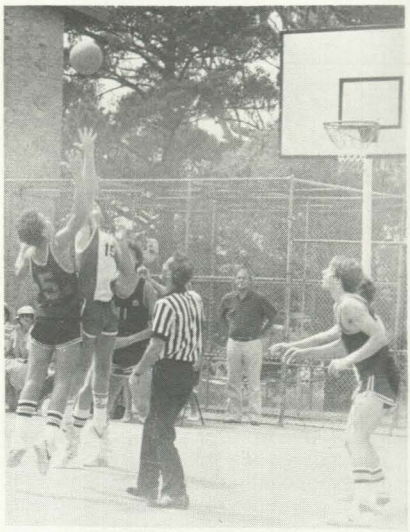

Round 2 v. S.C.E.G.S. — Lost 28-60.

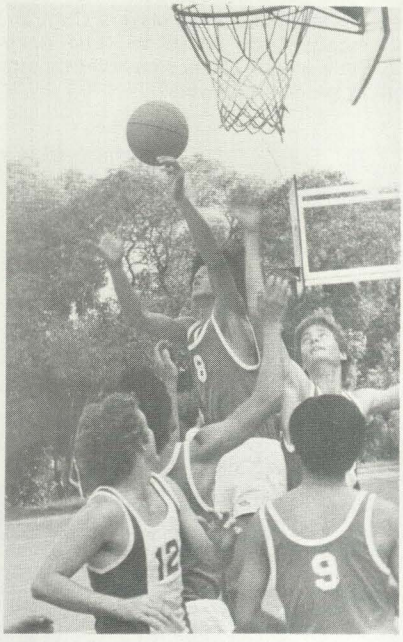

We were without two of our key players, Cage and Mayo, and though Mark Walsh and Leo Baker worked the ball well, our defence could not match the strength of the Shore players.

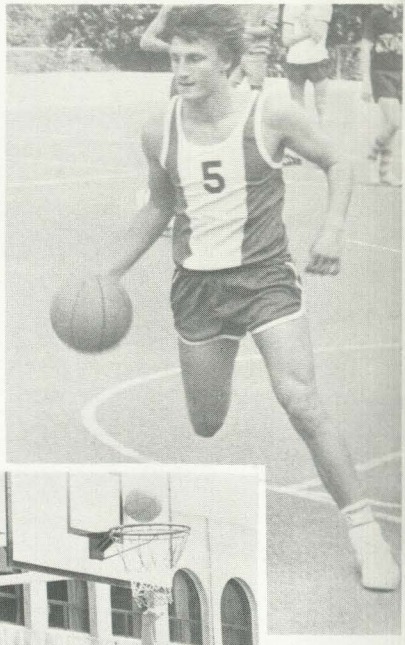

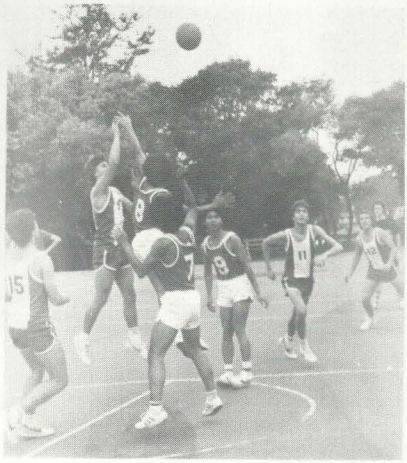

Basketball 2nds
Back Row: P. Walsh, M. Hardwick, P. Mulcahy, M. Reede, R. Pittorino, J. Breslin.
Seated: A. Prichard, J. Robinson, Mr D. Scroope, M. Donnan (c.), Mr B. McKay, A. Chesher, S. McCleary.

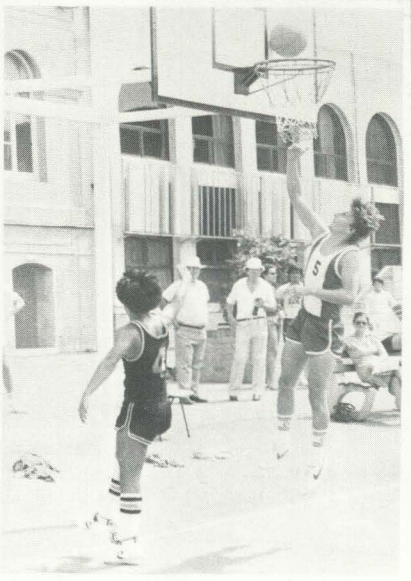

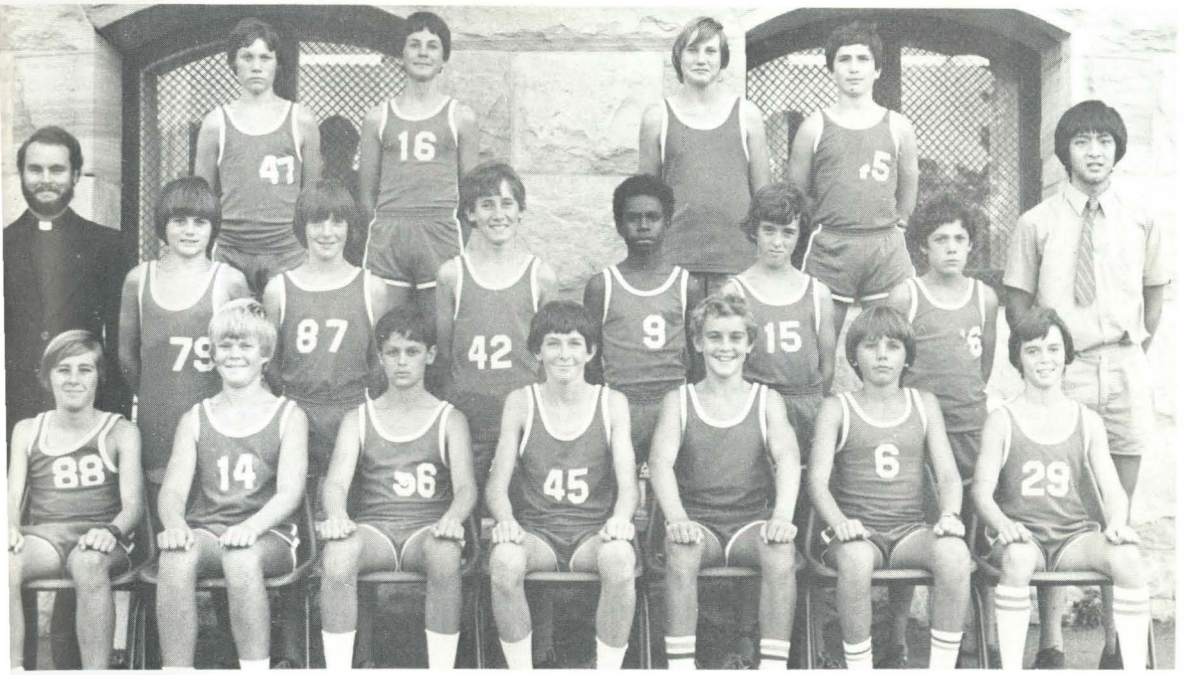

Basketball 5ths
Back Row: A. Dwyer, E. Daley, P. Crowe, C. Cody.
Seated: W. O'Dwyer, S. O'Connell, Mr P. Bohrsmann, D. Chee, P. Nolan.
Absent: P. Lowery, M. Deveney, P. Wilkins.

Under 13 A & B
Back Row: R. Dougan, S, Guthrie, S. Cunial, A. Mullan.
Middle Row: Mr D. Hutton, S. J., B. Heuston, J. Harkin, J. Leather, A. Somare, T. Gunning, P. Dougan, P. Cheok.
Seated: S. Kirkby, P. Pullinen, S. Power, P. Larbalestier, M. Riegler, N. Carlton, M. Reede.
Absent: R. Cubis, E. Breslin, W. Allen, J. Dempsey, P. Mulveney.

Round 3 v. S.H.S. — Lost 24-37.

The game was closer than the score indicates. Regan captained and played well. Tom Silk was excellent in defence and shot well, but during the last few minutes of the first half High drew ahead by ten points and try as we would after that, we could not make up the deficit.

Round 4 v. S.J.C. — Lost 32-50.

St. Joseph's, in their new gymnasium, were, as many teams found, hard to beat. The first half was a close contest, but our opponents drew away and led 19-14. We began the second half well. Caspers and Silk did excellent work, Cage shot some fine long baskets and we went to a good lead of 26-19. Then it was St. Joseph's turn. With four and a half minutes of play remaining they were leading 34-28, but in those last few minutes they scored another 16 points and ended what had been a close and exciting tussle.

Round 5 v. S.G.S. — Won 47-45.

This was, again, a closely contested game, and it was due to excellent teamwork that we won. Regan played an excellent captain's game and scored 8 points. Pullinen worked hard for his 7 points and threw the ball well for the fast break where Cage ran well and scored 15 points. We were 5 points ahead with only a few minutes of play left and though this lead was cut down, controlled play on our part made sure of the match for us.

Round 6 v. T.S.C. — Lost 33-36.

