Dear Member of the College Community,

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to students, staff, parents, the OIU, and the broader community for their support and care of each other following the passing of College Chaplain, Mr Tom Riemer, last week.

In consultation with Tom's family, a small private funeral service will be held next week.

The College community will commemorate Tom's life in a dedicated Service of Thanksgiving in the aftermath of the private funeral, the timing of which we are waiting to be advised about. Due to the number of people who have expressed interest in attending a school-based commemoration, the service will be an invitation-only event for representatives from students, staff, parents and the OIU. The service will be live-streamed, allowing the broader community to celebrate Tom's life in their own way. Early next week, live-stream details will be available on InsideView news and the College website.

Liz Thorp, P&F President, and Sean Cunial, OIU President, will share more information in the coming few days regarding gatherings for livestream venues.

In alignment with our Ignatian principle of cura personalis, we encourage our community to continue to support each other and reach out for assistance as needed. Your well-being remains a priority, and we are here to offer any help that may be required. Let us continue to prayerfully support each other as we navigate this difficult period together.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Paul Hine
Principal