Scots, because of one exceptional player, Andrews, had beaten us consistently in Third Term last year. In this match he scored only 4 points, so he was effectively stopped — but Scots' centre Purchas did considerable damage by scoring 20 points. However, the game was a close one. Cage, with some fine fast break play scored 11 points, Welsh worked well for 7 points and Regan again defended well. In general, we played well, but not well enough to win.

Round 7 v. T.K.S. — Lost 58-104.

Tim Regan, scorer of 19 points and Roland Cage, scorer of 15, played exceptionally well in the open-flowing game that was played by both teams, but we had few answers to the tall, talented aggressive team against us.

We congratulate Kings on their undefeated season.

Tim Regan was chosen for the G.P.S. Second Team, and by the smallest margin over Roland Cage, was given the award for the best and fairest player.

All teams had their groups of supporters and the basketball area was well crowded each Saturday morning so that apart from the pleasure inherent in the playing of the game it is making a real contribution to the development of the Riverview family spirit.

FOOTBALL

Captain: R. Cagé. Vice-Captain: A. Collins. Committeeman: A. Prichard.

R. Cagé, A. Collins and A. Prichard were the only players from last year's First Fifteen, so that the team was generally an inexperienced one.

As in previous years many players were tired out in the trial games and in the end, despite the disappointments of contestants a term which was to have a very pleasing record emerge. Their only shortcoming was, particularly in the early part of the season, their failure to recognise their full potential.

Lack of weight and height was another obstacle and our tight five were matched against far heavier packs all through the season.

P. Faure-Brac and M. Carney shared a healthy rivalry for the position of hooker. The former played four G.P.S. games and the latter three. The other tight forwards A. Mayo, A. Collins, R. McGarth and R. Pittorino supported one another with skill and gained pride in learning and perfecting their technique in set play. Three man scrums and many short lineout moves were explored so as to compensate for our lack of size, and there was insistent drill on quick ball from rucks and mauls. The forwards trained enthusiastically at getting the ball out to our more than average backs and their training was certainly rewarded.

The success of the team was due largely to the way the forwards played considering that in all games they were well outweighed by the opposing packs. They responded magnificently to their training and while forward rushes were rare they did get the ball for the backs.

The back row, too, lived up to the traditions of the past. A. Prichard, T. Silk and A. Dempsey reproduced copybook games each Saturday. They applied good pressure, read the games well and defended solidly. Prichard and Silk were always first to broken play. Dempsey who played in the Under 15 last year joins a handful of players who in recent years have made that great jump. It is hard to believe that none of our loose forwards was selected for a G.P.S. side.

The backline moulded themselves into a forceful unit with a skilful combination. D. Borean and M. Donnan both played as halfback, the former for three games the latter for the last four rounds. To play behind such a light pack as we had was not easy, but they acquitted themselves admirably. The other back positions were unchanged all through the season.The backs tried to run the ball where possible and any kicking was part of game plans. While supporters admired their attacking ability they finished the season with a fine defensive record also. They endeavoured to play a running game, and that was how they trained. They worked hard at perfecting ball skills and moves that were to be a trade mark of their play.

J. Macken was a fine pivot player who handled the pressure of five-eight successfully. Solid defence and a fine understanding of one another's play characterised the centres A. Chesher and M.Glascott. They gave excellent service to their winger S. Jones and D. Page. The latter's pace and determined running was always exciting, while Jones' six goals from six attempts in the match against Sydney High and his fifty six points scored in the competition games speaks for itself. R. Cagé, the captain, gave as much in his play at fullback as he did to inspire the team with his qualities of leadership, and he is to be commended for the contribution he made to the success of the season.

We always have a host of people to be thanked for their generous support. Our medical team of Dr M. Cross and Dr J. Macken and Mrs P. Cheok gave us their professional advice and we express our appreciation. We thank Mr J. Rodgers for completing his twelfth year of recording the games for O.A.M. Messrs D. Scroope, Ed Fessey and Tony Ryan helped with the training. The video team of Stewart Brown, Paul Mulcahy and Chris O'Brien should be thanked, so too, our linesman Alex Chegwyn and statistician Sean Baggott. The parents and friends again worked tirelessly at each home game in providing morning coffee, lunches for the coaches and afternoon tea for visitors. As well they served at the tuckshop all day. We can never thank them enough for all thy do each season. We thank Mr and Mrs Cagé for their hospitality for the end of the season function. Finally we have appreciated greatly the support of the Headmaster, Fr Smith, the Sportsmaster and the help and advice given by Mr G. Whealing the coach of the Second Fifteen.

We congratulate St. Joeseph's College on their premiership and their fine undefeated record.

12 June v. Grammar. Away. Wcn 26-3.

S.I.C. 5 tries, 3 conversions. S.G.S. 1 penalty.

Cicero wrote "not to know what happened before you were is to remain forever a child." and the opening match of this year's competition was replete with historical and statistical associations. The 23 point margin was the greatest in Riverview's favour in the 78 competition matches against Grammar since 1907. The 26 points were beaten only once by a 1st fifteen side against Grammar, (in 1939 when we won 27-15). They were also the highest number scored by Riverview in the G.P.S. Competition since 1958.

But mere statistics do not tell of the method of victory which was gained by a swift running backline which stretched Grammar out wide and which allowed such quick service to the wingers that Page ran in for three tries.

Although Grammar opened the scoring with a penalty goal in the first few minutes, tactical kicking by Macken had them on the defensive for the rest of the game. Twice in the first 20 minutes Glascott leaped high to take soaring punts. The second of these Gazaly-like jumps brought a try to Silk who stood wide from a maul and scored near the posts. Further tries from Chesher and Page, all converted by Jones, meant a convincing 18-3 score at half time.

Our lack of size in the forwards was effectively countered by short lineouts where Mayo and Dempsey worked wonders and by rapid passing by Borean. Even the retirement through injury of Prichard did not stop the momentum since Harrison who replaced him played a very strong game. It was he who slipped a neat pass to Page for one of his tries. Although the second half, played in increasing gloom, did not have the brilliance of the first, and although the captain, Cagé, was replaced the excellence of our performance was not diminished. What made it all the more remarkable was the fact that it was only the second time since 1969 that we had won the first competition of the season.

19 June v. Scots. At home. Lost. 15-10

S.I.C. 1 try, 1 penalty, 1 field goal. T.S.C. 3 tries, 1 penalty.

From our kick off one of the opposing forwards passed the ball to his backs and almost before the spectators had taken their seats Scots had scored under the posts. Barely had the match settled down again when Glascott from wide out kicked a left-footed field goal. (3-4). Although we were without Cage and Silk and although our lack of weight told against us in the forward exchanges, particularly in mauls and rucks, during the first half we took control through our backs and variations in the lineouts. Firstly Macken swung a long flat pass to Pittorino, wide on the left side. He plunged over exultantly.The conversion was missed, but we were in the lead (7-4). Jones did guide over a penalty soon after and a 10-4 it seemed that the confidence of the previous week had fully returned. However, just before half time a ruck was lost near our line and once again the Scots winger scored (10-8).

The second half saw the gradual pressure wearing us down. Borean found difficulty in clearing his passes. Scots recaptured the lead with a powerful forward, which began in our own quarter, and was typical of the hold that their forwards increasingly had on ours. We did have opportunities to go ahead, but Jones missed all four penalties in this half. So too did his counterpart, until on the last few minutes he did manage to kick a goal and put the result beyond doubt.

26 June v. Kings. At home. Drawn 9-9.

S.I.C. 1 converted try. 1 penalty. T.K.S. 2 penalties, 1 field goal.

One might have thought that the power of the Kings' forwards who had subdued us in the trial game and the after-effects of Scots' dominance last week would have been enough to have settled this match even before the kick off. In addition our captain, Cagé, and our vice-captain, Collins, were on the injured list. However, Prichard, back from his injured spell, assumed the captaincy of the side which played above itself in a match which produced only one try but much excitement.

For the first 25 minutes the Kings far heavier and powerful forward pack, helped by the towering kicks of their five eighth, had us very much on the defensive. Their kicker missed two penalty attempts that were difficult, but landed two others and it needed all the ferocity of defence that Silk, Chesher and Faure-Brac could muster to frustrate the Kings' constant blind side rushes.

Second Row: J. McKay, M. Carney, J. Hardie, R. Hamilton, R. Dixon, M. Brookes.

Hardie, playing his first game in the firsts joined the backline with sure precision and took all that Kings sent down to him, bouncing back for more just as his father had done a quarter of a century before on the same field. His inspiration and the continued dominance of our varied short lineouts took us towards the Kings' line. Faure-Brac was mortified to lose the ball when actually over the goal-line, but Jones kicked a useful penalty just before half time (3-6).

Kings began the second half at an ominous pace, but when their breakaway crossed the line and dropped the ball, luck seemed to be with us. From the drop out which Jones kicked far up field we attacked, and after some frustration from knocking on, at last Borean ran round the blind side and slipped a pass to Dempsey who scored. With an excellent kick from touch Jones converted (9-6).

The game was so tight that it seemed we would hold this slender lead, but a failure to find touch inside our quarter placed the ball in the hands of Kings five eighth who kicked a field goal from a wide angle (9-9). Although we came back with determination and almost scored from a five metre scrum the game was drawn.

3 July v. S.C.E.G.S. Away. Won 22-6.

S.I.C. 3 tries, 2 conversions, 2 penalties.
S.C.E.G.S. 1 penalty, 1 field goal.

In the trial game Shore had beaten us 16-13, but there was no doubt about the better side in this game in which we scored our highest points against Shore since 1958. Our backs made many confident raids and here Glascott and Macken were outstanding as they constantly created opportunities and had Shore back-pedalling. On one such attack we were forced out very close to Shore's line but a quick throw in had Pittorino over for an unconverted try. Dempsey, Silk and Prichard were outstanding in the loose and it was this attention to the breakdowns which rewarded Silk with our second try. He tagged on to the end of a sweeping raid, scored and his try was converted by Jones, at 10-0 our lead was commanding.

Despite a penalty and a field goal from the Shore five eighth, who had so dominated the trial game our second half effort was even more rigourously resolute. Jones kicked two long range penalties and this gave the backs the impetus to run the ball confidently from inside our own half. Pittorino had made many fine breaks and it was fitting that he was rewarded with a hand in the best try of the match. He initiated the move from close to halfway and then saw Glascott finish it with a dive of delight in the corner. To cap the victory Jones converted the try from the sideline.

17 July v. S.J.C. At home. Lost 3-7.

S.I.C. 1 penalty. S.J.C. 1 try, 1 penalty.

We approached this game in front of a huge crowd with the knowledge that St. Joseph's had won all four competition games, some of them by embarassingly large margins. Our tactics were to bustle the powerful St. Joseph's forwards and fast backs into early errors and to convert this early pressure into points. Macken controlled both his grubber and towering kicks well and the opposing backs were constantly frustrated as they ran back to retrieve. Our novel tactics, various short lineouts and a daring three man scrum seemed to produce the desired results and St. Joseph's became a little rattled. A penalty after 25 minutes presented Jones with the easiest of kicks, and he made no mistake (3-0). Our back row's all enveloping defence made great calls on the stamina of Silk, Prichard and Dempsey, but they handled the situation with the skill of veterans. In the last few minutes of the first half the opposing pressure began to tell. Firstly from another 'mini-scrum' dangerously close to our line we were no match for their push. Their lock and captain gathered the ball, but in crossing the line lost it forward! However, just before the bell, their fullback joined the backline for the first time (so effectively had Chesher and Glascott bottled up any previous attack), created the overlap and their left winger scored (3-4).

The second half, while producing only one score, a penalty to St. Joseph's after fifteen minutes of play, had all the ingredients of an excellent game, played with such commitment by both sides that it was worthy of any Riverview-St. Joseph's classic contest of the past 75 years. There were the repeated attempts of the S.J.C backs to raid our line and the valiant attempts of our defence in preventing them. There was the technical dominance of their forwards who employed the 'rolling maul' to great effect, but met with solid and constant defence close to the scrum. None stood out more here than Donnan. When we did get opportunities Cagé bought the ground alight with the incursions which revealed all of last year's Galic flair and elan. Page, also, on the right wing, in one thrilling movement bustled and worked his way down the touchline, only to be bumped out less than a metre short of the try line. There was the courage of McGrath who played for much of the second half with broken ribs, but who had much the better of the lineout contests against bulkier opponents. For all this St. Joseph's defence held firm, but when the final whistle blew we had come closest of any side to beating St. Josephs in a year from which they were to emerge undefeated champions.

24 July v. S.H.S. At home. Won 24-14.

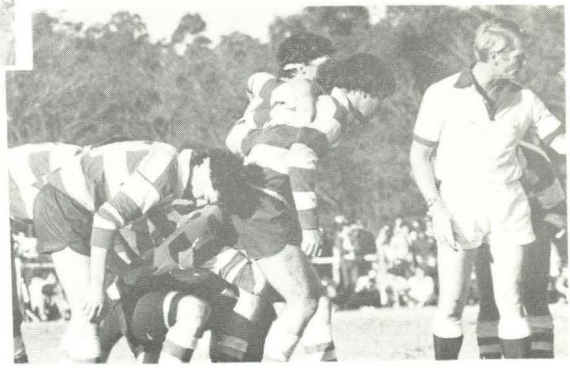

S.I.C. 2 converted tries, 4 penalties. S.H.S. 3 tries, one conversion.

Only twice in the past 14 years had we beaten High, and our score in this game was the highest score against them in 20 years. For all that, High scored three tries to our two, and it was the unerring kicking of our left winger, Simon Jones, who kicked six goals from six attempts and scored 16 of our points that won the day for us. McGrath and Collins were still out with injuries, so that Crawford and Coy filled their places. Our pack, though heavily outweighed, held firm against a skilful High group. We were so quick to the breakdown that our backs were given a large slice of second phase possession that Glascott and Cage both scored was due more to the brilliance of the lead-up work, as long passes and players popping up in the right places caused both tries, scored within five minutes of each other in the middle of the first half. Both came at a vital time when High, charging down Macken's attempted clearing kick had led 4-3. As a result at half time we had a commanding lead (15-4).

In the second half, after Jones had kicked an early penalty (17-4), our defence was ragged, our attack uninspired and our enterprise of the first half gone. High took the initiative, their half scampered over from a five metre scrum and then the constant pressure of their powerful forwards created gaps that led to their left winger scoring in the corner (18-14). It needed all the inspiration of Silk's constant attention to the ball he could muster and Pittorino's storming, havoc-creating runs to rally us. Jones' flawless kicking ended with two fine penalties in the last five minutes and put the result of the game beyond doubt.

31 July v. N.C. Won 25-11.

S.I.C. 4 tries, 2 conversions, 1 penalty. N.C. 2 tries, 1 penalty.

The first half of the game was played in much the same way as we had played last Saturday. Jones opened the scoring with a penalty and then two converted tries, in quick succession, gave us a good lead of 15-0 at half time. Newington's defence pattern was upset as our exuberant forwards kept tight under pressure. Mayo was again outstanding, as were his front row colleagues, Collins and Carney. They held firm and scrummage so effectively that much of Newington's momentum was lost.

Once again after half time we relaxed. Newington scored when a loose ball was not effectively dealt with by our forwards and then they kicked a penalty and our lead was cut to 15-7. But a dropped pass by Newington was quickly pounce on by Jones. He raced clear and kept going until with an exhausted dive he scored his first try of the competition. His conversion made his total of points for the season 56, which equalled the record set by Mick Hardie in 1956. Any chance to break the record was not to be, as he was forced to leave the field injured. His replacement was, fittingly, Breslin who had spent weeks on the sideline after breaking an arm in the trial game against Grammar. Both sides exchanged tries in the last few minutes.

For the fourth time in the season we had scored more that 20 points and the 16 tries in seven games was a just testimony to a side which had played adventuresome, exhilirating football and deservedly shared second place in the competition.

THE SECOND XV

The Seconds this year were coached by Mr G. Whealing whose positive and enthusiastic approach to the game was communicated to the whole team.

We won our first competition game, against Grammar, due to the hard work of our light, mobile pack and the skill of the backs, especially M. Brooks and Jon McCormick.

Scots had a very heavy forward pack which gradually wore our forwards down in the second half. Despite John Hardie's two goals and a try by Michael Brookes we lost the game 9-13.

The game against Kings promised to be a hard struggle, since we had lost the pre-competition game against them after a very close contest. This game was quite as close, but the tables were turned. O'Rourke and Welsh both played well the former scored a try and a penalty, and after Kings had missed a kick right on full time we walked off the field victors with the score 11-10.

Against Shore we played an excellent first half. Brookes scored and Hardie kicked two penalty goals, but Shore's far heavier pack wore us down and dominated the play. We lost, despite all our efforts 10-16.

Two intercepts and run-away tries from over halfway by one of the St. Joseph's backs upset all our plans for this game. Our only points came from a penalty kick by Kearins. Despite the score 3-29 the game was one of sparkling football in which our backs, especially the centres Moore and Regan and second rower Crawford excelled themselves.

The game against High was hard and fast; our best effort came from Hardie, a long run down the side line, a small punt over the heads of the opposing winger and fullback, a quick gathering of the ball and a try. The final score was 13-4.

We defeated Newington 13-10, in a game in which Deane-Johns won us a feast of the ball in the lineouts and the cover defence of the three loose forwards, Harrison, McKay and McKillop was excellent.

This was the last game of the season and the win placed us fourth in the competition behind Shore, St. Josephs's and Scots, the three teams which had beaten us in the matches we played.

The team was led by John McKillop whose enthusiasm was equalled by his dedication to his job and his ability to get the best out of all members of the team.

We thank Mr and Mrs Regan for putting their home at our disposal for the celebration at the end of the season. It was a very happy ending to a very enjoyable competition.

The awards for the team were:

Best and Fairest Player: Roger Dixon.

Best Forward: Jim McKay.

Best Back: John Hardie.

ATHLETICS

House Athletics

As has been done in the past the junior field events, cross country and 1500 m were held at the end of Term Two.

Unfortunately the Annual Sports Day was washed out and the senior events plus the junior track events were conducted at lunchtime. There were no relays run this year.

G.P.S. Meeting

We won both the senior and junior competitions; the senior by two points only, after a most exciting struggle the outcome of which depended on the result of the last race, but the junior we won by the comfortable margin of 96.5 points.

J. Thackray showed outstanding form throughout the season, and despite an injured knee still won the 200 in 22.1 and came a very close second in the 100. Knowing that we had to finish first or second in the last event, the relay, he teamed up with R. Pittorino, C. Carley and J. Breslin, our high jumper sprinter, and they duly finished second and won the Senior Championship from S.J.C. by 2 points. M. Gannon showed good form in the earlier meetings, but damaged an ankle prior to the G.P.S. For all that he finished fourth. J. Curran and J. Templeton had mixed success in the distance events through the season. M. Reede and P. Bell did not perform as well as they had in previous meetings, but their hurdling gained us valuable points. P. Sullivan an Australian Rules player from Melbourne leaped 6.79m in the long jump and finished a close second, but he had to retire from the 400. His place was taken by St. J. Frawley who, though outclassed, ran in the true Riverview spirit. T. Silk, M. Oldfield, A. Chesher and D. Page finished a close second in the 4 x 400 in a thrilling and tense battle with S.J.C.

Congratulations to all athletes, especially the reserves. It was their effort which caused the team to perform so well and consistently. The manner in which the athletes ran, whether winning or being beaten was most gratifying. To all, coaches and athletes congratulations on a fine season of running, jumping, hurdling and putting.

D. Jones who had shown steady improvement throughout the season won the 100m in 11.10. He was also a member of the record-breaking relay team. D. Page won the 100 Division and the 200 championship in 11.5 and 23.1. He was a member of the 4 x 100 and the senior 4 x 400 relay which was narrowly beaten by S.J.C. His efforts were all the more meritorious because he competed while suffering from glandular fever, a fact not known until after the competition. It was that illness, also, which stopped C. Carley from full competition this year. A. Thackray and E. Lim completed the triumphant 4 x 100 relay. The highlight of the day was probably the remarkable time of 1.56.0 by A. Dempsey in the 800, a new G.P.S. record. T. Hill completed the double by winning the 800 Division in dashing style. H. Flanery probably slightly jaded after his 3,000, in which he ran third, got a very creditable second place in the 1500. This age group lacked a good long jumper, but D. Johnson who trained for only a few weeks gained a valuable 5th place. J. Ward, shot put and hurdles and M. Punch high jump and hurdles both contributed valuable and well-deserved points for the team.

The athletes in this group won 157 points for the Junior Championship. Ray Smith alone contributed 95 points, a really fine and well deserved accomplishment. He was undoubtedly the S.I.C. athlete of the G.P.S. He won the 200, 400, high jump and long jump. In the latter he broke the school record which has stood since 1957 with a leap of 6.44m. For the fourth consecutive year he has won both the high and long jumps. He was second in the hurdles and relay and fourth in the 100. Congratulations, Ray, on a fine season! P. Weston, a tall, shy athlete of potential flashed home to win his division in 11.8. A fine run. T. Hackett and J. Hunter completed the quartet for the relay. M. Shillington toyed with and teased his opposition in the 800 Division and won comfortably, while in the championship P. Gillespie finished a creditable second after running the last lap with only one shoe on. P. Costa completed the hurdles division. J. Dynon in the 1500 ran his usual honest and consistent race and finished a close third. One of the highlights of the day was the record-breaking run of A. Meagher, A. Hill, T. Hackett and P. Gillespie in the 4 x 400. They won convincingly in 3.35.5, a new G.P.S. record. J. Hunter completed the 4 x 100 relay and S. Scahill represented in the shot put.

Under 15:

T. Flanery and C. Chalmers improved throughout the season and recorded some fast times. Flanery was placed second in both the 100 and 200 at the G.P.S. Chalmers, running in the division 100, won the event in 12.2. M. Tood, a reserve last year, through his persistence and enthusiasm won a place in the relay team along with M. Frawley. They with Flanery and Chalmers won the G.P.S. Relay in 46.9. Chris Crawford who had run a fine 800 at Waverley seemed to lose form in the holidays, but he bounced back at the G.P.S. and won in 2.6.5. N. Westhoff again showed great staying power this year and finished second in the 800 Division but he may have to be careful of J. Madigan who could be the dark horse in 1983. In hurdles S. Rathborne, T. Cross and M. Dunford were our competitors, while P. Harris, a relative newcomer to hurdling showed potential for next year. P. Fisher in the high jump was not outstanding, but determined. C. Terry shows great potential in the shot put events, but did not do well at the G.P.S. because of the flooded circle at the Sports Ground. The put was one of the few events that were completed before the postponement of the sports.

Under 14:

M. Reede, again this year, showed remarkable ability as a sprinter right through the season. His 12.4 and 24.8 in the 100 and 200 at the G.P.S. were good times. As a hurdler he won the Australian title in the 13 years hurdles at the Pan-Pacific Games in Brisbane in the Australian record time of 12.2. He capped the season by winning the G.P.S. hurdles in 13.3, a G.P.S. record. He also anchored the relay to win the G.P.S. event in a school record of 48.8.

J. Kwan and N. McDonald kept the pressure on him throughout the season and finished close behind him in the 100m and hurdles respectively at the G.P.S.

R. Cubis and A. Somare ably assisted the relay in winning the G.P.S. J. Daru jumped well throughout the season and gained valuable placings in the G.P.S. and at the Waverley carnival where he jumped 5.44m and just missed the school record. D. Donkin putted well and at the G.P.S. surpassed all expectations by winning the event with a put of 13.65m, a new school record. In the distance squad J. Daru, P. Sim, A. O'Donnell, P. Delaney and J. Dempsey ran with enthusiasm and mixed success at the G.P.S. Better performances are expected as they mature.

Under 13:

Our strength in this age group lay in the field events. J. Terry who won the G.P.S. high jump set a school record of 1.60m at the Knox meeting. D. Shillington broke records at many of the meetings preparatory to his G.P.S. record breaking put of 11.70m. In the long jump M. de Carvalho who was placed third in the G.P.S. jumped well throughout the season. Our sprinters M. de Carvalho, M. Gledhill, S. Thackray, M. Hunter and J. Gale ran well and strove for success. They were ably supported by the distance men J. Burke, C. Daley, T. Harrison and D. Russell. The hurdlers M. de Carvalho and D. Lennon met with mixed fortune.

K.R. Saines,
Master in charge.

The Hot Potato Shop

The Hot Potato Shop was begun in 1979, the brainchild of Dr Gregory Haines. Its aim is to extend the Riverview boy's education beyond the classroom and to allow him to apply those things he learns at school to issues which confront the world. To this end the H.P.S. invites 'specialists' from different areas to share their experience and expertise by talking to the boys about aspects of their fields and answering questions in open forum.

This year has been a most successful one which, it would seem, has sparked a lot of interest among staff and students. The range of topics covered has been wide indeed.

We started with Mr Alan Clarkson, sports writer for the Herald, who addressed a — predictably — packed hall on the subject of professionalism and violence in sport. Two weeks later Riverview's own Mr Healy opened many eyes in his huge audience to the problems of alcoholism. Miss Betty Archdale, former Headmistress of Abbotsleigh and widely regarded educationalist, discussed the future of schooling. She placed particular emphasis on the role the computer might play in future education. A particular attraction was Dr Ernest Morgan's address. Dr Morgan was a prisoner in Auschwitz and only just escaped the gas chamber. First term was rounded off by Mr George Edwards (father of Lachlan) who discussed the problems which unions and governments pose for Australia's coal industry.

Second term was kicked off by Mr Patrick Kirkwood, head of the A.B.C.'s Religious Department. He spoke most interestingly to too small an audience on prejudice and faith in broadcasting. Commander T. Roach, R.A.N., (father of Chris) discussed the implications for Australia's defence following the war in the Falklands. Father Geoffrey James S.J. gave all cause to think (and elicited and interesting question or statement from the Headmaster) when he posed the question, are the aims of the G.P.S. compatible with those of the Jesuits. He contended that it was not, so much, the aims of the G.P.S. that we should be concerned about but what the G.P.S. has come to be and stand for.

We flew down from his beloved Toowoomba Dr Bruce Dawe, one of Australia's best-known current poets, whose work is set for 1982 Higher School Certificate. He spoke to Years 10, 11 and 12 and addressed the G.P.S. on the subjects of lost notes, false teeth, the stealing of ashtrays and 'Poetry and Commitment'. To end the term Mr Alan Jones, former speech-writer to the present Prime Minister and his Deputy Prime Minister, Messers Malcolm Fraser and Doug Anthony, spoke forcefully to the question, 'Do politicians have minds of their own?'.

All of these people did not just appear out of the blue; a hard-working (?) and dedicated committee ran things — when they managed to meet. Patrick Nolan was our secretary who took copious notes and minutes of the last half of meetings, and these were never used again. Anthony Fleming was responsible for the libelous advertising produced. Among the other members who attended meetings for their own reasons were Mark (George) Connor, Paul Mulcahy, David Chee, Andrew Nimmo, Richard McLachlan, Simon Evans, Joel O'Connor, Brendan Byrne, Jonathan O'Dea, Lachlan Edwards, Chris Darin and, from Year 10, the ones we made do all the dirty work, Andrew Meagher, Justin Daley, Paul Healy and Peter Dwyer. Dr Haines tried his best to be a responsible adviser.

Our thanks must be given to the Headmaster for his constant support and attendance, to the students and members of staff who supported our activities, and to our guest speakers for their generosity.

Bruce Meagher,
President.

Philosophy Club

(A recent innovation, arguably to be dated from 1979)

This year the club, under the somewhat haphazard direction of Andrew Nimmo and David Chee, began pondering the great imponderables every Friday at lunchtime. With the help of a few last minute, hastily pastiched posters a number of unsuspecting souls were lured into the cold, sunless tutorial room on the Year 11 level, where sat our guru, Dr Haines, casting his pearls before a herd gorging themselves on rolls, chips and mineral water, and striving to elicit from them rather more intelligent responses than simply "What?" and "Uuuhh?", and, of course, the never-ending "Why?"

We began examining the maps of Schumacher's Guide for the Perplexed and C. S. Lewis's Abolition of Man. The regulars, among them David 'Am-I-late?' Rock, Mark '42' Connor, Rob Stuklis, Nick 'If I haven't got band practice' Oppen, Peter 'Brideshead' Dwyer and, as well as one or other of the 'Royal Family' Meaghers helped to keep a faint spark of hope alive for our redoubtable guru who must frequently have despaired of inducing us to think, react or respond.

However, it was an enjoyable year for us all. Our meetings were kept from degenerating into serious discussions, especially by M. 'G' Connor's timely interjections. In the midst of complex and involved discussion of the Tao, the 'Green Book' of Titus and Gaius, or anything else, Mark has been known to ask in a despairing tone "We're not having the history test today, are we?" (One of the best-known ways to forestall Haine's History Tests is to come to the Philosophy Club).

We would like to thank everyone who has come along, even if only once, and we wish Rob Stuklis good luck in taking on the running of the club. We hope he will manage more efficiently and effectively than has been done this year. Lastly, we thank Dr Haines who spiritedly stuck to the task amid lethargy, ignorance and mental inertia for attempting to stimulate some intellectual activity among us. His enthusiasm, friendship and concern was greatly valued and appreciated, especially in view of his many other commitments.

"The School Newspaper"

The student newspaper of Saint Ignatius' College can justifiably be called unique, simply because there has only been one edition published, to date, in 1982.

The concept of a student newspaper, i.e. one which is written, edited and published by the students is one which most people at the College strongly support.

Unfortunately, "through circumstances beyond our control" or perhaps sloth and procrastination, supply of the newspaper has failed to keep pace with demand.

However, the newspaper, which has the questionable title of S.I.N. (for Saint Ignatius News) has and continues to offer the students working on it, opportunities to express their thoughts and opinions in print (subject, of course, to careful scrutiny),

All newspapers, be they large metropolitan dailies or the weekly country throwaway, have a clearly defined editorial policy. Somehow S.I.N. has, either deliberately or accidentally, avoided following any particular editorial line.

Sifting through the first (hopefully not the last) edition of S.I.N. 1982, there is a variety of articles, including personality interviews, a few quotable quotes and a lengthy sports round-up.

The next edition of S.I.N. will contain similar material, as well as a few more humorous items along with a couple of quizzes and some potentially serious articles.

There are about 20 students and two members of staff working on the newspaper and they meet every second Wednesday during activities. A lot of time is spent discussing ideas for articles for the paper. Some people would call this brainstorming: others would call it "mucking around". Yet somehow, amidst the jokes and the sidetracking, the boys do come up with some interesting suggestions. Half of these are immediately dismissed because they transgress the laws of libel, while the other half are distributed among the lads for analysis and further discussion.

Occasionally, a few students will physically go out and find stories, by interviewing teachers and fellow pupils. They may talk to visiting guest speakers or sit in on lunchtime lectures. Eventually "sufficient" material is collected for the newspaper.

The actual writing of the articles takes a fair amount of time because the boys can only work on the paper during activities' afternoons. They could also work on it after school, but that is another question.

The students then have to type the articles and set and design the pages. When their average typing speed is three words a minute and there are only two typewriters between 20 boys, no wonder production is behind schedule.

The students are also involved in the actual printing, collating and selling of the paper and have, in the past, given up a few lunch hours to ensure that the paper "hits the streets".

Those working on the paper seem to enjoy themselves. There's a lot of laughter in Room 202, but there's also some serious writing done.

The student newspaper offers the boys an opportunity to experience, if only on a small scale, several aspects of newspaper production. It also allows them to express their ideas in print and to be aware of the skills involved in editing a newspaper. And who knows that with experience and fewer "technical" delays, the students may eventually publish three, maybe four editions a year. (As Father O'Kelly said: 'Thank goodness we are not working on a daily.').

Greek Drama Group

In the first term the following play-readings were held: 'Aeschylus', 'Persae', 'Sophocles', 'Oedipus the King', 'Aristophanes', 'Clouds' and 'Euripides', 'Iphigenia in Aulis', all in English translation.

The five boys who were present at the play-readings in first term all said they would like to act a part in 'Iphigenia in Aulis' which would be performed in the original ancient Greek language in the August holidays.

Practices were held on Activities Wednesdays in second term. Towards the end of July girls from Ascham School joined in the rehearsal. Mr David Raeburn, producer of the play, arrived in Australia at the beginning of August, and spent three days at Riverview rehearsing with the boys.

It is hoped that in years to come there will be a development of the recent interest in the school in performing Greek Drama.

Iphigenia In Aulis

What makes the headmaster of a busy school give up his summer holidays and cross the world to spend five weeks working with about thirty school-children to produce an ancient Greek play in the original language?

With tongue in cheek David Raeburn, headmaster of Whitgift School, Croydon, England, said that the invitation to produce Euripides in the Antipodes was irresistible.

In more serious vein Mr. Raeburn said: 'The great challenge for Classics teachers is to establish that what they are offering is not simply a training for the mind, but also of feelings, of imagination and development of confidence through self-projection'.

But why perform Greek tragedy? The following are some reasons given by Mr. Raeburn in an address to teachers in Sydney:

a) Educationally, the effort of discipline and concentration is an advanced exercise in the development of thought, feeling, imagination and self-projection. (To hear is to forget, to read is to remember, to do is to know).
b) Greek drama brings pupils into live and practical contact with something great from a previous civilisation.

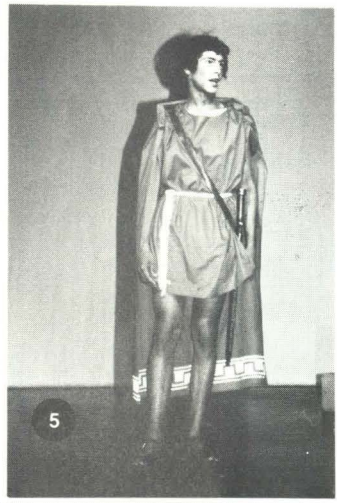

"At certain epochs man has felt conscious of something about himself — body and spirit — which was outside the day-to-day struggle for existence and the night-to-night struggle with fear; and he has felt the need to develop these qualities of thought and feeling so that they might approach as nearly as possible to an ideal of perfection — reason, justice, physical beauty, all of them in equilibrium. He has managed to satisfy this need in various ways — through myths, through dance and song, through systems of philosophy and through the order that he has imposed on the visible world. The children of his imagination are also the expressions of an ideal.

Western Europe inherited such an ideal. It had been invented in Greece in the fifth century before Christ and was without doubt the most extraordinary creation in the whole of history, so complete, so convincing, so satisfying to the mind and ear that it lasted practically unchanged for over 600 years."

(Kenneth Clark: Civilisation)

c) Greek plays are still vital and live pieces of theatre as long as their conventions are understood. They are great dramatic masterpieces.
d) Greek plays are seminal writings of European literature concerned with fundamental human issues: e.g. Oresteia, Antigone, and Bacchae.
e) Greek drama gives warning to humanity of special importance to-day: e.g. self-knowledge, though this needs to be supplemented with Judaeo-Christian thought to cope with the black side of human nature.

The Greek tragedies of the fifth century B.C. are among the great cultural achievements of Western civilisation. David Raeburn, as a scholar, an artist and a teacher has managed to appreciate very deeply the beauty of thought and word, of music and dance in Greek drama and to kindle an appreciation of it in his young performers. (Be it remembered that over 30 students from Years 8-12 from five Sydney schools spent many an hour in second term and two weeks of their August holidays in preparing for three performances of 'Iphigenia in Aulis' in September!).

Euripides' play takes as its theme a story from the Trojan War. The Greek fleet becalmed at Aulis needed favorable winds to cross the Aegean Sea. The prophet Chalchas said that first the goddess Artemis must be appeased with a human sacrifice, and that the victim should be Iphigenia, the daughter of Agamemnon, the leader of the Greek forces. The play centres on the conflict in human motives: loyalty, love, passion, hatred, ambition, selfishness.

For the Sydney schools' production an abridged version of the play was first presented in English by 10 students of Abbotsleigh, Barker College, and Pymble Ladies' College. Twenty-six students of Ascham, P.L.C., and St. Ignatius' then presented the play in ancient Greek, together with choral dance and music.

The achievement of David Raeburn was in making the play 'come alive'. He made the students appreciate 'Iphigenia' not as something to be read or studied, but as a work to be spoken, danced, chanted.

Andrew Dwyer and Dimity Bell, playing the parts of Agamemnon and Clytemnestra, each learnt some 200 lines of text and spoke and acted their parts with natural ease and sensitivity. Peter Dwyer played Agamemnon's brother, Menelaus, and Gretel Packer Agamemnon's daughter, Iphigenia. Both these students from Year 10 showed great command of language and acted well. Andrew Meagher (Achilles), George Sideridis (Old Man) and Julian Magarey (Messenger), also spoke and acted with clarity and conviction. Chris Martin was a keen soldier and arms-bearer.

The producer brought out in the actors a quality of diction that would have been commendable even if the play had been presented in English. But his perhaps unique skill was with the chorus. Thirteen girls from Years 8-10 spoke and chanted Euripides' poems, with movement and dance accompanying the beautifully articulated rhythms of the choral odes.

On September 2nd — in the middle of the August holidays — the play was presented before an appreciative audience of about 400 people at Scots' College. On September 15th and 16th the play was acted before about 1,300 school-children, at Barker College and SCEGGS Darlinghurst. On the last occasion the afternoon was hot; the hall was crowded; it was Friday-afternoon, and later than normal school hours. Nevertheless the play was well-received.

Mr. Raeburn left Sydney on September 4th to return to his headmaster's desk in London. Before leaving he had said: 'I know that the nightingales of Greece will sing again in N.S.W. and that you will give your life-blood to the ghosts that they may drink and live'.

They told me, Heraclitus, they told me you were dead,
They brought me bitter news to hear and bitter tears to shed.
I wept as I remember'd how often you and I
Had tired the sun with talking and sent him down the sky.
And now that thou art lying, my dear old Carian guest,
A handful of grey ashes, long, long ago at rest,
Still are thy pleasant voices, thy nightingales awake;
For Death, he taketh all away, but them he cannot take.

Students and teachers of classical Greek in Sydney are deeply grateful to Mr. Raeburn for sharing with them his appreciation of Greek drama. We hope that it will not be long before he visits us again.

Archives/History Club

The Archives/History Club continued its varied activities in 1982, commencing first and second terms with a tour of historical sites on Riverview. In third term an outing to the National Trust Headquarters was arranged so that we might inspect the St. Mary's Cathedral Centenary Exhibition in which several Riverview archival treasures were on display. All in all, we passed the year without loss of enthusiasm or interest, even though dull drudgery sometimes descended upon us when carpets had to be vacuumed and silver trophies cleaned.

In groups of two and three, members undertook projects concerning particular buildings in the hope — only a hope, perhaps— of presenting a display of work at the end of the year. In the early stages of these projects we all had the rare treat of a special tour of the inmost recesses and depths of the Observatory, guided by Mr Frank Clarke, the school sergeant. Mr Neville Corbett, who accompanies us, explained the modus operandi of the survey of ambient conditions which he was about to undertake in the seismograph dugout and other parts of Observatory Cottage.

The Year 10 Archives Group worked with diligence and imagination on several displays, including one dealing with the late Father Charles McDonald, S.J., whose papers added several hundred files and an interesting collection of personalia to the Riverview Archives in May. This group also undertook the sorting of our large stored collection of inscribed textbooks, in the hope that extra space to be made available to the archives will permit the establishment of a properly shelved book collection in the present workroom. As a further indication of their interest, members of the group organised the roster of attendants so that the Centenary Room displays might be open on Back to Riverview Day.

Archives/Conservation Group

Mr Neville Corbett, formerly regional conservator in New South Wales for the Commonwealth Archives and presently lecturer in Conservation of Archives at the University of New South Wales as well as free-lance restorer, has taught the techniques involved in the various conservation processes to a small group during the course of this year. These processes, which can include some reconstruction and repairs, proved to be very interesting and absorbing. Every activity challenged the patience and attention to detail of each member of the group.

Our lessons included the following:-

1) Cleaning documents and photographs; repairing documents with heat tissue and chemical treatment,
2) Elementary bookbinding,
3) The making of phase boxes — boxes which hold articles during the course of various phases or levels of conservation,
4) Gold blocking — stamping and designing,
5) Making paper by hand, By shredding paper and converting it to a pulp, we made it into sheets with the use of a mould and deckle. Some creative members of the group attempted decorative paper by adding coloured chalks and leaves.

The group, consisting of seven or eight students and Miss Hume, has conserved a number of articles and objects for the Riverview Archives during the Wednesday activities and has enjoyed the experience very much. We are most grateful to Mr Corbett for his expert advice and guidance.

Art

The overall aim of the 'Art' Activity programme is to create a learning experience which promotes student competence of various skills which can be carried out independently of the 'class situation — students are encouraged to use visual media and processes to communicate feelings, ideas, impressions and the direct message.

The 'Art' activity has a two-fold purpose. The first is to allow students, in Year 8 who do not elect to do Art as a subject, to experience practical art processes such as drawing and painting, ceramics, Batik and printing. The second purpose is to give senior art students increased 'studio' time to pursue their respective, individual artistic projects. This increased time is most valuable as students can informally work and discuss their progress with teachers and their peers.

Unfortunately, lack of space prohibits the number of students participation — generally about 20 students make up the group each term — 10 from Year 8 and 10 from Year 11.

In the main, Year 11 work independently of the Year 8 group who work to a structured programme throughout the term. This is not to say that the two age groups are divorced from each other, Year 11 students are encouraged to guide and help the younger boys in various situations and activities that occur. The Art Department feels that such 'teaching' of younger students by 'older' students is a most worthwhile educational experience.

An example of a programme for Year 8 is the unit based on Fabric Printing; throughout the term students learn about and experience differing methods of printing on fabric; silk-screen, dying (Batik) and hand painting. They go through a simplified graphic process of design; layout and preparation; and final application — the end product being totally conceived and produced by the student. Thus the student achieves success in a totally new area of expression which he otherwise would not have been able to experience — a worthwhile activity!!

Film Studies

The film studies group is a very popular activity with about 60 students participating under the supervision of two staff members. It is open to boys from Years 9, 10 and 11.

Basically, the boys are exposed to a wide variety of film, which are then the subject of a work-sheet which must be satisfactorily completed. Some of the films that have been the subject of study include: "ALIEN"; "THE DIRTY DOZEN"; "ONE FLEW OVER THE CUCKOO'S NEST"; "THE GODFATHER", "HIGH PLAINS DRIFTER"; "WHITE HEAT"; "PSYCHO"; "SILVERSTREAK"; "GOLDFINGER"; "CITIZEN KANE"; "MAD MAX"; "PATTON" — obviously a wide variety of film types.

The aims of the group are as follows:-

1. To develop in the boys a critical awareness in their appreciation of any film they see.
2. To expand their interest in film.
3. To enable them to understand the various components in the film-making process and to realise their importance.
4. To expose students to a wide range of social conditions, attitudes and values as is reflected in the film selected for study.
5. To encourage students to be more open-minded about different types of film.

6. Finally, to provide a framework whereby students and the staff involved can meet in a less formalised situation.

We believe it has been most successful in achieving these aims.

Models

This activity initially attracted thirty-one students; in Second Term it has had a regular attendance of twenty-three. The assembling of static models in plastic has been most popular. The boys have produced aircraft of the Second World War ranging fron the Focke-Wulf "Condor" and the Mitsubishi "Zero" to the more familiar Supermarine "Spitfire" and the Hawker "Hurricane", more modern military and civilian jet aircraft and helicopters, and exotic racing and touring automobiles. The nighmarish spacecraft of "Star Wars" have taken shape alongside intricately detailed tractors and semi-trailers: fact and fancy cheek by jowl!

Some fine balsa wood flying model aircraft have been built; two battery-powered model speed-boats have been completed (one radio-controlled) and, at the time of writing, two extremely elaborate architectural models in balsa are in course of construction. In painting their finished models, several of the boys have displayed considerable artistic flair.

On Models Activity afternoons, the air of the room, redolent of polystyrene cement, acetate and paint, positively vibrates with the animated conversation of the young modellers. It is plain that the boys enjoy what they are doing, and I am convinced that, as well as enjoying themselves, they are augmenting their manipulative skills and experiencing the thrill of achievement.

History of Athletics at Saint Ignatius' College

During the past two terms a group of boys and two masters have been reading and researching past Alma Maters for some athletic history of the College. In the searches the boys have concentrated on records, events, champion athletes and anything of particular interest to athletics. They have also reviewed some old athletic and rowing films for identification for the Archives. All the boys have gained appreciation and value in searching, and searching things of the past and in particular, when their interest is captured by their relatives being part of the history. We hope to present a small history in this year's or next year's Alma Mater.

Photography

This year, fourteen boys have been engaged in learning and improving the techniques of photography on alternate Wednesday afternoons. Most of the boys doing photography were in Year 8, with little or no previous darkroom experience. Consequently, the basic aims of photography activities this year have been to develop basic darkroom skills such as developing, printing and enlarging, before then introducing some more advanced techniques such as bas-relief, solarization, non-negative printing using transparency sources, and Cibachrome colour printing. Students were exposed to differences in negative sensitive materials and in different types of printing papers. Because of the infrequency of Activities days, the numbers in the group, and the need for darkroom supervision, little emphasis was placed this year on techniques of photograph taking. Considerable improvements were noted in darkroom competence as the year progressed, and while the photographs processed tended to be dominated by family and football shots, several students ventured into some more adventurous and artistic domains, such as night-time photographs, landscapes, nature close-ups and architecture.

Orienteering

In today's world, learning to read a map is an essential part of everyone's education. Map reading is important for many recreational pursuits such as bushwalking, scouting and cross-country skiing. But the ultimate in map reading for recreation is the sport of orienteering.

Orienteering can be described as "fun and fitness with map and compass". While fitness is important for the top orienteers, for most of us the emphasis is on fun. The object is to use one's knowledge of the terrain and map reading to discover coloured markers set at various points in and around the school.

At Riverview up to fifty boys are involved in this activity: each trying to beat the other by finding all the markers (not an easy task) and finishing the course in as short a time as possible. The school grounds are providing an ideal environment for learning and developing the skills of orienteering.

Recreational Games of Skill

As the name suggests, the Activity is geared towards a certain type of game, mostly board games and the like. These do not involve the flexibility and co-ordination skills which are required for such games as football and tennis. Rather they highlight the participants' intellectual and imaginative skills, their capacity to innovate and use their initiative and ingenuity. It is a particularly enjoyable activity because the games are universal and require no special health condition or physical talents, only a limited intelligence.

The people who come to this Activity divide themselves up into small groups where a combination of concentration and co-operation may be achieved. You are the people who create your game, adventure or story, In this area of choice you are free regarding which game you will be involved with. You may bring your own games or you may use a game provided by Dr Haines.

The games most commonly played include Dungeons and Dragons, Traveller Diplomacy and other games based in History, Chess, Mastermind and even Poleconomy and Monopoly.

Ornithology

About one hundred boys were involved in the ornithology activity this year under the guidance of Mr T. Dixon and Mr J. Bushelle.

The birds of four different areas each term were observed: with the help of the new book "Birds of Riverview" the birds of the College grounds and environs were identified in the first activity; in the second, a knowledge of the birds of Lane Cove National Park was gained; in the third, this knowledge was extended to the birds of the Cumberland State Forest; and in the fourth, some idea of the birds of Australia and the world was obtained at the zoo.

On each occasion, lists were made and sheets of paper were handed out with questions on colourisation, calls, flight and habitats to be answered.

The boys learnt the various techniques of bird observation and identification: how to recognise a bird by its general colouring, its type of flight, its peculiar behaviour, its habitat, its variety of calls and its patterns of movement.

The aim of this activity is to make the boys aware of the totality of their environment: animals, birds, trees, land, sky and flowers. The greater aim is to lead them to a praiseful appreciation of the wonders of Almighty God's creation.

Tae Kwon Do

One of the newer activities in the school for 1982 has been Tae Kwon Do. This is a martial art emphasising basic techniques of fitness, self-control and self-defence.

A class of approximately twenty boys, ranging from Years 8 to 10 has been participating with some vigour in the introductory aspects of this art. Interestingly, many boys originally came to the class with the glamorous input of the film industry guiding their enthusiasm. Happily they quickly came to realise that the art was not as simple to perform as it looked on the screen, and that deeper values both physical and mental, were at the basis of the exercises.

Stamps

The Stamps Activity is designed to (a) introduce the philatelists within the S.I.C. to each other and (b) to involve collectors in activities likely to be beyond the individual.

An average of 15 boys each term availed themselves of the opportunity to add to their collection by means of swapping, to view philatetic films provided by Australia Post, to read about stamps and stamp collecting in the quite substantial philatetic material housed in the school library, to visit the Chatswood Philatetic Sales Centre and a stamp dealer and to make new friends through a common interest in stamps.

The unfortunate features of the groups in recent years have been an intense interest in the monetary value of stamps rather than developing a worthwhile hobby and the preoccupation with collecting Australian stamps to the exclusion of all others — a result of the misinformation in publicity by Australia Post.

"Workshop"

Since its inception the "workshop" has been a self help project e.g. concrete floor (2,000 sq. ft), the benches, tool presses, etc. The present project is the laying of quarry tiles (5,000 plus) throughout, thus removing most of the cement dust and making a much safer surface for the classes involved.

On Wednesday Activities the class is composed of volunteers (not necessarily Technics students) who become involved in continuing the tiling, working on 'Small wood' projects. (4-5 afternoons in the term) lathe work, continuing Technics projects, etc.

The majority of tasks are undertaken using hand tools, and lessons in safety are necessary before being permitted the use of power tools (minimal number).

Once a term an afternoon is allocated for a set project to be worked within very stringent parameters (e.g. 3 pieces of timber; project — a toy suitable for 2-3 year old).

Some theory about tools is given but with the shortness of time this is mainly confined to hand tools and their use.

Typing

Mrs Dube assists a small group of students to master the skills of typing each Activity Wednesday in the Year 12 block.

Several students have chosen to re-apply and are acquiring a skill that will be useful to them in years to come.

Boys are encouraged after the basic course to type assignments or, if boarders, a letter home.

Squash

The activity of squash is conducted by Mr Monagle and Mr Scrivener. This activity involves 30 boys who are involved in a round-robin tournament which lasts approximately one term.

We hope to familiarise the boys with the leisure sport of squash and so encourage them to use their leisure time well. Competition is also encouraged but in a more social environment.

Each Activity Wednesday we meet at the Chatswood Squash Courts and for an hour and a half the boys spend most of the time on the courts playing squash.

Leatherwork

There are 26 boys doing leatherwork as an activity this term. They are mainly from Years 8 and 9. During our year long course we try to introduce the boys to the basic skills involved with work with leather. This is done by means of graded projects, from a simple key stamp through to complicated hand bags. The boys on completing the course will have all managed to make for themselves and their friends some fine articles in leather involving stitching, lacing, stamping and carving.

Vegetable Gardening

Year 10 boarders together with some Year 9 boarders have been engaged in a form of shifting agriculture along the eastern foreshore of Burns Bay for five years.

As a water resisting fungus invades the soil and makes it unsuitable for plants, the gardeners move on leaving a kikuya pasture behind. At present our gardens surround the soap water drain from the laundry. Constant attention is needed to keep this water away from our garden terraces.

After sowing and weeding we usually have some time to sit among the terraces watching the tides rise and fall and listening to the tinkle of ropes on yacht masts in Burns Bay.

In 1899 Percy Marks opened a small Jewellery Shop in Market Street, Sydney.
In the four generations since then, the business of Percy Marks has developed a worldwide reputation as one of Australia's Leading Gem Merchants and Jewellers, and we have now been invited by Georges of Melbourne, and The Regent Hotel of Sydney to open at these locations.

For the finest selection of Jewellery and Gems call us and take advantage of our expertise and knowledge
— sales tax and duty savings for those travelling abroad can be substantial.

For all the answers

ASK TRAVELLERS

The Travel Professionals

The businesslike approach to business travel

The demand for a better business travel deal has led to a bewildering array of options, plus countless true stories of unexpected frustrations because the travel planning fell short of the promise.

At "Travellers", we know what's what about business travel. It's our business and we're good at it.

The complete travel workshop

A conference room in Copenhagen? Helicopter in Hong Kong? Private plane in Portugal?

"Travellers" can fix it. And you can depend on it being there when you want it.

We look after complicated, international, air, land and sea arrangements as happily and efficiently as a booking to Canberra and back.

First Class service

At "Travellers", we take as much care of all the little things as we do the big things. We never forget that you're the customer.

"Travellers" works for you – not the other way around. In fact, having "Travellers" work for you is almost like having your own company travel division – but without the overheads.

Combining business with pleasure

It's good management to take a break on your business journey. A strenuous overseas visit is hard physical and mental work, so let us give you a breather.

Ask especially about our US ski programmes and "Land Modules", which can slot in easily between commitments.

Budget stretching challenges accepted

We're as concerned about your costs as you are. We know that the more we can get you for your money, the more likely we'll continue to do business together.

Experienced heads on young shoulders

"Travellers" is a company of young travel specialists who all have the kind of experience that counts. We know our way through the snakes-and-ladders of today's complex maze of regulations and alternatives.

ANSWERS: 1.-c; 2.-c; 3.-c; 4.-c; 5.-c;
5 correct = excellent; 3 to 4 = good; 1 to 2 = poor;
none correct = you should travel more – see "Travellers".

Now it's just a dream but one day he could wear the green & gold.

Caltex is proud to be supporting a wide range of sports with grants that enable sports clubs to develop the talents of young Australians. Like the lad who dreams of wearing the green and gold.

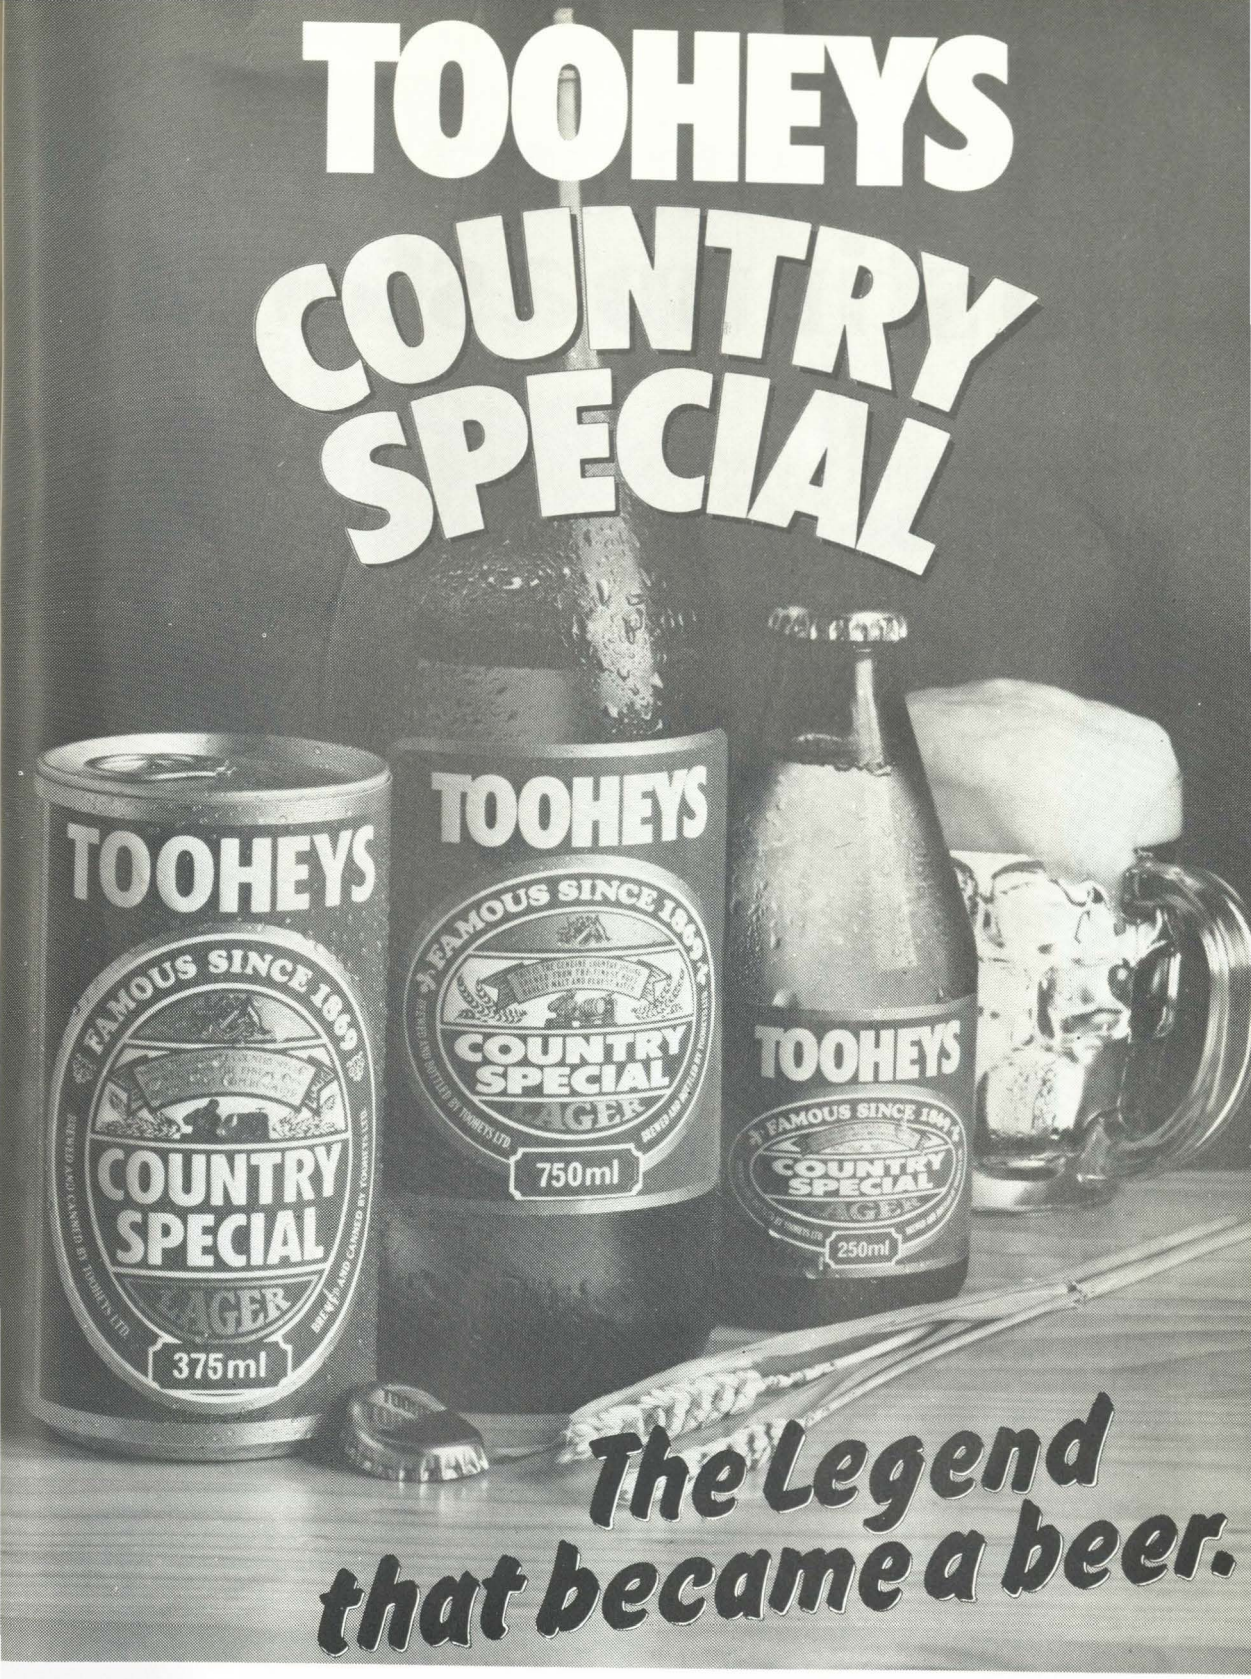

As Caltex has developed the expertise to look after the Australian motorists changing needs, we believe with our continued assistance Australian sportsmen and women will develop the expertise to reach the top in their sport. Maybe even wear the green and gold of Australia.

CALTEX

The sign of expertise.

The Legend that became a beer.

A revolutionary way to stir up a storm.

The new Breville Cyclonic Super Wizz is a revolutionary achievement for food processors.

The bowl has been changed to a conventional mixing bowl shape creating the unique cyclonic action.

The ideal traditional method of folding the ingredients is now obtainable with the efficient cyclonic action.

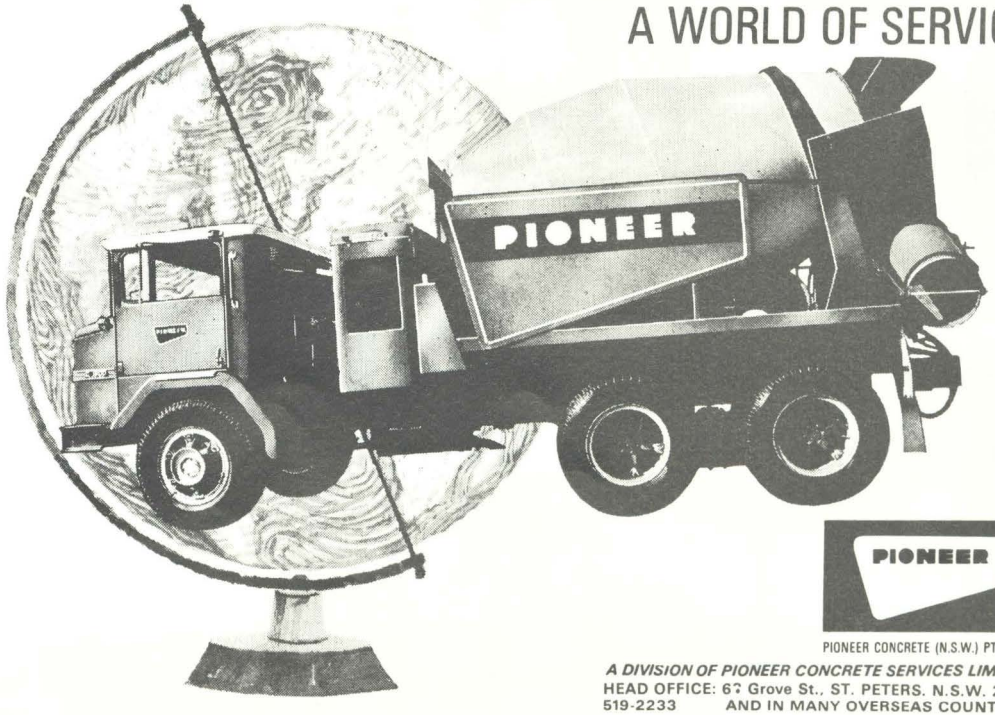

The Breville Cyclonic Super Wizz comes complete with an adjustable slicer, shredding disc, mixing blade, chopping blade, recipe instruction booklet, spatula and a bonus food funnel.
